Part 1 (ss 1-14) Quality and delivery of NHS services in England

Chapter 1 (ss 1-7) NHS Constitution

Section 1 defines the 'NHS Constitution' for the purposes of Pt 1. The bodies listed in s 2 are required to have regard to the NHS Constitution. The Secretary of State has a duty under s 3 to ensure that the NHS Constitution continues to be available to patients, staff and members of the public and that, at least once in any period of ten years, a review of the Constitution is carried out. Other revisions of the Constitution may be made other than as a result of the ten-year review: s 4. Section 5 requires the Secretary of State to ensure that the Handbook to the NHS Constitution continues to be available to patients, staff and members of the public and to carry out a review of the Handbook at least once every three years, with the first review being completed no later than 5 July 2012. The Secretary of State has a duty under s 6 to publish a report every three years, the first such report to be published no later than 5 July 2012, on the effect of the NHS Constitution on patients, staff, carers and members of the public since the last report on the Constitution and to lay before Parliament a copy of each such report. Any revision of the guiding principles of the Constitution as a result of the ten-year review under s 3 or any revision of the Constitution under s 4 may only be made in accordance with regulations made by statutory instrument by the Secretary of State: s 7.

Chapter 2 (ss 8-10) Quality accounts

Primary care trusts, NHS trusts all or most of whose hospitals, establishments and facilities are in England, special health authorities, and NHS foundation trusts have a duty under s 8 to publish, in accordance with regulations made by the Secretary of State, prescribed information relevant to the quality of any NHS services provided by them, any NHS services provided under arrangements made by them by other persons, and certain primary ophthalmic services provided in England and for the provision of which the body provides assistance or support. Section 9 makes supplementary provision about the duty under s 8, and s 10 requires regulations under s 8 to be made by statutory instrument subject to the negative resolution procedure.

Chapter 3 (ss 11-13) Direct payments

Provision under s 11 enables the Secretary of State to make a direct payment to a patient or his representative in order to purchase goods or services that might otherwise be provided by the National Health Service, and to make regulations about any such payment; and the Secretary of State may provide by regulations for pilot schemes in accordance with which direct payments may be made and may make arrangements with other bodies for their assistance in connection with direct payments. The jurisdiction of the Health Service Commissioner is extended by s 12. Section 13, Sch 1 make minor and consequential amendments relating to direct payments, including certain social care direct payments.

Chapter 4 (s 14) Innovation

In order to promote innovation in the provision of health services in England, the Secretary of State may make payments as prizes.

Part 2 (ss 15-19) Powers in relation to health bodies

Chapter 1 (ss 15-18) Powers in relation to failing NHS bodies in England

Section 15, Sch 2 make provision for the de-authorisation of NHS foundation trusts. New provisions under s 16 enable the Secretary of State to appoint trust special administrators to NHS trusts and NHS foundation trusts, make further provision for the de-authorisation of, and de-authorised, NHS foundation trusts, make provision for the functions of the trust special administrators during the period of appointment, which functions include consultation by them and their recommendations to the Secretary of State, and provide for the Secretary of State's final decision in relation to a trust. Under s 17, powers are conferred on the Secretary of State to direct a primary care trust to appoint a trust special administrator to exercise on its behalf specified provider functions. Consequential amendments are made by s 18 in relation to trust special administrators.

Chapter 2 (s 19) Suspension

Section 19, Sch 3 make amendments to provide for powers of suspension in relation chairmen, vice-chairmen and other members of NHS bodies.

Part 3 (ss 20-36) Miscellaneous

Section 20 amends provision relating to the exclusion for specialist tobacconists in respect of the prohibition of tobacco advertising, s 21 amends and makes further provision, in consequence of developments in technology, about the prohibition of tobacco displays. Provision is made by s 22 for regulations to prohibit the sale of tobacco from vending machines in England and Wales. Corresponding provision is made by s 23 in relation to Northern Ireland. Various minor and consequential amendments are made by s 24, Sch 4 relating to the advertising and promotion of tobacco products. A primary care trust has a duty under s 25, in accordance with regulations, to assess needs for pharmaceutical services in its area and to publish a statement of its first assessment and any revised assessment. New arrangements are made by s 26 for inclusion on a primary care trust's pharmaceutical list for the provision of NHS pharmaceutical services, and a minor amendment is made by s 27 to correct an anomaly in relation to applications for such inclusion. Section 28 provides for notices and penalties where a practitioner providing pharmaceutical services under arrangements with a primary care trust breaches a term of such arrangements. Restrictions on primary care trusts providing local pharmaceutical services or providing such services to other primary care trusts in certain circumstances are removed by s 29. Section 30 makes a minor amendment to make clear that certain provision for the inclusion of an applicant on a local health board pharmaceutical list for a fixed period of time may apply to any application under the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 s 83. New provision under the 2009 Act s 31 provides for the issuing by local health boards of notices to NHS contractors who have breached a term of arrangements for providing NHS pharmaceutical services or arrangements for providing general ophthalmic services and for the withholding by the boards of payments to such contractors. Changes introduced by s 32 enable local health boards to provide local pharmaceutical services in prescribed circumstances. An NHS foundation trust designated as a mental health foundation trust, where it appears to the regulator that it provides goods or services only or mainly for the prevention, diagnosis or treatment of any disorder or disability of the mind or for the benefit in any other way of people suffering from a disorder or disability of the mind, may be permitted to earn up to 105 per cent of its total income in each financial year from income derived from private charges: s 33. Section 34 removes the entitlement, for all persons aged 60 or over regardless of their income, to contribution to the cost of optical appliances. Section 35, Sch 5 confer power on the Commission for Local Administration in England to investigate complaints about privately arranged or funded adult social care and make consequential amendments. Information held by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs for the purposes of functions relating to income tax may be disclosed by it to specified persons for the purposes of functions in connection with the analysis or dissemination of information relating to the income or expenses of dental practitioners or general medical practitioners: s 36.

Part 4 (ss 37-41) General

Section 37 confers power on the Secretary of State to make transitional and consequential provision in relation to the coming into force of the Act. Section 38, Sch 6 provide for repeals and revocations. Section 39 deals with the extent of the Act, s 40 with commencement and s 41 with the short title.

1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE

(1) INTRODUCTION

(i) History of the Service

1. Introduction of the health service.

The introduction of a national health service available to all took place concurrently with the provision of a comprehensive social insurance scheme<sup>1</sup>. This scheme was based on recommendations made in the Beveridge Report<sup>2</sup>, which adopted three underlying assumptions, one of which was the provision of comprehensive health and rehabilitation services<sup>3</sup>.

Before 5 July 1948, when the National Health Service came into operation<sup>4</sup>, national health insurance facilities had been available to a large proportion of the population, with financial and medical treatment benefits depending on the record of contributions of the insured claimant and the rules of his particular society<sup>5</sup>. Institutional treatment was provided by voluntary hospitals, by hospitals provided by local authorities and by hospitals and institutions administered under the poor law<sup>6</sup>.

The inception of the National Health Service involved a nationalisation of voluntary and local authority hospitals by the vesting of the voluntary hospitals, their endowments for hospital purposes and their rights and liabilities in the Minister of Health, subject to exceptions in relation to the endowments and liabilities of teaching hospitals; and by the vesting of local authority hospitals and property in the minister<sup>7</sup>. Local health authorities were constituted, but the local health services were, in the main, only ancillary services<sup>8</sup>.

1 The National Insurance Scheme was administered by the Ministry of National Insurance, which was established for the purpose and with which the Ministry of Pensions was later combined, the name of the ministry being then changed to the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance. That ministry and the Ministry of Health were merged to form the Department of Health and Social Security (see the Secretary of State for Social Services Order 1968, SI 1968/1699) and subsequently separated again with the formation of the Department of Health and the Department of Social Security in 1988 (see the Transfer of Functions (Health and Social Security Order) 1988, SI 1988/1843). The 'social security functions' (as defined) of the Department of Social Security were then transferred to the Department for Work and Pensions: see the Education and Skills and for Work and Pensions Order 2002, SI 2002/1397. As to national insurance see further SOCIAL SECURITY AND PENSIONS. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8.

2 Ie the Report on Social Insurance and Allied Services (Cmd 6404) (1942).

3 The other assumptions were the provision of child allowances and the maintenance of employment: see the Report on Social Insurance and Allied Services (Cmd 6404) (1942), Pt 6.

4 See PARA 3.

5 The principal Acts under which health insurance was administered previously were the National Health Insurance Acts 1936 to 1941 (ie the National Health Insurance Act 1936, the National Health Insurance Act 1937, the National Health Insurance (Amendment) Act 1938, the National Health Insurance and Contributory Pensions (Emergency Provisions) Act 1939, and the National Health Insurance, Contributory Pensions and Workmen's Compensation Act 1941), which were repealed by the National Insurance Act 1946 s 65, Sch 9 (repealed).

6 Cf A National Health Service (Cmd 6502) (1944). The poor law was superseded by a system of national assistance on the same date, 5 July 1948, as that on which the National Health Service came into operation: see PARA 3.

2. Related functions of authorities other than health authorities.

The advent of the National Health Service has not totally displaced the functions of local education authorities in relation to the medical welfare of pupils<sup>1</sup>. Mental illness is within the scope of the health service<sup>2</sup>, and the Secretary of State is the central authority for administering the mental health services<sup>3</sup>. Sheltered employment facilities for seriously disabled persons may be provided by the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>. The domestic regulation of the medical profession as a whole<sup>5</sup> was not affected by the national health service legislation, and similarly the general regulation of the professions of dentists<sup>6</sup>, nurses and midwives<sup>7</sup>, opticians<sup>8</sup>, pharmacists<sup>9</sup>, osteopaths<sup>10</sup>, and chiropractors<sup>11</sup>, and of the health care professions<sup>12</sup>, is the subject of distinct legislation, although remuneration for work done for the health service and the disciplinary aspect of such work are governed by the National Health Service legislation<sup>13</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(1) INTRODUCTION/(i) History of the Service/3. Legislation.

3. Legislation.

The original principal Act of the National Health Service legislation was the National Health Service Act 1946, which came fully into operation on 5 July 1948<sup>1</sup>. Consequential amendments were made to bring existing legislation into conformity with the National Health Service legislation<sup>2</sup>, and the Minister of Health was empowered to make alterations to, and to amend or repeal, local or private Acts or charters that contained provisions which appeared to him either to be inconsistent with the legislation or to be redundant in consequence of its passing<sup>3</sup>.

In the course of its existence the National Health Service has undergone numerous changes and been the subject of much legislation. The National Health Service Act 1977 consolidated certain provisions relating to the health service for England and Wales, and repealed certain enactments relating to the health service which had ceased to have any effect<sup>4</sup>. A further consolidation of enactments relating to the National Health Service was effected by the National Health Service Act 2006 which, together with the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006, is now the principal legislation relating to the service in England and Wales<sup>5</sup>.

1 See the National Health Service Act 1946 s 79(1) (repealed); National Health Service Act (Appointed Day) Order 1948, SI 1948/112.

2 See the National Health Service Act 1946 s 76, Sch 10 (repealed).

3 National Health Service Act 1946 s 77(1) (repealed).

4 See the preamble to the National Health Service Act 1977.

5 As a result of this consolidation the National Health Service Act 1977 was repealed in its entirety and numerous other statutory provisions were either repealed, revoked or amended: see the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 ss 2, 6, Schs 1, 4. As to the current legislation see PARA 6. Notwithstanding the repeal of the National Health Service Act 1977, the provisions of that Act relating to general ophthalmic services remain in force until such time as the law relating to primary ophthalmic services comes into force: see PARA 328 note 1.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(1) INTRODUCTION/(i) History of the Service/4. General transfer to the minister.

4. General transfer to the minister.

On 5 July 1948<sup>1</sup> there were transferred to and vested in the Minister of Health:

- 1 (1) all interests in or attaching to premises forming part of a voluntary hospital<sup>2</sup> or used for the purposes of a voluntary hospital, and in equipment<sup>3</sup>, furniture or other movable property, being interests held immediately before 5 July 1948 by the governing body<sup>4</sup> or by trustees solely for the purposes of the hospital<sup>5</sup>, and all rights and liabilities to which the governing body or trustees were entitled or subject immediately before that day, being rights or liabilities acquired or incurred solely for the purpose of managing the premises or property or otherwise carrying on the business of the hospital<sup>6</sup>, but not including endowments<sup>7</sup>;
- 2 (2) all hospitals which were vested in a local authority<sup>8</sup> immediately before 5 July 1948, and all property and liabilities held by a local authority, or to which it was subject immediately before that day, being property and liabilities held or incurred solely for the purposes of any of those hospitals or for the purpose of securing accommodation for persons in the area at any hospital not vested in the authority<sup>9</sup>;
- 3 (3) all property held by the Dental Benefit Council or the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee, together with all liabilities to which those bodies were subject immediately before 5 July 1948<sup>10</sup>; and
- 4 (4) all endowments of voluntary hospitals, not designated as teaching hospitals, held immediately before that date free of any trust existing immediately before then<sup>11</sup>.

The minister was required to establish a hospital endowments fund and to transfer the endowments to it<sup>12</sup>. He was enabled: (a) to control and manage the hospital endowments fund, and for that purpose to sell or otherwise dispose of its assets and to discharge expenses out of the assets<sup>13</sup>; and (b) to apply the assets of the hospital endowments fund in discharging liabilities transferred to him in connection with the transfer of voluntary hospitals, other than designated teaching hospitals<sup>14</sup>.

1 The date of the coming fully into force of the National Health Service Act 1946: see PARA 3.

2 As to the meaning of 'voluntary' and 'hospital' see National Health Service Act 1946 s 79(1) (repealed). Where in connection with a voluntary hospital any premises were used for providing accommodation for paying patients and profits thereby earned were available for the benefit of that hospital, the premises were deemed for the purposes of the transfer to form part of the hospital: s 9(2) (repealed). As to voluntary hospitals see also PARA 832 et seq.

3 'Equipment' included any machinery, apparatus or appliance, whether fixed or not, and any vehicle: National Health Service Act 1946 s 79(1) (repealed).

4 'Governing body' in relation to a voluntary hospital included any body, whether corporate or unincorporate, having the control and management of the hospital or any part of it, or otherwise carrying on the business of the hospital: National Health Service Act 1946 s 79(1) (repealed).

5 The words 'held by trustees solely for the purposes of that hospital' were to be construed as referring to the purposes for which the property or interests were in fact being held immediately before 5 July 1948: see Minister of Health v Fox [1950] Ch 369, [1950] 1 All ER 1050; Re Marjoribanks' Trust Deed, Frankland v Ministry of Health [1952] Ch 181, [1952] 1 All ER 191, CA; distinguished in Cowan v Department of Health [1992] Ch 286, [1991] 3 WLR 742. In relation to the transfer the following additional interests held solely for the purposes of a hospital were deemed to be interests in premises forming part of a voluntary or, as the case may be, a local authority hospital: (1) interests in premises adapted and intended to be used for hospital purposes, but not so used before 5 July 1948; (2) interests in land on which the construction of hospital buildings had commenced before 5 July 1948; (3) interests in premises destroyed and not restored before 5 July 1948; and (4) interests in premises normally used for hospital purposes but not so used immediately before 5 July 1948: National Health Service Act 1946 s 9(3) (repealed).

6 Certain rights under the War Damage Act 1943 (repealed) held immediately before 5 July 1948 by the governing body or trustees of a voluntary hospital were deemed to be rights acquired solely for the purpose of carrying on the business of the hospital: see the National Health Service Act 1946 s 9(5) (repealed).

7 National Health Service Act 1946 s 6(1) (repealed). The reference to endowments was a reference to endowments within the meaning of s 7 (repealed), or any rights or liabilities transferred under it: s 6(1) (repealed). Endowments of voluntary hospitals, other than hospitals designated as teaching hospitals, were transferred to and vested in the minister on 5 July 1948, and endowments of teaching hospitals were on that day transferred to and vested in the boards of governors: see s 7 (repealed).

8 As to the meaning of 'local authority' for this purpose see National Health Service Act 1946 s 79(1) (repealed).

9 National Health Service Act 1946 s 6(2) (repealed). All property vested in the Secretary of State in consequence of the transfer of that property under the National Health Service Act 1946 s 6 is vested free of any trust existing immediately before that transfer: National Health Service Act 2006 s 219(1). The Secretary of State may use any such property for the purpose of any of his functions under the National Health Service Act 2006, but he must so far as practicable secure that the objects for which any such property was used immediately before that transfer are not prejudiced by the exercise of this power: s 219(2). 'Property' includes rights: s 275(1). As to the meaning of 'functions' see PARA 6 note 3. As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. The Welsh Ministers may use any property which is vested in them, and to which the National Health Service Act 2006 s 219 applies, for the purpose of any of their functions under the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006: s 166(1). But the Welsh Ministers must so far as practicable secure that the objects for which any such property was used immediately before the transfer mentioned in the National Health Service Act 2006 s 219(1) are not prejudiced by the exercise of such power: National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 s 166(2). As to the meaning of 'the Welsh Ministers' see PARA 6 note 6. As to the National Health Service in Wales see PARA 74.

10 National Health Service (Transfer of Property and Liabilities of Insurance Committees, etc) Regulations 1948, SI 1948/1237, reg 5 (revoked). The Dental Benefit Council and the Ophthalmic Benefit Approved Committee were bodies formerly constituted under the National Health Insurance Act 1936 (repealed).

11 National Health Service Act 1946 s 7(4) (repealed). An exception was, however, made where an endowment subject to certain trusts was given between 6 November 1946 and 5 July 1948 either to the governing body of the hospital or to trustees; in such cases the endowment, instead of being transferred to the minister and the fund, was on 5 July 1948 transferred to and vested in the appropriate hospital management committee free of any existing trust: s 7(4) proviso (repealed).

12 National Health Service Act 1946 s 7(4) (repealed). The minister was required to transfer property corresponding to endowments held by local authority hospitals to a board of governors of a teaching hospital, a hospital management committee or to the hospital endowments fund, as appropriate: see s 7(11) (repealed). The minister and the board or committee had to secure, so far as was reasonably practicable, that the objects of the endowment and the observance of any conditions attaching to it were not prejudiced: see s 7(7) (repealed).

13 National Health Service (Control and Management of Hospital Endowment Fund) Regulations 1948, SI 1948/1489, reg 3 (revoked).

14 National Health Service Act 1946 s 7(5)(b) (repealed); National Health Service (Hospital Endowments Fund--Discharge of Liabilities) Regulations 1950, SI 1950/438, reg 2(1) (revoked).

5. Other transfers; apportionments.

On 5 July 1948 the property and liabilities of insurance committees were transferred to executive councils<sup>1</sup>. Where any voluntary hospital was before that date designated by the Minister of Health as a teaching hospital or was one of a group so designated, all endowments of the hospital held immediately before that day were on that day transferred to and vested in the board of governors constituted for the hospital<sup>2</sup>. Where a medical or dental school was associated with any hospital transferred to the Minister of Health, the property or liabilities held or incurred solely for the purposes of that school were not included in the transfer to the minister<sup>3</sup>. Instead all such property and liabilities were on 5 July 1948 transferred to the appropriate governing bodies and vested in those bodies<sup>4</sup>.

Detailed arrangements were made for the apportionment of transferred interests and endowments, for control and management pending apportionment and for the vesting and application of the apportioned property<sup>5</sup>. Notwithstanding subsequent repeals<sup>6</sup>, certain specified regulations and orders continued to have effect both for the purposes of the apportionment and transfer of property and the transfer and compensation of officers<sup>7</sup>.

3 National Health Service Act 1946 s 8(1) (repealed). In this context the purposes of the school were accordingly not deemed to be the purposes of the hospital: s 8(1) (repealed).

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(1) INTRODUCTION/(ii) Present Organisation/6. Current legislation and its application.

(ii) Present Organisation

6. Current legislation and its application.

The principal legislation in respect of the National Health Service is the National Health Service Act 2006 and the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006<sup>1</sup>. Both these Acts extend to England and Wales only<sup>2</sup>. However, territorial limits are imposed in respect of the exercise of functions<sup>3</sup> under both Acts, so that the functions of a Minister of the Crown<sup>4</sup> under the National Health Service Act 2006 are exercisable only in relation to England<sup>5</sup> and the functions of the Welsh Ministers<sup>6</sup> under the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 are exercisable only in relation to Wales<sup>7</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> may by order provide that these Acts, in their application to the Isles of Scilly, have effect with such modifications as may be specified in the order<sup>9</sup>.

As to other legislation, the Health Act 2006 makes provision for the establishment of the Appointments Commission<sup>10</sup>, and the Health Protection Agency Act 2004 establishes the Health Protection Agency<sup>11</sup>. The NHS Redress Act 2006 makes provision for the establishment of a scheme for the purpose of enabling redress to be provided in relation to liability in tort in connection with services provided as part of the health service in England or Wales without the recourse to civil proceedings<sup>12</sup>. The Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 establishes the Commission for Healthcare Audit and Inspection with functions in relation to quality and standards in the National Health Service<sup>13</sup>, and also in relation to the registration of independent health services under the Care Standards Act 2000<sup>14</sup>. The Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 also contains provisions relating to complaints in respect of the National Health Service<sup>15</sup> and the recovery of NHS charges<sup>16</sup>. The Health Service Commissioners Act 1993 establishes the Health Service Commissioner for England<sup>17</sup>.

1 The structure of the two Acts is largely similar. The provisions of the National Health Service Act 2006 are covered in detail in this work but the provisions of the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 are not set out in detail. Where the provisions of the National Health Service Act 2006 are covered and there is equivalent provision in the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 reference is made in the footnotes to that equivalent provision.

2 National Health Service Act 2006 s 278(2); National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 s 209(2). However, the National Health Service Act 2006 ss 261-266 which relate to the price of medical supplies (see PARAS 29-32) extend also to Scotland and Northern Ireland: s 278(3).

9 National Health Service Act 2006 s 278(4); National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 s 209(3). An order under s 209(3) has effect as if made under the National Health Service Act 2006 and accordingly, ss 272 and 273 (see PARA 9) of that Act apply to any such order: National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 s 209(4). Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(1) INTRODUCTION/(ii) Present Organisation/7. Delegation of functions.

7. Delegation of functions.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may direct<sup>2</sup> a strategic health authority<sup>3</sup>, a primary care trust<sup>4</sup> or a special health authority<sup>5</sup> to exercise any of his functions<sup>6</sup> relating to the health service<sup>7</sup> which are specified in the directions<sup>8</sup>. The Secretary of State may also direct a special health authority to exercise any functions of a strategic health authority or a primary care trust which are specified in the directions<sup>9</sup>. The functions which may be specified in directions include functions under enactments<sup>10</sup> relating to mental health and care homes<sup>11</sup>. Except in prescribed<sup>12</sup> cases, such directions must not preclude a person or body by whom the function is exercisable apart from the directions from exercising the function<sup>13</sup>.

In practice day to day decision-making in the national health service is delegated to strategic health authorities and primary care trusts<sup>14</sup>. The effect of such delegation is to transfer the powers delegated to the body in question and, subject to any powers expressly or impliedly reserved to him, to divest the Secretary of State of the ability to exercise those powers until the delegation is revoked<sup>15</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. As to the territorial limit on the exercise of the functions of the Secretary of State see PARA 6.

2 A direction by the Secretary of State under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 7 must be given, in the case of a direction about a function under s 4 (see PARA 12), s 197 (see PARA 42) or s 198 (see PARA 43) by regulations; and in the case of any other direction by regulations or an instrument in writing: see s 273(4)(b), (c). The power to give directions includes the power to vary or revoke such directions by subsequent directions: see s 273(1). 'Regulations' means regulations made by the Secretary of State: s 275(1). 'Writing' includes typing, printing, lithography, photography and other modes of representing or reproducing words in a visible form, and expressions referring to writing are construed accordingly: Interpretation Act 1978 s 5, Sch 1. As to the making of regulations and directions generally see PARA 9. By virtue of the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 s 4, Sch 2 Pt 1 para 1(1), (2) the following regulations have effect under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 7: the National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375; see PARAS 89-93, 106, 127.

Any rights acquired, or liabilities (including liabilities in tort) incurred, in respect of the exercise by a strategic health authority, primary care trust or special health authority of any function exercisable by it by virtue of s 7 are enforceable by or against that body (and no other body): see Sch 2 para 16, Sch 3 para 16, Sch 6 para 12. The National Health Service Act 2006 has effect as if the following services were provided as a result of the delegation by the Secretary of State of his functions by directions given under s 7: (1) primary medical services provided under an agreement under s 92 (see s 92(6); and PARA 267); (2) primary dental services provided under an agreement under s 107 (see s 107(6); and PARA 288); (3) local pharmaceutical services provided under a pilot scheme (see s 141; and PARA 419); (4) functions exercisable by a special health authority by virtue of a direction given by the Secretary of State under the Care Standards Act 2000 s 67A (see s 67A(2) (added by the Health Act 2006 s 72)); and SOCIAL SERVICES AND COMMUNITY CARE.

If the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> considers that an NHS body<sup>2</sup>, other than an NHS foundation trust, is not performing one or more of its functions<sup>3</sup> adequately or at all, or that there are significant failings in the way the body is being run, and is satisfied that it is appropriate for him to intervene, he may make an intervention order<sup>4</sup>. An intervention order may provide for the removal from office or suspension of some or all members of the body concerned, and may set out directions to that body as to the exercise of its functions<sup>5</sup>.

The Secretary of State also has power, if he considers that an NHS body, other than an NHS foundation trust, has failed to carry out any of its functions, or has in carrying out those functions failed to comply with any regulations or directions relating to those functions, to make an order declaring it to be in default, as a consequence of which all members of the body concerned must immediately vacate office and new members must be appointed<sup>6</sup>.

The Secretary of State must for that purpose provide or secure the provision of services in accordance with the National Health Service Act 2006<sup>6</sup>. The services so provided must be free of charge except in so far as the making and recovery of charges is expressly provided for by or under any enactment<sup>7</sup>, whenever passed<sup>8</sup>.

TEXT AND NOTES--The Secretary of State may give financial assistance to qualifying bodies which are engaged in the provision of health services which must or may be provided for the purposes of the health service continued under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 1(1) or services which are similar to such services: see the Health and Social Care Act 2008 ss 149, 150, 156. Provision is made as to the forms in which such assistance may be given (Health and Social Care Act 2008 s 151), and the terms on which it may be given (s 152). The Secretary of State may direct certain specified NHS bodies to exercise any of his functions in relation to financial assistance under s 149 (s 153), may make arrangements for financial assistance to be given by another person or an English local authority (s 154), and may set up a company to fund qualifying bodies and people wanting to set up such bodies (s 155). In exercise of the power so conferred, the Secretary of State has made the Health and Social Care (Financial Assistance) Regulations 2009, SI 2009/649, which make provision for the conditions that must be met by qualifying bodies.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may: (1) provide such services as he considers appropriate for the purpose of discharging any duty imposed on him by the National Health Service Act 2006<sup>2</sup>; and (2) do anything else which is calculated to facilitate, or is conducive or incidental to, the discharge of such a duty<sup>3</sup>. ### 11-12 General power to provide services; duty to provide certain services

The Secretary of State may make direct payments to a patient or his nominee for the purpose of securing the provision of services under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 2(1) or 3(1): see the National Health Service Act 2006 ss 12A-12D (added by the Health Act 2009 s 11); and PARA 12A.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(2) ADMINISTRATION/(i) England/A. GENERAL FUNCTIONS OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE/(A) Powers and Duties to Provide Clinical Services/12. Duty to provide certain services.

12. Duty to provide certain services.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> must provide throughout England<sup>2</sup>, to such extent as he considers necessary to meet all reasonable requirements<sup>3</sup>: (1) hospital accommodation<sup>4</sup>; (2) other accommodation for the purpose of any service provided under the National Health Service Act 2006<sup>5</sup>; (3) medical, dental, ophthalmic, nursing and ambulance services<sup>6</sup>; (4) such other services or facilities<sup>7</sup> for the care of pregnant women, women who are breastfeeding and young children as he considers are appropriate as part of the health service<sup>8</sup>; (5) such other services or facilities for the prevention of illness, the care of persons suffering from illness and the after-care of persons who have suffered from illness as he considers are appropriate as part of the health service<sup>9</sup>; (6) such other services or facilities as are required for the diagnosis and treatment of illness<sup>10</sup>.

The Secretary of State's duty to promote the health service<sup>11</sup> includes a duty to provide hospital accommodation and services for persons who are liable to be detained under the Mental Health Act 1983<sup>12</sup>, and in the opinion of the Secretary of State require treatment under conditions of high security on account of their dangerous, violent or criminal propensities<sup>13</sup>. Such hospital accommodation and services are known as 'high security psychiatric services'<sup>14</sup> and may be provided only at hospital premises<sup>15</sup> at which services are provided only for such persons<sup>16</sup>.

In carrying out his duty to provide specific services<sup>17</sup> under the National Health Service Act 2006, the Secretary of State may exercise a degree of judgment as to the circumstances in which he will provide the services specified. He does not automatically have to meet all requirements and in certain circumstances he can exercise his judgment and legitimately decline to provide services. When exercising his judgment, he has to bear in mind the comprehensive service which he is under a duty to promote<sup>18</sup>, but, as long as he pays due regard to that duty, the fact that the service will not be comprehensive does not mean that he is necessarily contravening either that general duty or his duty to provide specific services. A comprehensive health service may never, for human, financial and other resource reasons, be achievable and, in exercising his judgment, the Secretary of State is entitled to take into account the resources available to him and the demands on those resources, and to have regard to the resources made available to him under current government economic policy<sup>19</sup>. Virtually all cases challenging decisions as to the provision of services and treatment are brought by way of judicial review alleging that the manner in which the decision has been reached is in some way defective when judged against judicially accepted principles<sup>20</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. As to the territorial limit on the exercise of the functions of the Secretary of State see PARA 6. As to the duty of the Secretary of State to promote a comprehensive health service in England see PARA 10. 3 For the purposes of the duty in the National Health Service Act 2006 s 3(1), services provided under: (1) s 83(2) (primary medical services: see PARA 241), s 99(2) (primary dental services: see PARA 277) or s 115(4) (primary ophthalmic services: see PARA 328); or (2) a general medical services contract (see PARA 242), a general dental services contract (see PARA 278) or a general ophthalmic services contract (see PARA 330), must be regarded as provided by the Secretary of State: s 3(2). Section 3 does not affect Pt 7 Ch 1 (ss 126-133) (pharmaceutical services: see PARA 339 et seq): s 3(3). As to references to general ophthalmic services contracts until such time as the law relating to primary ophthalmic services comes into force see PARA 328 note 1.

4 National Health Service Act 2006 s 3(1)(a). 'Hospital' means: (1) any institution for the reception and treatment of persons suffering from illness; (2) any maternity home; and (3) any institution for the reception and treatment of persons during convalescence or persons requiring medical rehabilitation, and includes clinics, dispensaries and out-patient departments maintained in connection with any such home or institution; and 'hospital accommodation' must be construed accordingly: s 275(1). As to the meanings of 'illness' and 'medical' see PARA 10 note 5. A private nursing home registered both as a nursing home and as a residential care home may be a hospital within this definition: see White v Chief Adjudication Officer (1993) 17 BMLR 68, CA. Where any hospital provided by the Secretary of State in accordance with the National Health Service Act 2006 was a voluntary hospital transferred by virtue of the National Health Service Act 1946 (see PARA 4), and the character and associations of that hospital before its transfer were such as to link it with a particular religious denomination, regard must be had in the general administration of the hospital to the preservation of that character and those associations: National Health Service Act 2006 s 221(1), (2). ### 13. Patients' right to treatment abroad.

There is a general right for a person who is ordinarily resident in a member state<sup>1</sup> of the European Union to receive medical treatment in another member state at the expense of the health service in his home state, but this right may be made subject to prior approval by a competent institution in the home state<sup>2</sup>. A person who is ordinarily resident in a member state and who is entitled to treatment under the national health service of that member state, may go to the territory of another member state to receive there the treatment appropriate to his condition provided he is authorised by the competent health service institution to do so, and may do so at the expense of that institution<sup>3</sup>. Authorisation may not be refused where the treatment in question is among the benefits provided for by the legislation relating to the national health service of the member state on whose territory the person concerned resides and where he cannot be given such treatment within the time normally necessary for obtaining the treatment in question in the member state of residence taking account of his current state of health and the probable course of the disease<sup>4</sup>. Thus, subject to the following factors, a person resident in the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup> who is entitled to receive medical treatment under the National Health Service, and who is authorised by the competent institution<sup>6</sup> to do so, may receive that treatment in another member state at the expense of the National Health Service<sup>7</sup>.

A refusal to grant prior authorisation cannot be based merely on the existence of waiting lists intended to enable the supply of hospital care to be planned and managed on the basis of predetermined general clinical priorities, without carrying out an objective medical assessment of the patient's medical condition, the history and probable course of his illness, the degree of pain he is in, and/or the nature of his disability at the time when the request for authorisation was made or renewed<sup>8</sup>. Where the delay arising from such waiting lists appears to exceed an acceptable time having regard to such an objective medical assessment, the competent institution may not refuse the authorisation sought on the grounds of the existence of those waiting lists, an alleged distortion of the normal order of priorities linked to the relative urgency of the cases to be treated, the fact that the hospital treatment provided under the national system in question is free of charge, the obligation to make available specific funds to reimburse the cost of treatment to be provided in another member state, and/or a comparison between the cost of that treatment and that of equivalent treatment in the United Kingdom<sup>9</sup>. Where the cost of treatment is free of charge under the National Health Service<sup>10</sup>, the person concerned is entitled to be reimbursed for the whole cost, objectively quantified, of the treatment received even if the full cost of the treatment is not recoverable under the legislation of the member state in which the treatment occurred<sup>11</sup>. He is also entitled to seek from the competent institution reimbursement of the ancillary costs associated with the treatment abroad provided that there is a corresponding obligation to reimburse in respect of treatment provided in a local hospital<sup>12</sup>.

GENERAL FUNCTIONS OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE/(A) Powers and Duties to Provide Clinical Services/14. Right of European Union providers to offer NHS treatment in the United Kingdom.

14. Right of European Union providers to offer NHS treatment in the United Kingdom.

Just as there is a right for an individual ordinarily resident in a member state of the European Union to receive medical treatment in another member state at the expense of the health service in his home state<sup>1</sup>, so there may be a right for a provider of health services established in one member state to provide services in another member state at the expense of the health service in the latter member state. The position is, as yet, not settled, but the proposition in favour of such a right is based upon the argument that the provision of medical services to patients in these circumstances would engage the prohibition on restrictions on the freedom to provide services<sup>2</sup>, and that any refusal on the part of the health service in the patients' member state to reimburse the patients for the services they received would constitute a contravention of that prohibition<sup>3</sup>.

For the purposes of: (1) securing compliance with any order made or direction given<sup>1</sup> by or on behalf of the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup>; or (2) verifying any estimates, returns or information furnished<sup>3</sup> to the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>, an officer<sup>5</sup> of the Secretary of State duly authorised<sup>6</sup> in that behalf has power, on producing (if required to do so) evidence of his authority, to require any person<sup>7</sup> carrying on an undertaking<sup>8</sup> or employed in connection with an undertaking to produce to that officer forthwith any documents relating to the undertaking which that officer may reasonably require for the purposes set out above<sup>9</sup>. The power to require any person to produce documents includes power: (a) if the documents are produced, to take copies of them or extracts from them and to require that person, or where that person is a body corporate, any other person who is a present or past officer of, or is employed by, the body corporate, to provide an explanation of any of them<sup>10</sup>; (b) if the documents are not produced, to require the person who was required to produce them to state, to the best of his knowledge and belief, where they are<sup>11</sup>. If any requirement to produce documents or provide an explanation or make a statement is not complied with, the person on whom the requirement was imposed is guilty of an offence<sup>12</sup>. Where a person is charged with such an offence in respect of a requirement to produce any document, it is a defence to prove that it was not in his possession or under his control and that it was not reasonably practicable for him to comply with the requirement<sup>13</sup>.

A justice of the peace<sup>14</sup> may issue a warrant if he is satisfied, on information on oath<sup>15</sup> laid on the Secretary of State's behalf, that there are any reasonable grounds for suspecting that there are on any premises any documents of which production has been required and which have not been produced in compliance with that requirement<sup>16</sup>. A warrant so issued may authorise any constable<sup>17</sup>, together with any other persons named in the warrant and any other constables to enter the premises specified in the information (using such force as is reasonably necessary for the purpose)<sup>18</sup>, and search the premises and take possession of any documents appearing to be such documents as are mentioned above, or to take in relation to any documents so appearing any other steps which may appear necessary for preserving them and preventing interference with them<sup>19</sup>. A person is guilty of an offence if he obstructs the exercise of any right of entry or search conferred by virtue of a warrant, or any rights so conferred to take possession of any documents<sup>20</sup>.

29. Power to control prices.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may, after consultation with the industry body<sup>2</sup> limit any price which may be charged by any manufacturer or supplier for the supply of any health service medicine<sup>3</sup>, and provide for any amount representing sums charged by that person for that medicine in excess of the limit to be paid to the Secretary of State within a specified period<sup>4</sup>. The powers conferred by this provision are not exercisable at any time in relation to a manufacturer or supplier to whom at that time a voluntary scheme applies<sup>5</sup>.

The Secretary of State may, after consultation with the industry body, make any provision he considers necessary or expedient for the purpose of enabling or facilitating the introduction of a price limit under these provisions<sup>6</sup>. The provision may, in particular, require any person to whom such a limit may apply to record and keep information<sup>7</sup>, and provide information to the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup>.

The powers set out above do not affect any other powers of the Secretary of State to control prices or profits<sup>9</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. The National Health Service Act 2006 ss 262, 264, 266 apply to both England And Wales: see PARA 27 note 1.

In so exercising the power the Secretary of State and any other person must bear in mind, in particular: (1) the need for medicinal products to be available for the health service on reasonable terms (s 266(4)(a)); and (2) the costs of research and development (s 266(4)(b)).

29-32 Power to control prices ... Enforcement of price controls

The maximum price which may be charged for the supply of a presentation is the price at which that presentation was on sale for health service purposes in England on 1 December 2008 less 3.9 per cent but without regard to any discount or other variation of the price which did not have general application on that date: Health Service Branded Medicines (Control of Prices and Supply of Information) (No 2) Regulations 2008, SI 2008/3258, reg 2(1). 'Supply' means supply by way of sale; 'presentation' means a particular form of a relevant medicine which may be distinguished from other forms of the medicine by reference to its active ingredients and excipients, pack size, type of packaging, clinical indications or indicated method of administration for use in clinical practice; 'relevant medicine' means a medicine which is both a prescription only medicine and a branded health service medicine: reg 1(2). Regulation 2 does not apply to a manufacturer or supplier to whom a voluntary scheme for the supply of branded health service medicine applies at the time of a supply or where the maximum price of a presentation is determined by regs 3-9, Schedule: reg 2(3). Where a presentation was not on sale in England for health service purposes on 1 December 2008, the Secretary of State may specify the maximum price at which that presentation may be supplied for the purposes of the health service by a direction to a specific manufacturer or supplier: see reg 3. The maximum price which may be charged for a low cost presentation is the price at which that presentation was on sale for health service purposes in England on 1 December 2008 without regard to any discount or other variation of the price which did not have general application on that date: see reg 4. The Secretary of State may exempt for such period as he may determine a presentation from the effect of regs 2, 3 or 4 where he considers that an exemption is necessary to ensure adequate supplies of that presentation for health service purposes: see reg 5. The Secretary of State may either on his own motion or on application by a specific manufacturer or supplier increase the maximum price of a presentation by direction to a specific manufacturer or supplier: see reg 6. Any manufacturer or supplier who supplies a presentation for health service purposes at a price in excess of the maximum permitted is liable on the demand of the Secretary of State, to pay to him a recoverable sum: see reg 7, Schedule. Any manufacturer or supplier of a presentation in respect of whom the Secretary of State has made an enforcement decision under the regulations has a right of appeal against that decision in accordance with regulations made under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 265(5): see SI 2008/3258 reg 9.

31. Voluntary schemes of price control.

The following powers may be exercised where there is in existence a scheme (known as a 'voluntary scheme') made by the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> and the industry body<sup>2</sup> for the purpose of: (1) limiting the prices which may be charged by any manufacturer<sup>3</sup> or supplier<sup>4</sup> to whom the scheme relates for the supply of any health service medicines<sup>5</sup>; or (2) limiting the profits which may accrue to any manufacturer or supplier to whom the scheme relates in connection with the manufacture<sup>6</sup> or supply of any health service medicines<sup>7</sup>. A voluntary scheme must be treated<sup>8</sup> as applying to a manufacturer or supplier to whom it relates if he has consented to the scheme being so treated (and has not withdrawn that consent)<sup>9</sup>, and no notice<sup>10</sup> is in force disapplying the scheme in his case<sup>11</sup>. A voluntary scheme has effect, in relation to a manufacturer or supplier to whom it applies, with any additions or modifications made by him and the Secretary of State<sup>12</sup>.

If any acts or omissions of a scheme member<sup>13</sup> have shown that, in the scheme member's case, the scheme is ineffective for either of the purposes mentioned in head (1) or (2) above, the Secretary of State may by a written<sup>14</sup> notice given to the scheme member determine that the scheme does not apply to him<sup>15</sup>.

The Secretary of State may after consultation<sup>16</sup> with the industry body require any manufacturer or supplier to whom a voluntary scheme applies to record and keep any information<sup>17</sup>, and provide any information to the Secretary of State<sup>18</sup>, which the Secretary of State may require for the purpose of enabling the scheme to operate or facilitating its operation<sup>19</sup>.

As from a day to be appointed the following provision has effect<sup>20</sup>. The Secretary of State may prohibit any manufacturer or supplier to whom a voluntary scheme applies from increasing any price charged by him for the supply of any health service medicine covered by the scheme without the approval of the Secretary of State<sup>21</sup>, and provide for any amount representing any increase in contravention<sup>22</sup> of that prohibition in the sums charged by that person<sup>23</sup> for that medicine, so far as the increase is attributable to supplies to the health service<sup>24</sup>, to be paid to the Secretary of State within a specified period<sup>25</sup>.

These powers do not affect any other powers of the Secretary of State to control prices or profits<sup>26</sup>.

29-32 Power to control prices ... Enforcement of price controls

The maximum price which may be charged for the supply of a presentation is the price at which that presentation was on sale for health service purposes in England on 1 December 2008 less 3·9 per cent but without regard to any discount or other variation of the price which did not have general application on that date: Health Service Branded Medicines (Control of Prices and Supply of Information) (No 2) Regulations 2008, SI 2008/3258, reg 2(1). 'Supply' means supply by way of sale; 'presentation' means a particular form of a relevant medicine which may be distinguished from other forms of the medicine by reference to its active ingredients and excipients, pack size, type of packaging, clinical indications or indicated method of administration for use in clinical practice; 'relevant medicine' means a medicine which is both a prescription only medicine and a branded health service medicine: reg 1(2). Regulation 2 does not apply to a manufacturer or supplier to whom a voluntary scheme for the supply of branded health service medicine applies at the time of a supply or where the maximum price of a presentation is determined by regs 3-9, Schedule: reg 2(3). Where a presentation was not on sale in England for health service purposes on 1 December 2008, the Secretary of State may specify the maximum price at which that presentation may be supplied for the purposes of the health service by a direction to a specific manufacturer or supplier: see reg 3. The maximum price which may be charged for a low cost presentation is the price at which that presentation was on sale for health service purposes in England on 1 December 2008 without regard to any discount or other variation of the price which did not have general application on that date: see reg 4. The Secretary of State may exempt for such period as he may determine a presentation from the effect of regs 2, 3 or 4 where he considers that an exemption is necessary to ensure adequate supplies of that presentation for health service purposes: see reg 5. The Secretary of State may either on his own motion or on application by a specific manufacturer or supplier increase the maximum price of a presentation by direction to a specific manufacturer or supplier: see reg 6. Any manufacturer or supplier who supplies a presentation for health service purposes at a price in excess of the maximum permitted is liable on the demand of the Secretary of State, to pay to him a recoverable sum: see reg 7, Schedule. Any manufacturer or supplier of a presentation in respect of whom the Secretary of State has made an enforcement decision under the regulations has a right of appeal against that decision in accordance with regulations made under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 265(5): see SI 2008/3258 reg 9.

Information obtained from personal records<sup>1</sup> produced in compliance with a notice requiring the production of documents<sup>2</sup> is 'protected information' if a person<sup>3</sup> (known as the 'discloser') discloses<sup>4</sup> the information for the purposes of any proceedings<sup>5</sup> and either the identity of the individual in question can be ascertained from the information itself<sup>6</sup>, or the discloser has reasonable cause to believe that it will be possible for a person who obtains the information as a direct or indirect consequence of the disclosure to ascertain the individual's identity from that information taken with other information obtained<sup>7</sup> and disclosed by or on behalf of the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup>.

The discloser must take all reasonable steps to ensure that, once disclosed by him<sup>9</sup>, the protected information is not further disclosed to any person who is not someone to whom it is necessary to disclose the information for any purpose connected with the proceedings<sup>10</sup>. However, the further disclosure of the information does not include any such disclosure by way of evidence in any proceedings<sup>11</sup>, or in accordance with an enactment<sup>12</sup> or order of a court or tribunal<sup>13</sup>; but information that appears to be protected information must not be disclosed by way of evidence in any proceedings unless the whole of the proceedings are held in private<sup>14</sup> or, in any other case, the information is disclosed in accordance with permission given by the court or tribunal on an application to it<sup>15</sup>.

When determining such an application, the court or tribunal must consider whether, in the interests of protecting the identity of the individual to whom the information relates, the whole or part of the proceedings should be held in private: s 202(7). ## F. PATIENT INFORMATION

(A) CONTROL OF PATIENT INFORMATION

54. Regulations.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may by regulations<sup>2</sup> make such provision for and in connection with requiring or regulating the processing<sup>3</sup> of prescribed patient information<sup>4</sup> for medical purposes<sup>5</sup> as he considers necessary or expedient in the interests of improving patient care<sup>6</sup>, or in the public interest<sup>7</sup>. Such regulations may, in particular, make provision<sup>8</sup>:

- 13 (1) for requiring prescribed communications of any nature which contain patient information to be disclosed by health service bodies<sup>9</sup> in prescribed circumstances (a) to the person to whom the information relates<sup>10</sup>; (b) (where it relates to more than one person) to the person to whom it principally relates<sup>11</sup>; or (c) to a prescribed person on behalf of any such person as is mentioned in head (a) or (b) above<sup>12</sup>, in such manner as may be prescribed<sup>13</sup>;
- 14 (2) for requiring or authorising the disclosure or other processing of prescribed patient information to or by persons of any prescribed description subject to compliance with any prescribed conditions (including conditions requiring prescribed undertakings to be obtained from such persons as to the processing of such information)<sup>14</sup>;
- 15 (3) for securing that, where prescribed patient information is processed by a person in accordance with the regulations, anything done by him in so processing the information must be taken to be lawfully done despite any obligation of confidence owed by him in respect of it<sup>15</sup>;
- 16 (4) for creating offences<sup>16</sup> or for creating other procedures for enforcing any provisions of the regulations<sup>17</sup>.

The regulations<sup>18</sup> may not make provision: (i) requiring the processing of confidential patient information<sup>19</sup> for any purpose if it would be reasonably practicable to achieve that purpose otherwise than pursuant to such regulations, having regard to the cost of and the technology available for achieving that purpose<sup>20</sup>; (ii) for requiring the processing of confidential patient information solely or principally for the purpose of determining the care and treatment to be given to particular individuals<sup>21</sup>.

Regulations<sup>22</sup> may not make provision for or in connection with the processing of prescribed patient information in a manner inconsistent with any provision made by or under the Data Protection Act 1998<sup>23</sup>.

Before making any regulations<sup>24</sup> the Secretary of State must, to such extent as he considers appropriate<sup>25</sup>, consult such bodies appearing to him to represent the interests of those likely to be affected by the regulations as he considers appropriate<sup>26</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. The territorial limit on the exercise of the functions of the Secretary of State does not apply to the National Health Service Act 2006 ss 251, 252 and therefore these provisions apply to both England and Wales: see s 271(3)(g); and PARA 6. Under the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006, the Welsh Ministers<sup>1</sup> have a duty to continue the promotion of a comprehensive health service in Wales<sup>2</sup>, the services under which must be free of charge except in so far as the making and recovery of charges is expressly provided for<sup>3</sup>. For this purpose they are under a duty to provide certain services similar to those which the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> is obliged to provide in England<sup>5</sup>, and they have similar general powers<sup>6</sup>. The Welsh Ministers may arrange with any person<sup>7</sup> or body, including voluntary organisations, to provide, or assist in providing, any service under the Act<sup>8</sup>.

The structure of the health service in Wales differs from that in England in that it consists of local health boards<sup>9</sup>, NHS trusts<sup>10</sup>, and special health authorities<sup>11</sup>. It is the duty of local health boards to provide primary medical services<sup>12</sup>, primary dental services<sup>13</sup>, general ophthalmic services<sup>14</sup>, and make arrangements for pharmaceutical services<sup>15</sup>.

Public involvement in and scrutiny of the health service in Wales is provided for by way of community health councils, which must represent the interests in the health service of the public in their districts<sup>16</sup>, and local health boards which must make arrangements to involve and consult persons to whom health services are, or may be, provided in connection with the planning and provision of those services<sup>17</sup>. Provision may also be made for scrutiny of health services by local authorities<sup>18</sup>.

A. INTRODUCTION

75. Health service bodies in England and Wales.

The structure of the National Health Service differs between England and Wales<sup>1</sup>. In England, health service bodies comprise strategic health authorities<sup>2</sup>, primary care trusts<sup>3</sup>, and special health authorities<sup>4</sup>. In addition the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> has powers to establish NHS trusts<sup>6</sup> and such trusts may apply to an independent regulator for authorisation to become NHS foundation trusts<sup>7</sup>. The Secretary of State may delegate any of his functions relating to the National Health Service to a strategic health authority, a primary care trust or a special health authority<sup>8</sup>.

In Wales, health service bodies comprise local health boards<sup>9</sup>, NHS trusts<sup>10</sup>, and special health authorities<sup>11</sup>. There is no provision in relation to Wales for strategic health authorities, primary care trusts or NHS foundation trusts. The Welsh Ministers<sup>12</sup> have power to arrange with any person<sup>13</sup> or body to provide, or assist in providing, any service under the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006<sup>14</sup>. A body corporate known as the Wales Centre for Health or Canolfan Iechyd Cymru is established to develop and maintain arrangements for making information about matters related to the protection and improvement of health in Wales available to the public in Wales; to undertake and commission research into such matters; and to contribute to the provision and development of training in such matters<sup>15</sup>.

77. Joint working with the prison service.

In exercising their respective functions<sup>1</sup>, NHS bodies<sup>2</sup> (on the one hand) and the prison service<sup>3</sup> (on the other) must co-operate with one another with a view to improving the way in which those functions are exercised in relation to securing and maintaining the health of prisoners<sup>4</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> may by regulations<sup>6</sup> make provision for or in connection with enabling prescribed<sup>7</sup> NHS bodies (on the one hand) and the prison service (on the other) to enter into prescribed arrangements in relation to the exercise of prescribed functions of the NHS bodies<sup>8</sup> and prescribed health-related functions of the prison service<sup>9</sup>, if the arrangements are likely to lead to an improvement in the way in which those functions are exercised in relation to securing and maintaining the health of prisoners<sup>10</sup>. The arrangements which may be prescribed include arrangements:

- 35 (1) for or in connection with the establishment and maintenance of a fund which is made up of contributions by one or more NHS bodies and by the prison service<sup>11</sup>, and out of which payments may be made towards expenditure incurred in the exercise of both prescribed functions of the NHS body or bodies and prescribed health-related functions of the prison service<sup>12</sup>;
- 36 (2) for or in connection with the exercise by an NHS body on behalf of the prison service of prescribed health-related functions of the prison service in conjunction with the exercise by the NHS body of prescribed functions of the NHS body<sup>13</sup>;
- 37 (3) for or in connection with the exercise by the prison service on behalf of an NHS body of prescribed functions of the NHS body in conjunction with the exercise by the prison service of prescribed health-related functions of the prison service<sup>14</sup>;

(B) POWER TO RAISE MONEY

78. Power to raise money.

An NHS body<sup>1</sup> has power to engage in activities intended to stimulate the giving (whether on trust<sup>2</sup> or otherwise) of money or other property to assist the body in providing or improving any services or any facilities<sup>3</sup> or accommodation which is or are, or will be, provided as part of the health service<sup>4</sup>, or assist it in connection with its functions<sup>5</sup> with respect to research<sup>6</sup>. The activities may involve the use of land<sup>14</sup>, premises or other property held by or for the benefit of the body exercising the power<sup>15</sup>.

The body at whose instance property is given must, after defraying out of it any expenses incurred in obtaining it, hold, administer and apply the property on trust for or for the purpose for which it was given<sup>16</sup>. Where property held by a body is more than sufficient to enable the purpose for which it was given to be fulfilled, the excess is applicable, in default of any provision for its application made by the trust or other instrument under or in accordance with which the property comprising the excess was given, for such purposes connected with any of the functions of the body as it considers appropriate<sup>17</sup>. Where property held by a body is insufficient to enable the purpose for which it was given to be fulfilled the body may apply so much of the capital or income at its disposal as is needed to enable the purpose to be fulfilled<sup>18</sup>.

79A. Trust special administrators.

If the Secretary of State considers it appropriate in the interests of the health service<sup>1</sup>, the Secretary of State may (1) in the case of an NHS trust or an NHS foundation trust<sup>2</sup>, make an order<sup>3</sup> authorising the appointment of a trust special administrator to exercise the functions of the chairman and directors of an NHS trust<sup>4</sup>; and (2) in the case of a primary care trust, give directions to a primary care trust requiring it to appoint a trust special administrator to exercise on its behalf, to the extent, and subject to any conditions, specified in the directions, such provider functions of the primary care trust as are specified in the directions<sup>5</sup>. Before making such an order or giving such directions, the Secretary of State must consult (a) the trust; (b) any strategic health authority in whose area the NHS trust or NHS foundation trust has hospitals, establishments or facilities or, as the case may be, any strategic health authority whose area includes any part of the primary care trust's area; and (c) any other person to which the trust provides goods or services under the National Health Service Act 2006 and which the Secretary of State considers it appropriate to consult<sup>6</sup>. When the appointment of a trust special administrator takes effect, the chairman and executive and non-executive directors of the NHS trust or NHS foundation trust are suspended from office<sup>7</sup> or, as the case may be, the relevant functions the primary care trust<sup>8</sup> cease to be exercisable by any committee, sub-committee or officer of the primary care trust by which they were previously exercisable<sup>9</sup>.

The Independent Regulator of NHS Foundation Trusts ('the regulator') may give the Secretary of State written notice, with a report stating its reasons, if it is satisfied that an NHS foundation trust is failing to comply with a notice it has given requiring the trust to do specified things<sup>10</sup>, and further exercise of its powers in relation to the trust<sup>11</sup> would not be likely to secure the provision of the goods and services which the trust's authorisation requires it to provide<sup>12</sup>. Before giving such a notice, the regulator must consult first the Secretary of State and then the trust, any Strategic Health Authority in whose area the trust has hospitals, establishments or facilities, and any other person to which the trust provides goods or services under the National Health Service Act 2006 and which the regulator considers it appropriate to consult<sup>13</sup>. If the regulator gives such a notice in relation to a trust, the Secretary of State must make an order for it to cease to be an NHS foundation trust<sup>14</sup>.

Within the period of 45 working days beginning with the day on which a trust special administrator's appointment takes effect, the administrator must provide to the Secretary of State and publish a draft report stating the action which the administrator recommends the Secretary of State should take in relation to the NHS trust or an NHS foundation trust or, as the case may be, in relation to the relevant functions of the primary care trust<sup>15</sup>. At the same time as publishing a draft report, a trust special administrator must publish a statement setting out the means by which the administrator will seek responses to the draft report<sup>16</sup>. Within the period of 15 working days beginning with the end of the consultation period, the trust special administrator must provide to the Secretary of State a final report stating the action which the administrator recommends that the Secretary of State should take in relation to the NHS trust or an NHS foundation trust or, as the case may be, in relation to the performance of the relevant functions of the primary care trust<sup>17</sup>.

Within the period of 20 working days beginning with the day on which the Secretary of State receives a final report, the Secretary of State must decide what action to take in relation to the the NHS trust or an NHS foundation trust or, as the case may be, in relation to the performance of the relevant functions of the primary care trust<sup>18</sup>. Further, the Secretary of State must, as soon as reasonably practicable, publish a notice of the decision and of the reasons for it<sup>19</sup>, and lay a copy of the notice before Parliament<sup>20</sup>. In the case of an NHS trust or an NHS foundation trust, if the Secretary of State decides under not to dissolve the trust, the Secretary of State must make an order specifying a date when the appointment of the trust special administrator and the suspension of the chairman and directors of the trust come to an end<sup>21</sup>. In the case of a primary care trust, Secretary of State may at any time give directions to a primary care trust and a trust special administrator who exercises functions on behalf of the primary care trust, requiring that the appointment of the administrator should come to an end with effect from a specified day<sup>22</sup>.

Nothing in reg 3(5) limits the area in relation to which an approval of a medical practitioner for the purposes of the Mental Health Act 1983 s 12(2) (see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) PARA 482) given by a strategic health authority has effect: National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 3(6). 'Appropriate strategic health authority' means: (1) in relation to a primary care trust, the strategic health authority whose area includes any part of the area of that primary care trust; (2) in relation to an NHS trust (other than a trust responsible for providing ambulance services), the strategic health authority in whose area all or most of the hospitals, establishments or facilities of the trust are situated; and (3) in relation to an NHS trust responsible for providing ambulance services, the strategic health authority in whose area the headquarters establishment responsible for control of those services is situated: National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 2(1).

42    As to the meaning of 'patient' see PARA 15 note 6.

43    Ie other than any such patients who are detained in a prison in England. 'Prison' includes a young offender institution but not a secure training centre or a naval, military or air force prison; 'young offender institution' means a place for the detention of offenders sentenced to detention in a young offender institution or to custody for life; and 'secure training centre' means a place in which offenders subject to detention and training orders under the Powers of Criminal Courts (Sentencing) Act 2000 s 100 (see CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS vol 5(4) (2008 Reissue) PARA 1398) may be detained and given training and education and prepared for their release: National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 2(1) (definitions added by SI 2003/1497). As to prisons generally see PRISONS.

44    As to primary medical services see PARA 241. Subject to any directions which the Secretary of State may give as to any particular case or class of case, if there is doubt as to whether a person is a patient of any medical practitioner, or as to the identity of the medical practitioner of which a person is a patient, he must be treated as a person who is not the patient of any medical practitioner: see the National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 3(9). As to the power of the Secretary of State to give directions see PARA 16.

The National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 3(7)(a) is expressed to be subject to provisions relating to the provision by a primary care trust of specific care services to persons over the age of 18 and children: see regs 3(7A)-(7G), 3A (reg 3(7A), (7B) added by SI 2006/359; National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, regs 3(7AA), (7C)-(7G), 3A added by SI 2007/559).

46    Subject to any directions which the Secretary of State may give as to any particular case or class of case, if there is doubt as to where a person is usually resident for these purposes he must be treated as usually resident at the address which he gives to the person or body providing him with services, as being that at which he usually resides; where he gives no such address, he must be treated as usually resident at the address which he gives, to the person or body providing him with services, as being his most recent address; and where his usual residence cannot be so determined, he must be treated as usually resident in the area in which he is present: National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 3(8) (amended by SI 2003/1497). However, a person who is detained in a prison in England, must, for the period of that detention, be treated as usually resident at the address of the prison in which he is detained (National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 3(8A) (reg 3(8A), (8B) added by SI 2003/1497); but this does not apply in relation to the commissioning of psychiatric hospital care for the purposes of the removal of a person detained in prison to a hospital under the Mental Health Act 1983 s 47 or s 48 (see MENTAL HEALTH vol 30(2) (Reissue) PARAS 535, 536) (National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, reg 3(8B) (as so added)).

101. Meetings and proceedings.

The proceedings of a strategic health authority<sup>1</sup> are not invalidated by any vacancy in its membership or by any defect in a member's appointment<sup>2</sup>. The meetings and proceedings of an authority must be conducted in accordance with the statutory rules<sup>3</sup> and with standing orders made by the authority<sup>4</sup>. Subject to such directions as may be given by the Secretary of State, an authority may, on its own in the case of a committee or sub-committee<sup>5</sup> of the authority or jointly with other strategic health authorities or primary care trusts<sup>6</sup> in the case of a joint committee or sub-committee thereof, make, vary and revoke standing orders relating to the quorum, proceedings and place of meeting of such committee, joint committee or sub-committee but, subject to any such standing orders, the quorum, proceedings and place of meeting is such as the committee, joint committee or sub-committee may determine<sup>7</sup>.

Subject to the following provisions, if the chairman or a member<sup>8</sup> has any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, in any contract, proposed contract or other matter<sup>9</sup> and is present at a meeting of the authority<sup>10</sup> at which the contract, proposed contract or other matter is the subject of consideration, he must at the meeting and as soon as practicable after its commencement disclose the fact and not take part in the consideration or discussion of the contract, proposed contract or other matter or vote on any question with respect to it<sup>11</sup>. An authority may, by standing orders<sup>12</sup>, provide for the exclusion of the chairman or a member from a meeting of the authority while any contract, proposed contract or other matter in which he has a pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, is under consideration<sup>13</sup>. The Secretary of State may, subject to such conditions as he may think fit to impose, remove any disability imposed by these provisions<sup>14</sup> in any case in which it appears to him in the interests of the health service<sup>15</sup> that the disability be removed<sup>16</sup>.

Subject to those rules, to reg 16 (see the text to notes 8-16), and to such directions as may be given by the Secretary of State, an authority must make, and may vary or revoke, standing orders for the regulation of its proceedings and business; and such standing orders may contain provision for their own suspension: reg 15(2). 9 Any remuneration, compensation or allowances payable to the chairman or a member by virtue of the National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 2 para 2 (see PARA 102) is not treated as a pecuniary interest for these purposes: Health Authorities (Membership and Procedure) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/707, reg 16(4); National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 Sch 2 Pt 1 para 1(4). Subject to the Health Authorities (Membership and Procedure) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/707, reg 16(2) (see the text to notes 14-16) and reg 16(6), the chairman or a member is treated for these purposes as having an indirect pecuniary interest in a contract, proposed contract or other matter if: (1) he, or a nominee of his, is a director of a company or other body, not being a public body, with which the contract was made or is proposed to be made or which has a direct pecuniary interest in the other matter under consideration (reg 16(5)(a)); or (2) he is a partner of, or in the employment of, a person with whom the contract was made or is proposed to be made or who has a direct pecuniary interest in the other matter under consideration (reg 16(5)(b)); and in the case of married persons living together the interest of one spouse is, if known to the other, deemed for these purposes to be also an interest of the other (reg 16(5)). The chairman or a member is not treated as having a pecuniary interest in any contract, proposed contract or other matter by reason only: (a) of his membership of a company or other body if he has no beneficial interest in any securities of that company or other body (reg 16(6)(a)); (b) of an interest of his as a person providing general ophthalmic services or pharmaceutical services or providing or performing primary medical services or primary dental services which cannot reasonably be regarded as an interest more substantial than that of others providing such of those services as he provides (reg 16(6)(b) (amended by SI 2004/865; SI 2006/562)); or (c) of an interest in any company, body or person with which he is connected as mentioned in the Health Authorities (Membership and Procedure) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/707, reg 16(5) which is so remote or insignificant that it cannot reasonably be regarded as likely to influence a member in the consideration or discussion of or in voting on, any question with respect to that contract, proposed contract or matter (reg 16(6)(c)). Where the chairman or a member has an indirect pecuniary interest in a contract, proposed contract or other matter by reason only of a beneficial interest in securities of a company or other body, and the total nominal value of those securities does not exceed £5,000 or one-hundredth of the total nominal value of the issued share capital of the company or body, whichever is the less, and if the share capital is of more than one class, the total nominal value of shares of any one class in which he has a beneficial interest does not exceed one-hundredth of the total issued share capital of that class, reg 16 does not prohibit him from taking part in the consideration or discussion of the contract, proposed contract or other matter or from voting on any question with respect to it, without prejudice however to his duty to disclose his interest: reg 16(7).

'Public body' includes any body established for the purpose of carrying on, under national ownership, any industry or part of any industry or undertaking, the governing body of any university, university college or college, school or hall of a university and the National Trust for Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty incorporated by the National Trust Act 1907 (see NATIONAL CULTURAL HERITAGE vol 77 (2010) PARA 979 et seq): Health Authorities (Membership and Procedure) Regulations 1996, SI 1996/707, reg 1(3). 'Securities' means: (i) shares or debentures, whether constituting a charge on the assets of the company or other body or not, or rights or interests in any shares or such debentures; or (ii) rights (whether actual or contingent) in respect of money lent to or deposited with, any industrial and provident society or building society: reg 1(3). ### 103. Staff.

A strategic health authority<sup>1</sup> may employ such officers<sup>2</sup> as it may determine<sup>3</sup>, and may pay its officers such remuneration and allowances<sup>4</sup>, and employ them on such other terms and conditions<sup>5</sup>, as it may determine<sup>6</sup>. A strategic health authority must, in exercising these powers, act in accordance with regulations<sup>7</sup> and any directions<sup>8</sup> given by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>. Such regulations and directions may make provision with respect to any matter connected with the employment by a strategic health authority of its officers, including in particular provision: (1) with respect to the qualifications of persons who may be employed as officers of an authority<sup>10</sup>; (2) requiring an authority to employ a chief officer and officers of such other descriptions as may be prescribed<sup>11</sup> and to employ, for the purpose of performing prescribed functions of the authority or any other body, officers having prescribed qualifications or experience<sup>12</sup>; (3) as to the manner in which any officers of an authority must be appointed<sup>13</sup>; and (4) providing for approvals or determinations to have effect from a date specified in them<sup>14</sup>. A direction may relate to a particular officer or class of officer specified in the direction<sup>15</sup>, Regulations may provide for the transfer of officers from one strategic health authority to another strategic health authority or to a special health authority<sup>16</sup>, and for arrangements under which the services of an officer of a strategic health authority are placed at the disposal of another strategic health authority, a special health authority or a local authority<sup>17</sup>. Directions<sup>18</sup> may be given by the Secretary of State: (a) to a strategic health authority to place the services of any of its officers at the disposal of another strategic health authority or of a special health authority<sup>19</sup>; and (b) to any strategic health authority to employ as an officer of the authority any person who is or was employed by another strategic health authority or by a special health authority and is specified in the direction<sup>20</sup>.

Where the registration of a dental practitioner<sup>21</sup> in the dentists register<sup>22</sup> is suspended by an interim suspension order<sup>23</sup>, or by a direction or an order of the health committee, the professional performance committee or the professional conduct committee of the General Dental Council<sup>24</sup> following a relevant determination<sup>25</sup> that that practitioner's fitness to practise is impaired<sup>26</sup>, the suspension does not terminate any contract of employment made between the dental practitioner and a strategic health authority, but a person whose registration is so suspended must not perform any duties under a contract made between him and an authority which involves the practice of dentistry<sup>27</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(3) HEALTH SERVICE BODIES/(ii) Strategic Health Authorities/B. FUNCTIONS/106. Exercise of functions.

106. Exercise of functions.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may direct a strategic health authority<sup>2</sup> to exercise any of his functions<sup>3</sup> relating to the health service<sup>4</sup> which are specified in the directions<sup>5</sup>; and he may give directions to a strategic health authority about its exercise of any functions<sup>6</sup>. Provision has been made by regulations as to the exercise by a strategic health authority of certain of the Secretary of State's functions and the manner of such exercise<sup>7</sup>.

Subject as provided<sup>8</sup> and to any directions which may be given by the Secretary of State with respect to its exercise, any function exercisable by a strategic health authority<sup>9</sup> may, by arrangement with that authority, and subject to such restrictions and conditions as that authority may think fit, be exercised by another strategic health authority<sup>10</sup>; by a special health authority<sup>11</sup>; jointly with any one or more primary care trusts<sup>12</sup>, other strategic health authorities<sup>13</sup> or local health boards<sup>14</sup>; or on behalf of the authority by a committee, sub-committee or officer<sup>15</sup> of the authority<sup>16</sup>.

Any function exercisable by a strategic health authority under or in relation to arrangements made<sup>17</sup> for the provision of instruction for health officers and others, may by arrangement with that authority be exercised jointly with one or more other strategic health authorities, special health authorities, local health boards, primary care trusts or NHS trusts<sup>18</sup>. Any functions which a strategic health authority may be directed to exercise<sup>19</sup> in relation to the provision of facilities for university clinical teaching and research may by arrangement with that authority be exercised jointly with one or more other strategic health authorities, local health boards, special health authorities, primary care trusts or NHS trusts<sup>20</sup>. Any function exercisable by a strategic health authority under the Nursing and Midwifery Order 2001<sup>21</sup> may, by arrangement with that authority, be exercised by another strategic health authority, jointly with any one or more other strategic health authorities, or on behalf of the authority by a committee, sub-committee or officer of the authority, or a joint committee or joint sub-committee, of that authority and one or more other strategic health authorities<sup>22</sup>. Any function exercisable by a strategic health authority in relation to opt outs of additional and out of hours services under general medical services contracts or personal medical services agreements<sup>23</sup>, may be exercised on behalf of the authority by a committee, sub-committee or officer of the authority<sup>24</sup>.

Where, in relation to a single primary care trust, more than one strategic health authority is the appropriate strategic health authority<sup>25</sup>, the authorities concerned must enter into arrangements for the purpose of ensuring that, in any particular case, only one such authority exercises functions in relation to that primary care trust<sup>26</sup>.

Subject to any directions which may be given by the Secretary of State, a strategic health authority may enter into arrangements with a local health board or local health boards for the specified functions<sup>27</sup> which are exercisable by that local health board or boards, to be exercised by the strategic health authority<sup>28</sup>, jointly between the strategic health authority and the local health board or boards<sup>29</sup>, or on behalf of the strategic health authority and local health board by a joint committee or joint sub-committee<sup>30</sup>.

In exercising its functions a strategic health authority must have regard to any health improvement plan prepared by a primary care trust any part of whose area falls within its area<sup>31</sup>.

If the Secretary of State considers that a strategic health authority is not performing any of its functions adequately or at all, or that there are significant failings in the way the authority is being run, he may make an intervention order<sup>32</sup>; and if he considers that an authority has failed to carry out any functions, or to comply with any regulations or directions relating to those functions, he may make an order declaring it to be in default<sup>33</sup>.

2 As to the establishment and status of strategic health authorities see PARA 94.

3 As to the meaning of 'functions' see PARA 6 note 3.

4 As to the meaning of 'health service' see PARA 10 note 3.

5 See the National Health Service Act 2006 s 7(1); and PARA 7. The Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration may not conduct an investigation in respect of any action taken on behalf of the Secretary of State by a strategic health authority, and for these purposes action taken by a strategic health authority in the exercise of functions of the Secretary of State is regarded as action taken on his behalf: see the Parliamentary Commissioner Act 1967 s 5, Sch 3 para 8 (amended by SI 2000/90; SI 2002/2469); and ADMINISTRATIVE LAW vol 1(1) (2001 Reissue) PARA 41 et seq. As to investigation by the Health Service Commissioner for England see PARA 643.

6 See the National Health Service Act 2006 s 8(1), (2)(a); and PARA 16. A strategic health authority must make arrangements for ensuring that its functions are discharged having regard to the need to safeguard and promote the welfare of children, and any services provided by another person pursuant to arrangements made by the authority in the discharge of its functions are provided having regard to that need: see the Children Act 2004 s 11(1)(c), (2). In discharging this duty an authority must have regard to any guidance given to it for the purpose by the Secretary of State: s 11(4). See further CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS vol 5(3) (2008 Reissue) PARA 187. As to the meaning of 'person' see PARA 17 note 2.

107. Directions.

A strategic health authority<sup>1</sup> may, in relation to any specified<sup>2</sup> function<sup>3</sup> of the strategic health authority, direct a primary care trust<sup>4</sup> any part of whose area falls within the strategic health authority's area to exercise the function<sup>5</sup>. However, a strategic health authority may not so direct a primary care trust in relation to any functions of the strategic health authority arising under arrangements for the provision of primary medical services<sup>6</sup> or primary dental services<sup>7</sup> if the primary care trust is providing any services in accordance with those arrangements<sup>8</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> may direct<sup>10</sup> strategic health authorities that specified functions of theirs: (1) are exercisable, or exercisable to (or only to) any specified extent, by primary care trusts<sup>11</sup>; or (2) are not exercisable by primary care trusts<sup>12</sup>; and that the authorities' power to give directions<sup>13</sup> must be exercised accordingly<sup>14</sup>.

1 As to the establishment and status of strategic health authorities see PARA 94.

2 'Specified' means specified in the directions: National Health Service Act 2006 s 15(6). Directions given by a strategic health authority must be given by instrument in writing: see s 273(3); and PARA 9. As to the meaning of 'writing' see PARA 7 note 2.

3 As to the meaning of 'functions' see PARA 6 note 3. As to the functions of strategic health authorities see PARAS 105-106.

4 As to primary care trusts see PARA 111 et seq.

5 National Health Service Act 2006 s 15(1). Except in prescribed cases, directions under s 15 must not preclude a person or body by whom the function is exercisable apart from the directions from exercising the function: s 73(1)(d), (2). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations: see s 275(1). As to the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 7 note 2. As to the making of regulations generally see PARA 9. As to the meaning of 'person' see PARA 17 note 2.

8 National Health Service Act 2006 s 15(2).

9 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. As to the territorial limit on the exercise of the functions of the Secretary of State see PARA 6.

10 Such directions must be given by regulations or instrument in writing: see the National Health Service Act 2006 s 273(4); and PARA 9. See also note 5. The National Health Service (Functions of Strategic Health Authorities and Primary Care Trusts and Administration Arrangements) (England) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/2375, have been made: see PARAS 89-93, 106, 127.

11 National Health Service Act 2006 s 15(3)(a). Directions under s 15(3)(a) may include directions that any of the specified functions must be exercised (or exercised to, or only to, any specified extent) jointly with the strategic health authority, or jointly by two or more primary care trusts: s 15(4). But such directions may be given only if regulations providing for the joint exercise of those functions have been made under s 14 (see PARA 105) or s 19 (see PARA 126): s 15(5).

108. Advice.

Each strategic health authority<sup>1</sup> must make arrangements with a view to securing that it receives advice appropriate for enabling it effectively to exercise the functions<sup>2</sup> exercisable by it from persons<sup>3</sup> with professional expertise relating to the physical or mental health of individuals<sup>4</sup>.

1 As to the establishment and status of strategic health authorities see PARA 94. As to the functions of strategic health authorities see PARAS 105, 106.

109. Powers.

A strategic health authority<sup>1</sup> may pay subscriptions, of such amounts as the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> may approve, to the funds of such bodies as he may approve<sup>3</sup>. A strategic health authority has power to accept gifts of property<sup>4</sup> (including property to be held on trust, either for the general or any specific purposes of the strategic health authority or for any purposes relating to the health service)<sup>5</sup>.

A strategic health authority may make available at a hospital<sup>6</sup> for which it has responsibility, accommodation or services for patients<sup>7</sup> who give undertakings (or for whom undertakings are given) to pay any charges imposed by the authority in respect of the accommodation or services<sup>8</sup>, and make and recover charges in respect of such accommodation or services and calculate them on any basis that it considers to be the appropriate commercial basis<sup>9</sup>. An authority may exercise this power only if it is satisfied that its exercise does not to any significant extent interfere with the performance by the authority of any function<sup>10</sup> conferred on it under the National Health Service Act 2006 to provide accommodation or services of any kind<sup>11</sup>, and does not to a significant extent operate to the disadvantage of persons seeking or afforded admission or access to accommodation or services at health service hospitals<sup>12</sup> (whether as resident or non-resident patients) otherwise than under this provision<sup>13</sup>. An authority may allow accommodation or services which are made available<sup>14</sup> to be so made available in connection with treatment in pursuance of arrangements made by a medical practitioner<sup>15</sup> or dental practitioner<sup>16</sup> serving (whether in an honorary or paid capacity) on the staff of a health service hospital<sup>17</sup> for the treatment of private patients of that practitioner<sup>18</sup>.

As to the meaning of 'health service' see PARA 10 note 3. A defeasance clause in a trust instrument divesting a hospital of benefits under the trust in events such as amalgamation with, or absorption in, another institution, is not rendered ineffective by this provision, with the result that such a clause will preclude, in appropriate circumstances, the hospital from continuing to be entitled to benefit under the trust: Re Bawden's Settlement, Besant v Board of Governors of the London Hospital [1953] 2 All ER 1235, [1954] 1 WLR 33n. Cf Re Hayes' Will Trusts, Dobie v National Hospital Board of Governors [1953] 2 All ER 1242, [1954] 1 WLR 22, where there was a discretion to the trustees to divert the gift if impracticable or inequitable in consequence of amalgamation, and it was held that no amalgamation had occurred by virtue of the National Health Service Act 1946 so as to render it impracticable or inequitable that any hospital transferred to public ownership should benefit. Where a health service hospital is in need owing to the insufficiency of the public funds provided, it may benefit under a discretionary trust of funds bequeathed among such hospitals as are most in need: see Re Perreyman, National Provincial Bank Ltd v Perreyman [1953] 1 All ER 223.

TEXT AND NOTE 1--Appointed day is 3 November 2008: SI 2008/2434.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(3) HEALTH SERVICE BODIES/(iii) Primary Care Trusts/A. STATUS AND MEMBERSHIP/111. Establishment and status.

(iii) Primary Care Trusts

A. STATUS AND MEMBERSHIP

111. Establishment and status.

Each primary care trust is a body corporate<sup>1</sup>. The primary care trusts established by the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> continue in existence<sup>3</sup>, but the Secretary of State may by order (known as a 'PCT order'<sup>4</sup>): (1) vary the area in England for which a primary care trust is established<sup>5</sup>; (2) abolish a primary care trust<sup>6</sup>; (3) establish a new primary care trust for the area in England specified in the order with a view to it exercising functions<sup>7</sup> in relation to the health service<sup>8</sup>. The Secretary of State must act so as to ensure that the areas for which primary care trusts are at any time established together comprise the whole of England<sup>9</sup>.

A PCT order must specify the name of the primary care trust<sup>10</sup> and the operational date of the primary care trust<sup>11</sup>. A primary care trust must exercise its functions in accordance with any prohibitions or restrictions in a PCT order relating to it<sup>12</sup>.

A primary care trust is not to be regarded as the servant or agent of the Crown or as enjoying any status, immunity or privilege of the Crown<sup>13</sup>; and a primary care trust's property<sup>14</sup> must not be regarded as property of, or property held on behalf of, the Crown<sup>15</sup>.

1 National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 3 para 1. As to the membership of primary care trusts see PARAS 112-118. As to meetings and proceedings of trusts see PARAS 119, 120. As to bodies corporate see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 1; CORPORATIONS. A primary care trust is a public authority for the purposes of the Freedom of Information Act 2000: see s 3, Sch 1 Pt III (amended by the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 Sch 1 paras 210, 211(d)): and CONFIDENCE AND DATA PROTECTION vol 8(1) (2003 Reissue) PARA 583.

2 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. As to the territorial limit on the exercise of the functions of the Secretary of State see PARA 6.

3 National Health Service Act 2006 s 18(1). Primary care trusts were originally established by order of the Secretary of State under the National Health Service Act 1977 s 16A (repealed). Primary care trusts exist in England only; as to health service bodies in Wales see PARA 75. As to the meanings of 'England' and 'Wales' see PARA 6 note 2.

4 Any such order must be made by statutory instrument: see the National Health Service Act 2006 s 272(2). If any consultation requirements apply, they must be complied with before a PCT order is made: s 18(5). 'Consultation requirements' means requirements about consultation contained in regulations: s 18(6). Regulations must impose requirements about consultation where a PCT order establishes a primary care trust: s 18(7). As to the meaning of 'regulations' see PARA 7 note 2. As to the making of orders and regulations generally see PARA 9. As to the consultation requirements see the Primary Care Trusts (Consultation on Establishment, Dissolution and Transfer of Staff) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2337, which by virtue of the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 s 4, Sch 2 Pt 1 para 1(1), (2) have effect under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 18(5), (6). The 'operational date' of a primary care trust is the date on which functions exercisable by it may be undertaken fully by the trust: Sch 3 para 13(2). A PCT order may provide for the establishment of a primary care trust with effect from a date earlier than the operational date: Sch 3 para 14(1). During the period beginning with that earlier date and ending with the day immediately preceding the operational date (known as the 'preparatory period'), the exercise of any functions by the primary care trust must be limited to such exercise as may be specified in the PCT order for the purpose of enabling it to begin to operate satisfactorily with effect from the operational date: Sch 3 para 14(2). A PCT order may require a strategic health authority whose area includes any part of the area of a primary care trust to meet costs of the trust performing its functions during the preparatory period by doing either or both of the following: (1) discharging such liabilities of the trust as may be incurred during the preparatory period and are of a description specified in the order (Sch 3 para 14(3)(a)); (2) paying the trust sums to enable it to meet (or to contribute towards its meeting) expenditure of a description specified in the order (Sch 3 para 14(3)(b)). A PCT order may require an NHS trust, or a strategic health authority whose area includes any part of the area of a primary care trust, to make available to the trust during the preparatory period premises and other facilities of the NHS trust or authority, staff of the NHS trust, or officers of the authority: Sch 3 para 14(4). #### 114. Termination of tenure of office and suspension of officer members.

A person who is an officer member<sup>1</sup> of a primary care trust<sup>2</sup> by virtue<sup>3</sup> of holding certain offices, of being another officer, or being the chairman of the executive committee, ceases to hold office as a member if he ceases to hold the post or office in the trust by virtue of which he became an officer member<sup>4</sup>. A person who is an officer member by virtue<sup>5</sup> of being the chairman of the executive committee, or being appointed following nomination by that committee, ceases to hold office as a member if, being a member of the committee, he ceases to be such a member<sup>6</sup>.

If the chairman<sup>7</sup> and non-officer members<sup>8</sup> are of the opinion that it is not in the interests of the trust that a person who is an officer member by virtue<sup>9</sup> of being appointed following nomination by the executive committee, or, in the case of a care trust<sup>10</sup>, having certain experience, should continue to hold office as such a member, they may with the consent of the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup> forthwith terminate his tenure of office<sup>12</sup>. If the executive committee of a primary care trust notifies the chairman of the trust that it is of the opinion that a person who is such an officer member should not continue to hold office as such a member, the chairman and non-officer members of the trust may terminate his tenure of office if they are of the opinion that it is not in the interests of the trust for him to continue to hold office<sup>13</sup>. If the chairman and non-officer members are of the opinion that it is appropriate to do so in order to ensure compliance with the provisions relating to the appointment of members<sup>14</sup>, they may, following such period of notice as appears to them to be reasonable, terminate the tenure of office of a person who is an officer member by virtue<sup>15</sup> of being appointed following nomination by the executive committee, or being an officer other than the holder of certain designated posts<sup>16</sup>. If the chairman and non-officer members are of the opinion that it is not in the interests of the trust that a person who is an officer member by virtue<sup>17</sup> of being an officer other than the holder of certain designated posts should continue to hold office as such a member, they may forthwith terminate his tenure of office<sup>18</sup>.

If a person who is an officer member by virtue<sup>19</sup> of being appointed following nomination by the executive committee, or, in the case of a care trust, having certain experience, has failed to attend a meeting of the trust for a period of three months<sup>20</sup>, the chairman and non-officer members must forthwith terminate the tenure of office of that officer member unless they are satisfied that the absence was due to a reasonable cause<sup>21</sup>, and the member will be able to attend meetings of that trust within such period as the chairman and non-officer members consider reasonable<sup>22</sup>.

If an officer member of a primary care trust is suspended from his post in the trust or from his membership of the executive committee he must be suspended from performing his functions as a member for the period of his suspension<sup>23</sup>.

In the case of a care trust a member's tenure of office must not be terminated under these provisions unless each relevant local authority has been consulted<sup>24</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(3) HEALTH SERVICE BODIES/(iii) Primary Care Trusts/A. STATUS AND MEMBERSHIP/115. Termination of tenure of office: chairman and non-officer members.

115. Termination of tenure of office: chairman and non-officer members.

The chairman<sup>1</sup> or a non-officer member<sup>2</sup> of a primary care trust<sup>3</sup> may resign his office at any time during the period for which he was appointed by giving notice in writing<sup>4</sup> to the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup>. Where during his period of membership a non-officer member of a trust is appointed to be the chairman of the trust, his tenure of office as a member<sup>6</sup> terminates when his appointment as chairman takes effect<sup>7</sup>.

If the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it is not in the interests of the health service<sup>8</sup> in the area for which a trust acts<sup>9</sup>, or it is not conducive to the good management of a trust<sup>10</sup>, for a person whom he has appointed as the chairman or a non-officer member of that trust to continue to hold that office, the Secretary of State may forthwith terminate his tenure of office<sup>11</sup>. If the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it is appropriate to do so in connection with the designation of a trust as a care trust, he may, following such period of notice as appears to him to be reasonable, terminate the tenure of office of the chairman or a non-officer member of the trust<sup>12</sup>. If the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it is appropriate to do so in order to ensure compliance with the provisions relating to membership<sup>13</sup>, he may, following such period of notice as appears to him to be reasonable, terminate the tenure of office of a non-officer member of the trust<sup>14</sup>.

If the chairman or a non-officer member of a trust has failed to attend a meeting of that trust for a period of three months<sup>15</sup>, the Secretary of State must forthwith terminate the tenure of office of the chairman or that member unless he is satisfied that<sup>16</sup> the absence was due to a reasonable cause<sup>17</sup>, and the chairman or member will be able to attend meetings of that trust within such period as the Secretary of State considers reasonable<sup>18</sup>. Where a person has been appointed to be the chairman or a non-officer member of a trust, if it comes to the notice of the Secretary of State that the person has become disqualified for appointment<sup>19</sup>, the Secretary of State must forthwith notify him in writing of such disqualification<sup>20</sup>; or if it comes to the notice of the Secretary of State that at the time of his appointment the person was so disqualified, the Secretary of State must forthwith declare that he was not duly appointed and so notify him in writing<sup>21</sup>; and, upon receipt of any such notification, his tenure of office, if any, is terminated and he must cease to act as such chairman or member<sup>22</sup>. If it appears to the Secretary of State that the chairman or a non-officer member of a trust has failed to comply with the obligation to declare a pecuniary interest<sup>23</sup> he may forthwith terminate that person's tenure of office<sup>24</sup>.

Where a relevant local authority notifies the Secretary of State in writing that it no longer wishes a relevant member<sup>25</sup> to continue as a member of the trust the Secretary of State must forthwith terminate the tenure of office of that member<sup>26</sup>. If the chairman or a non-officer member of a care trust who is a member of a local authority is suspended from being a member of that authority<sup>27</sup> he is suspended from performing his functions as a member of the care trust for the period of the suspension<sup>28</sup>.

The Secretary of State may suspend an appointee<sup>29</sup> from office while he considers whether to remove<sup>30</sup> the person from office<sup>31</sup>, or the person has become disqualified for appointment<sup>32</sup> or was so disqualified at the time of appointment<sup>33</sup>. A period of suspension must not exceed six months<sup>34</sup>, but the Secretary of State may at any time review a suspension and must review a suspension after three months if so requested in writing by the person who has been suspended<sup>35</sup>. In relation to any primary care trust in which the chairman of the trust is so suspended<sup>36</sup>, if a vice-chairman has been appointed<sup>37</sup> that appointment ceases to have effect from the time that the chairman is suspended<sup>38</sup>. The Secretary of State may, for the purpose of enabling the proceedings of the trust<sup>39</sup> to be conducted in the absence of the chairman, appoint a non-officer member of the trust to be vice-chairman<sup>40</sup>. When the period for which a person is appointed as vice-chairman expires, the Secretary of State may re-appoint the person, or appoint another non-officer member, as vice-chairman<sup>41</sup>. Any person appointed under these provisions may at any time resign from the office of vice-chairman by giving notice in writing to the Secretary of State<sup>42</sup>. The Secretary of State may terminate a person's appointment as vice-chairman if the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it would be in the best interests of the trust for another non-officer member of the trust to be vice-chairman<sup>43</sup>.

119. Meetings and proceedings.

The meetings and proceedings of a primary care trust<sup>1</sup> must be conducted in accordance with the statutory rules<sup>2</sup> and with standing orders made by the trust<sup>3</sup>. Subject to such directions as may be given by the Secretary of State, a trust may, on its own in the case of a committee or sub-committee<sup>4</sup> of the trust or jointly with other trusts, strategic health authorities<sup>5</sup> or local health boards<sup>6</sup> in the case of a joint committee or sub-committee thereof, make, vary and revoke standing orders relating to the quorum, proceedings and place of meeting of such committee, joint committee or sub-committee but, subject to any such standing orders, the quorum, proceedings and place of meeting is such as the committee, joint committee or sub-committee may determine<sup>7</sup>. The validity of any proceedings of a primary care trust, or of any of its committees, is not affected by any vacancy among the members or by any defect in the appointment of any member<sup>8</sup>.

120. Disability on account of pecuniary interest.

If the chairman<sup>1</sup> or a member<sup>2</sup> of a primary care trust<sup>3</sup> has any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, in any contract, proposed contract or other matter<sup>4</sup> and is present at a meeting<sup>5</sup> of the trust at which the contract, proposed contract or other matter is the subject of consideration, he must at the meeting and as soon as practicable after its commencement disclose the fact and must not take part in the consideration or discussion of the contract, proposed contract or other matter or vote on any question with respect to it<sup>6</sup>. A trust may, by standing orders<sup>7</sup>, provide for the exclusion of the chairman or a member from a meeting of the trust while any contract, proposed contract or other matter in which he has a pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, is under consideration<sup>8</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>9</sup> may, subject to such conditions as he may think fit to impose, remove any disability imposed by these provisions in any case in which it appears to him in the interests of the health service<sup>10</sup> that the disability should be removed<sup>11</sup>.

These provisions apply in relation to a committee or sub-committee and to a joint committee or sub-committee<sup>12</sup> as it applies in relation to a trust and applies to a member of any such committee or sub-committee (whether or not he is also a member of a trust) as it applies to a member of a trust<sup>13</sup>.

1 As to the chairman see PARA 112.

2 As to the meaning of 'member' see PARA 113 note 2.

3 As to the meaning of 'primary care trust' see PARA 113 note 1. As to the establishment and status of primary care trusts see PARA 111. As to the functions of primary care trusts see PARA 126 et seq. Primary care trusts exist in England only; as to health service bodies in Wales see PARA 75. 4 Any remuneration, compensation or allowance payable to the chairman or a member by virtue of the National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 3 para 11 (see PARA 121) is not treated as a pecuniary interest for these purposes: Primary Care Trusts (Membership, Procedure and Administration Arrangements) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/89, reg 11(4). Subject to reg 11(2) (see the text to notes 9-11) and 11(6), the chairman or a member is treated as having an indirect pecuniary interest in a contract, proposed contract or other matter if: (1) he, or a nominee of his, is a director of a company or other body, not being a public body, with which the contract was made or is proposed to be made or which has a direct pecuniary interest in the other matter under consideration (reg 11(5)(a)); or (2) he is a partner of, or in the employment of, a person with whom the contract was made or is proposed to be made or who has a direct pecuniary interest in the other matter under consideration (reg 11(5)(b)); and in the case of two persons living together as a couple (whether married or not or civil partners of each other or not) the interest of one is, if known to the other, deemed to be also an interest of the other (reg 11(5) (amended by SI 2003/1616; SI 2005/2114)). The chairman or a member is not treated as having a pecuniary interest in any contract, proposed contract or other matter by reason only: (a) of his membership of a company or other body if he has no beneficial interest in any securities of that company or other body (Primary Care Trusts (Membership, Procedure and Administration Arrangements) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/89, reg 11(6)(a)); or (b) of an interest in any company, body or person with which he is connected as mentioned in reg 11(5) which is so remote or insignificant that it cannot reasonably be regarded as likely to influence a member in the consideration or discussion of or in voting on, any question with respect to that contract, proposed contract or matter (reg 11(6)(b)). Where the chairman or a member has an indirect pecuniary interest in a contract, proposed contract or other matter by reason only of a beneficial interest in securities of a company or other body, and the total nominal value of those securities does not exceed £5,000 or one-hundredth of the total nominal value of the issued share capital of the company or body, whichever is the less, and if the share capital is of more than one class, the total nominal value of shares of any one class in which he has a beneficial interest does not exceed one-hundredth of the total issued share capital of that class, reg 11 does not prohibit him from taking part in the consideration or discussion of the contract, proposed contract or other matter or from voting on any question with respect to it, without prejudice however to his duty to disclose his interest: reg 11(7). As to civil partnerships see MATRIMONIAL AND CIVIL PARTNERSHIP LAW.

'Public body' includes any body established for the purpose of carrying on, under national ownership, any industry or part of any industry or undertaking, the governing body of any university, university college or college, school or hall of a university and the National Trust for Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty incorporated by the National Trust Act 1907 (see NATIONAL CULTURAL HERITAGE vol 77 (2010) PARA 979 et seq): Primary Care Trusts (Membership, Procedure and Administration Arrangements) Regulations 2000, SI 2000/89, reg 11(9). 'Shares' means shares in the share capital of a company or other body or the stock of a company or other body: reg 11(9). As to the meaning of 'person' see PARA 17 note 2. As to companies see COMPANIES. As to partnership see PARTNERSHIP. As to industrial and provident societies see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 50 (2008) PARA 2394 et seq. A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> may pay the chairman<sup>2</sup> and any other members<sup>3</sup> of the trust such remuneration and such travelling and other allowances as may be determined by the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>. ## 122. Staff.

A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> may employ such officers<sup>2</sup> as it considers appropriate<sup>3</sup>. A primary care trust may pay its officers such remuneration and allowances<sup>4</sup>, and employ them on such other terms and conditions<sup>5</sup>, as it considers appropriate<sup>6</sup>. In exercising these powers<sup>7</sup>, and otherwise in connection with the employment of its officers<sup>8</sup>, a primary care trust must act in accordance with regulations<sup>9</sup> and any directions<sup>10</sup> given by the Secretary of State<sup>11</sup>.

The Secretary of State may direct<sup>12</sup> a primary care trust to make the services of any of its officers available to another primary care trust<sup>13</sup>, or to employ any person who is or was employed by another primary care trust and is specified in the direction<sup>14</sup>. Regulations made in relation to strategic health authorities or special health authorities<sup>15</sup> may, in addition to making provision in relation to those authorities, also provide<sup>16</sup> for the transfer of officers of one primary care trust to another<sup>17</sup>, and for arrangements under which the officers of a primary care trust are placed at the disposal of another primary care trust or a local authority<sup>18</sup>.

Where the registration of a dental practitioner<sup>19</sup> in the dentists register<sup>20</sup> is suspended by an interim suspension order<sup>21</sup>, or by a direction or an order of the health committee, the professional performance committee or the professional conduct committee of the General Dental Council<sup>22</sup> following a relevant determination<sup>23</sup> that that practitioner's fitness to practise is impaired<sup>24</sup>, the suspension does not terminate any contract of employment made between the dental practitioner and a primary care trust, but a person whose registration is so suspended must not perform any duties under a contract made between him and a primary care trust which involves the practice of dentistry<sup>25</sup>.

4 Where a primary care trust is dissolved, such an order includes power to transfer employees of the trust and the order may make any provision in relation to the transfer of those employees which is or may be made in relation to the transfer of employees under the National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 3 para 26 (see PARA 125): Sch 3 para 29. A transfer order may include provision for matters to be settled by arbitration by a person determined in accordance with the order: Sch 3 para 25(6). A certificate issued by the Secretary of State that any specified property, any specified interest in or right over any property, or any specified right or liability, has been vested in a primary care trust by or under a transfer order is conclusive evidence of that fact for all purposes: Sch 3 para 25(4). ## 127. Exercise of functions.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may direct a primary care trust<sup>2</sup> to exercise any of his functions<sup>3</sup> relating to the health service<sup>4</sup> which are specified in the directions<sup>5</sup>; and he may give directions to a primary care trust about its exercise of any functions<sup>6</sup>. Subject to such directions<sup>7</sup>, a strategic health authority<sup>8</sup> may give directions to a primary care trust about its exercise of any function<sup>9</sup>. Provision has been made by regulations as to the exercise by a primary care trust of certain of the Secretary of State's functions and the manner of such exercise<sup>10</sup>.

Subject as provided<sup>11</sup> and to any directions given by the Secretary of State or, subject to any such directions, any directions given by the appropriate strategic health authority<sup>12</sup> with respect to its exercise, any function exercisable by a primary care trust<sup>13</sup> may, by arrangement with that trust, and subject to such restrictions and conditions as that trust may think fit, be exercised<sup>14</sup>: (1) by another primary care trust<sup>15</sup>; (2) in the case of the functions of an assessment panel<sup>16</sup> by a committee or sub-committee of another primary care trust<sup>17</sup>; (3) by a special health authority<sup>18</sup>; (4) jointly with any one or more strategic health authorities<sup>19</sup>, local health boards<sup>20</sup>, NHS trusts<sup>21</sup>, or other primary care trusts<sup>22</sup>; or (5) on behalf of the trust by a committee, sub-committee or officer<sup>23</sup> of the trust<sup>24</sup>. Any function exercisable by a primary care trust under or in relation to arrangements<sup>25</sup> for the provision of instruction for health officers and others, and any function which a primary care trust may be directed to exercise<sup>26</sup> in relation to the provision of facilities for university clinical teaching and research, may by arrangement with that trust be exercised jointly with one or more strategic health authorities, local health boards, special health authorities, NHS trusts or other primary care trusts<sup>27</sup>.

Subject to any directions which may be given by the Secretary of State, a primary care trust may enter into arrangements with a local health board or local health boards for specified functions<sup>28</sup> which are exercisable by that board or boards, to be exercised jointly between the primary care trust and the board or boards<sup>29</sup>, or on behalf of the trust and board by a joint committee or joint sub-committee<sup>30</sup>.

In exercising its functions a primary care trust must have regard to any health improvement plan prepared by it<sup>31</sup>.

If the Secretary of State considers that a primary care trust is not performing any of its functions adequately or at all, or that there are significant failings in the way the trust is being run, he may make an intervention order<sup>32</sup>; and if he considers that a trust has failed to carry out any functions, or to comply with any regulations or directions relating to those functions, he may make an order declaring it to be in default<sup>33</sup>.

128. Powers.

A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> may do anything which appears to it to be necessary or expedient for the purposes of or in connection with its functions<sup>2</sup>. In particular it may: (1) acquire and dispose of property<sup>3</sup>; (2) enter into contracts<sup>4</sup>; and (3) accept gifts of property (including property to be held on trust, either for the general or any specific purposes of the trust or for any purposes relating to the health service)<sup>5</sup>.

The powers of a primary care trust include power to enter into externally financed development agreements<sup>6</sup>. A primary care trust may conduct, commission or assist the conduct of research<sup>7</sup>, and may, in particular, make officers<sup>8</sup> available or provide facilities in this connection<sup>9</sup>. A primary care trust may make officers available in connection with any instruction provided<sup>10</sup> for health officers and others<sup>11</sup>, and make officers and facilities available in connection with training by a university<sup>12</sup> or any other body providing training in connection with the health service<sup>13</sup>.

A primary care trust may be authorised to purchase land<sup>14</sup> compulsorily for the purposes of its functions by means of an order made by the trust and confirmed by the Secretary of State<sup>15</sup>.

Each registrar of births and deaths<sup>1</sup> must furnish, to the primary care trust<sup>2</sup> the area of which includes the whole or part of the registrar's sub-district, such particulars of each birth and death which occurred in the area of the trust as are entered in a register of births or deaths kept for that sub-district<sup>3</sup>. Any person who fails to give such notice of a birth commits an offence<sup>11</sup>, unless he satisfies the court that he believed, and had reasonable grounds for believing, that notice had been duly given by some other person<sup>12</sup>. A registrar of births and deaths must, for the purpose of obtaining information concerning births which have occurred in his sub-district, have access at all reasonable times to notices of births received by a primary care trust under these provisions<sup>13</sup>, or any book in which those notices may be recorded<sup>14</sup>.

The Secretary of State may give directions to a special health authority about its exercise of any functions<sup>7</sup>.

Regulations<sup>8</sup> may provide: (1) for any of the Secretary of State's functions relating to the health service which are exercisable by a special health authority<sup>9</sup> to be exercised by another special health authority<sup>10</sup>, or jointly with one or more other special health authorities<sup>11</sup>; (2) for any such functions, or functions of a strategic health authority or primary care trust, which are exercisable by a special health authority<sup>12</sup> to be exercised on behalf of that special health authority by a committee, sub-committee or officer<sup>13</sup> of the special health authority<sup>14</sup>; (3) for any functions exercisable jointly with one or more other special health authorities<sup>15</sup> to be exercised, on behalf of the special health authorities in question, by a joint committee or joint sub-committee<sup>16</sup>.

Subject to any directions which may be given by the Secretary of State with respect to its exercise, any function exercisable<sup>17</sup> by a special health authority<sup>18</sup> may, by arrangement with that authority and subject to such restrictions and conditions as that authority may think fit, be exercised on behalf of that authority by a committee or sub-committee, or an officer, of that authority<sup>19</sup>; or a joint committee, or joint sub-committee, of that authority and one or more other special health authorities<sup>20</sup>.

In discharging this duty a special health authority must have regard to any guidance given to it for the purpose by the Secretary of State: s 11(4). ## (v) National Health Service Trusts

A. ESTABLISHMENT

155. Establishment and constitution.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may by order<sup>2</sup> establish bodies, called National Health Service trusts, or 'NHS trusts', to provide goods and services for the purposes of the health service<sup>3</sup>. No NHS trust order may be made until after the completion of such consultation as may be prescribed<sup>4</sup>. An NHS trust must not be regarded as the servant or agent of the Crown or as enjoying any status, immunity or privilege of the Crown<sup>5</sup>; and an NHS trust's property<sup>6</sup> must not be regarded as property of, or property held on behalf of, the Crown<sup>7</sup>.

Each NHS trust is a body corporate<sup>8</sup>. Each NHS trust has a board of directors consisting of a chairman appointed by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>, and executive and non-executive directors<sup>10</sup>. The Secretary of State may by regulations<sup>11</sup> make provision with respect to: (1) the qualifications for and the tenure of office of the chairman and directors of an NHS trust (including the circumstances in which they cease to hold, or may be removed from, office or may be suspended from performing the functions<sup>12</sup> of the office)<sup>13</sup>; (2) the persons<sup>14</sup> by whom the directors and any of the officers<sup>15</sup> must be appointed and the manner of their appointment<sup>16</sup>; (3) the maximum and minimum numbers of the directors<sup>17</sup>; (4) the circumstances in which a person who is not an employee of the NHS trust is nevertheless, on appointment as a director, to be regarded as an executive rather than a non-executive director<sup>18</sup>; (5) the proceedings of the NHS trust (including the validation of proceedings in the event of a vacancy or defect in appointment)<sup>19</sup>; (6) the appointment, constitution and exercise of functions by committees and sub-committees of the NHS trust (whether or not consisting of or including any members of the board)<sup>20</sup>; and (7) in particular, cases where the post of any officer of an NHS trust is held jointly by two or more persons or where the functions of such an officer are in any other way performed by more than one person<sup>21</sup>.

An NHS trust must pay: (a) to the chairman and any non-executive director of the NHS trust remuneration of an amount determined<sup>22</sup> by the Secretary of State, not exceeding such amount as may be approved by the Treasury<sup>23</sup>; (b) to the chairman and any non-executive director of the NHS trust such travelling and other allowances as may be determined by the Secretary of State with the approval of the Treasury<sup>24</sup>; (c) to any member of a committee or sub-committee of the NHS trust who is not also a director such travelling and other allowances as may be so determined<sup>25</sup>. If an NHS trust so determines in the case of a person who is or has been a chairman of the NHS trust, the NHS trust must pay such pension, allowances or gratuities to or in respect of him as may be determined by the Secretary of State with the approval of the Treasury<sup>26</sup>.

The fixing of the seal of an NHS trust must be authenticated by the signature of the chairman or of some other person authorised (whether generally or specifically) by the NHS trust for that purpose<sup>27</sup>, and of one other director<sup>28</sup>. A document purporting to be duly executed under the seal of an NHS trust must be received in evidence and must, unless the contrary is proved, be taken to be so executed<sup>29</sup>; and a document purporting to be signed on behalf of an NHS trust must be received in evidence and must, unless the contrary is proved, be taken to be so signed<sup>30</sup>.

156. NHS trust orders.

The first NHS trust order<sup>1</sup> made in relation to any NHS trust<sup>2</sup> must specify: (1) the name of the NHS trust<sup>3</sup>; (2) the functions<sup>4</sup> of the NHS trust<sup>5</sup>; (3) the number of executive directors and non-executive directors<sup>6</sup>; (4) where the NHS trust has a significant teaching commitment<sup>7</sup>, a provision to secure the inclusion in the non-executive directors of a person appointed from a university<sup>8</sup> with a medical or dental school specified in the order<sup>9</sup>; (5) the operational date of the NHS trust<sup>10</sup>; and (6) if a scheme is to be made for the transfer of staff to the NHS trust<sup>11</sup>, the primary care trusts<sup>12</sup>, special health authority<sup>13</sup> or local health board<sup>14</sup> which is to make the scheme<sup>15</sup>.

An NHS trust order must specify the accounting date of the NHS trust<sup>16</sup>. An NHS trust order may require a strategic health authority<sup>17</sup>, special health authority, primary care trust or local health board to make staff, premises and other facilities<sup>18</sup> available to an NHS trust pending the transfer or appointment of staff to or by the NHS trust and the transfer of premises or other facilities to the NHS trust<sup>19</sup>.

An NHS trust order may provide for the establishment of an NHS trust with effect from a date earlier than the operational date of the NHS trust and, during the period between that earlier date and the operational date, the NHS trust has such limited functions for the purpose of enabling it to begin to operate satisfactorily with effect from the operational date as may be specified in the order<sup>20</sup>. If an NHS trust order makes such provision: (a) then, at any time during the period between the earlier date and the operational date, the NHS trust must be regarded as properly constituted (and may carry out its limited functions accordingly) notwithstanding that, at that time, all or any of the executive directors have not yet been appointed<sup>21</sup>; and (b) the order may require a strategic health authority, special health authority or local health board to discharge such liabilities<sup>22</sup> of the NHS trust as may be incurred during the period between the earlier date and the operational date<sup>23</sup>, and are of a description specified in the order<sup>24</sup>.

6 National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 4 para 5(1)(c). As to the meanings of 'executive director' and 'non-executive director' see PARA 155 note 10.

8 As to the meaning of 'university' see PARA 22 note 4.

9 National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 4 para 5(1)(d). In a case where the order contains such a provision and a person who is being considered for appointment by virtue of that provision is employed by the university in question, and would also, apart from this provision, be regarded as employed by the NHS trust, his employment by the NHS trust must be disregarded in determining whether, if appointed, he will be a non-executive director of the NHS trust: Sch 4 para 5(4).

10 National Health Service Act 2006 Sch 4 para 5(1)(e). The 'operational date' of the NHS trust is the date on which it will begin to undertake the whole of the functions conferred on it: Sch 4 para 5(5).

Subject to the provisions relating to termination of office<sup>1</sup>, the chairman and non-executive directors<sup>2</sup> of an NHS trust<sup>3</sup> are appointed for such period not exceeding four years as the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> may specify on making the appointment<sup>5</sup>.

The tenure of office of executive directors<sup>6</sup>, other than the chief officer and chief finance officer, is for such period as the relevant committee<sup>7</sup> may specify on making the appointment<sup>8</sup>, subject to the condition that an executive director who is not the chief officer or the chief finance officer, holds office for as long as he holds a post in the trust<sup>9</sup>. If the relevant committee is of the opinion that it is not in the interests of the NHS trust that an executive director of an NHS trust, other than the chief officer or chief finance officer, should continue to hold office as director, the relevant committee must forthwith terminate his tenure of office<sup>11</sup>. If an executive director is suspended from his post in the trust he must be suspended from performing his functions as director for the period of his suspension<sup>12</sup>.

159. Termination of office of chairman and non-executive directors.

The chairman or a non-executive director<sup>1</sup> of an NHS trust<sup>2</sup> may resign his office at any time during the period for which he was appointed by giving notice in writing<sup>3</sup> to the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>. Where during his period of directorship a non-executive director of a trust is appointed chairman of the trust, his tenure of office as non-executive director terminates when his appointment as chairman takes effect<sup>5</sup>. Where a person appointed as a non-executive director from a university<sup>6</sup> ceases to hold a post in the university in question the Secretary of State must terminate his appointment as non-executive director<sup>7</sup>.

If the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it is not in the interests of the health service<sup>8</sup> for a person appointed as a chairman or non-executive director of an NHS trust to continue to hold that office, the Secretary of State may forthwith terminate that person's tenure of office<sup>9</sup>. If a chairman or non-executive director of an NHS trust has not attended a meeting of the trust for a period of three months<sup>10</sup> the Secretary of State must forthwith terminate his tenure of office unless the Secretary of State is satisfied that<sup>11</sup> the absence was due to a reasonable cause<sup>12</sup>, and the chairman or non-executive director will be able to attend meetings of the trust within such period as the Secretary of State considers reasonable<sup>13</sup>. If it appears to the Secretary of State that the chairman or non-executive director of an NHS trust has failed to comply with the provisions relating to the disclosure of a pecuniary interest<sup>14</sup>, he may forthwith terminate that person's tenure of office<sup>15</sup>.

Where a person has been appointed the chairman or non-executive director of an NHS trust, if he becomes disqualified for appointment<sup>16</sup> the Secretary of State must forthwith notify him in writing of such disqualification<sup>17</sup>; or if it comes to the notice of the Secretary of State that at the time of that person's appointment he was so disqualified, he must forthwith declare that the person was not duly appointed and so notify him in writing<sup>18</sup>. Upon receipt of any such notification, the chairman or non-executive director's tenure of office, if any, is terminated and he must cease to act as chairman or non-executive director<sup>19</sup>.

Where a relevant local authority notifies the Secretary of State in writing that they no longer wish a relevant director<sup>20</sup> to continue as a director of the care trust the Secretary of State must forthwith terminate the tenure of office of that director<sup>21</sup>. If the chairman or a non-executive director of a care trust who is a member of a local authority<sup>22</sup> is suspended from being a member of that authority<sup>23</sup> he must be suspended from performing his functions as a member of the care trust for the period of the suspension<sup>24</sup>.

Subject to the provisions relating to disqualification for office<sup>25</sup>, the chairman or non-executive director of an NHS trust is, on the termination of the period of his tenure of office, eligible for reappointment<sup>26</sup>.

The Secretary of State may suspend an appointee<sup>27</sup> from performing the appointee's functions as chairman or director while the Secretary of State considers whether to remove<sup>28</sup> the person from office<sup>29</sup>, or the person is disqualified for appointment<sup>30</sup> or was so disqualified at the time of appointment<sup>31</sup>. A period of suspension must not exceed six months<sup>32</sup>, and the Secretary of State may at any time review a suspension and must review a suspension after three months if so requested in writing by the person who has been suspended<sup>33</sup>. In relation to any NHS trust in which the chairman of the trust is so suspended<sup>34</sup>, if a vice-chairman has been appointed<sup>35</sup> that appointment ceases to have effect from the time that the chairman is suspended<sup>36</sup>. The Secretary of State may, for the purpose of enabling the proceedings of the trust<sup>37</sup> to be conducted in the absence of the chairman, appoint a non-executive director of the trust to be vice-chairman<sup>38</sup>. Any person so appointed may at any time resign from the office of vice-chairman by giving notice in writing to the Secretary of State<sup>39</sup>. The Secretary of State may terminate a person's appointment as vice-chairman if the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it would be in the best interests of the trust for another non-executive director of the trust to be vice-chairman<sup>40</sup>.

163. Meetings and proceedings.

The meetings and proceedings of an NHS trust<sup>1</sup> must be conducted in accordance with the statutory rules as to meetings and proceedings of NHS trusts<sup>2</sup> and with standing orders made by the trust<sup>3</sup>. An NHS trust may make, vary and revoke standing orders relating to the quorum, proceedings and place of meetings of a committee or sub-committee<sup>4</sup> but, subject to any such standing orders<sup>5</sup>, the quorum, proceedings and place of meeting are such as the committee or sub-committee may determine<sup>6</sup>. The proceedings of an NHS trust are not invalidated by any vacancy in its membership or by any defect in a director's appointment<sup>7</sup>.

If a director of an NHS trust has any pecuniary interest, direct or indirect<sup>8</sup>, in any contract, proposed contract or other matter and is present at a meeting of the trust at which the contract or other matter is the subject of consideration, he must at the meeting and as soon as practicable after its commencement disclose the fact and must not take part in the consideration and discussion of the contract or other matter or vote on any question with respect to it<sup>9</sup>. An NHS trust may, by standing orders<sup>10</sup> provide for the exclusion of a director from a meeting of the trust while any contract, proposed contract, or other matter in which he has a pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, is under consideration<sup>11</sup>. These provisions<sup>12</sup> apply to a committee or sub-committee of an NHS trust as they apply to the trust and apply to any member of any such committee or sub-committee (whether or not he is also a director of the trust) as it applies to a director of the trust<sup>13</sup>. The Secretary of State<sup>14</sup> may, subject to such conditions as he may think fit to impose, remove any disability imposed by these provisions<sup>15</sup>, in any case in which it appears to him in the interests of the health service<sup>16</sup> that the disability should be removed<sup>17</sup>.

Where a director: (i) has an indirect pecuniary interest in a contract or other matter by reason only of a beneficial interest in securities of a company or other body (reg 20(7)(a)); and (ii) the total nominal value of those securities does not exceed £5,000 or one hundredth of the total nominal value of the issued share capital of the company or body, whichever is the less (reg 20(7)(b)); and (iii) if the share capital is of more than one class, the total nominal value of shares of any one class in which he has the beneficial interest does not exceed one hundredth of the total issued share capital of that class (reg 20(7)(c)), he is not prohibited from taking part in consideration or discussion of the contract or other matter or from voting on any question in respect to it without prejudice however to his duty to disclose his interest (reg 20(7)). ### 165. Transfer of property and liabilities to NHS trusts.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may by order<sup>2</sup> transfer, or provide for the transfer of, any of the property<sup>3</sup> and liabilities<sup>4</sup> of a strategic health authority<sup>5</sup>, a primary care trust<sup>6</sup>, a special health authority<sup>7</sup>, a local health board<sup>8</sup>, or the Secretary of State, to an NHS trust<sup>9</sup>, with effect from any date as may be specified in the order<sup>10</sup>. Such an order may create or impose such new rights or liabilities in respect of what is transferred or what is retained as appear to the Secretary of State to be necessary or expedient<sup>11</sup>. Where an order provides for the transfer of land<sup>12</sup> held on lease from a third party<sup>13</sup>, or of any other asset leased or hired from a third party or in which a third party has an interest<sup>14</sup>, the transfer is binding on the third party notwithstanding that, apart from this provision, it would have required his consent or concurrence<sup>15</sup>.

Any property and liabilities which belong to, or are used or managed by, a strategic health authority, special health authority or local health board or belong to a primary care trust<sup>16</sup>, and will be transferred to an NHS trust by or by virtue of an order<sup>17</sup>, must be identified by agreement between the strategic health authority, primary care trust, special health authority or local health board and the NHS trust or, in default of agreement, by direction of the Secretary of State<sup>18</sup>. Where, for the purpose of a transfer pursuant to an order, it becomes necessary to apportion any property or liabilities, the order may contain such provisions as appear to the Secretary of State to be appropriate for the purpose<sup>19</sup>. An order may include provision for matters to be settled by arbitration by a person determined in accordance with the order<sup>20</sup>. In the case of any transfer made by or pursuant to an order, a certificate issued by the Secretary of State that any property specified in the certificate or any such interest in or right over any such property as may be so specified, or any right or liability so specified, is vested in the NHS trust specified in the order is conclusive evidence of that fact for all purposes<sup>21</sup>.

1 As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. As to the territorial limit on the exercise of the functions of the Secretary of State see PARA 6.

2 The power to make such orders is not exercisable by statutory instrument (see the National Health Service Act 2006 s 272(2), (3)(e); and PARA 9) and such orders are not recorded in this work.

170. Externally financed development agreements.

The powers of an NHS trust<sup>1</sup> include power to enter into externally financed development agreements<sup>2</sup>. An agreement is an externally financed development agreement if it is certified as such in writing<sup>3</sup> by the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>. The Secretary of State may give such a certificate if: (1) in his opinion the purpose or main purpose of the agreement is the provision of facilities<sup>5</sup> or services in connection with the discharge by the NHS trust of any of its functions<sup>6</sup>; and (2) a person<sup>7</sup> proposes to make a loan to, or provide any other form of finance for, another party<sup>8</sup> in connection with the agreement<sup>9</sup>. If an NHS trust enters into an externally financed development agreement it may also, in connection with that agreement, enter into an agreement with a person who falls within head (2) above in relation to the externally financed development agreement<sup>10</sup>.

An NHS trust<sup>1</sup> may be authorised to purchase land<sup>2</sup> compulsorily for the purposes of its functions<sup>3</sup> by means of an order<sup>4</sup> made by the NHS trust and confirmed by the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup>. The Acquisition of Land Act 1981<sup>6</sup> applies to the compulsory purchase of land under these provisions<sup>7</sup>; but no order may be made by an NHS trust under that Act<sup>8</sup> with respect to any land unless the proposal to acquire the land compulsorily has been submitted to the Secretary of State in such form and together with such information as he may require<sup>9</sup>, and has been approved by him<sup>10</sup>.

The following may not become or continue as members of the board of governors: (1) a person who has been adjudged bankrupt or whose estate has been sequestrated and (in either case) has not been discharged<sup>8</sup>; (2) a person who has made a composition or arrangement with, or granted a trust deed for, his creditors and has not been discharged in respect of it<sup>9</sup>; (3) a person who within the preceding five years has been convicted in the British Islands<sup>10</sup> of any offence if a sentence of imprisonment (whether suspended or not) for a period of not less than three months (without the option of a fine) was imposed on him<sup>11</sup>. At least one member of the board must be appointed by one or more qualifying local authorities<sup>18</sup>. If any of the corporation's hospitals<sup>19</sup> includes a medical<sup>20</sup> or dental school provided by a university<sup>21</sup>, at least one member of the board must be appointed by that university<sup>22</sup>. An organisation specified in the constitution as a partnership organisation may appoint a member of the board<sup>23</sup>.

The corporation may pay travelling and other expenses to members of the board of governors at rates decided by the corporation<sup>27</sup>.

The constitution must: (a) provide for the chairman of the corporation or (in his absence) another person to preside at meetings of the board of governors<sup>28</sup>; (b) provide for meetings of the board of governors to be open to members of the public<sup>29</sup>, but may provide for members of the public to be excluded from a meeting for special reasons<sup>30</sup>; (c) make provision as to the conduct of elections for membership of the board<sup>31</sup>, the appointment of persons to membership<sup>32</sup>, the practice and procedure of the board<sup>33</sup>, and the removal of a member from office<sup>34</sup>. The regulator<sup>1</sup> may give an authorisation<sup>2</sup> to an NHS trust<sup>3</sup> which has applied<sup>4</sup> to become an NHS foundation trust<sup>5</sup>, or to a public benefit corporation<sup>6</sup>, if the regulator is satisfied as to the following matters<sup>7</sup>. The matters are that:

- 122 (1) the applicant's constitution<sup>8</sup> will be in accordance with the statutory requirements<sup>9</sup> and will otherwise be appropriate<sup>10</sup>;
- 123 (2) the applicant has taken steps to secure that (taken as a whole) the actual membership of any public constituency<sup>11</sup>, and (if there is one) of the patients' constituency<sup>12</sup>, will be representative of those eligible for such membership<sup>13</sup>;
- 124 (3) there will be a board of governors<sup>14</sup>, and a board of directors<sup>15</sup>, constituted in accordance with the constitution<sup>16</sup>;
- 125 (4) the steps necessary to prepare for NHS foundation trust status have been taken<sup>17</sup>;
- 126 (5) the applicant will be able to provide the goods and services<sup>18</sup> which the authorisation will require it to provide<sup>19</sup>; and
- 127 (6) any other requirements which the regulator considers appropriate are met<sup>20</sup>.

In deciding whether it is satisfied as to these matters, the regulator must consider (among other things), any report or recommendation in respect of the applicant made by the Commission for Healthcare Audit and Inspection<sup>21</sup>, and the financial position of the applicant<sup>22</sup>.

The regulator must not give an authorisation unless it is satisfied that the applicant has sought the views about the application of the following: (a) individuals who live in any area specified in the proposed constitution as the area for a public constituency<sup>23</sup>; (b) any local authority<sup>24</sup> that would be authorised by the proposed constitution to appoint a member of the board of governors<sup>25</sup>; (c) if the proposed constitution provides for a patients' constituency, individuals who would be able to apply to become members of that constituency<sup>26</sup>; (d) any prescribed persons<sup>27</sup>. If regulations make provision about consultation, the regulator may not give an authorisation unless it is satisfied that the applicant has complied with the regulations<sup>28</sup>.

The authorisation may be given on any terms the regulator considers appropriate<sup>29</sup>. An authorisation must require an NHS foundation trust to disclose such information to the regulator as the Secretary of State specifies<sup>30</sup>, and may require an NHS foundation trust to disclose other information to the regulator<sup>31</sup>. An authorisation may require an NHS foundation trust to allow the regulator to enter and inspect premises owned or controlled by the trust<sup>32</sup>; and may require an NHS foundation trust to pay a reasonable annual fee to the regulator<sup>33</sup>.

The regulator<sup>1</sup> may revise the code<sup>2</sup> for determining the limit on the total amount of the borrowing of any NHS foundation trust<sup>3</sup>. Before revising the code, the regulator must consult the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup>, each NHS foundation trust<sup>5</sup>, each NHS trust<sup>6</sup> intending to make an application to become an NHS foundation trust<sup>7</sup>, and such other persons<sup>8</sup> as the regulator considers appropriate<sup>9</sup>. ## 201. Public dividend capital.

Where an NHS trust<sup>1</sup> becomes an NHS foundation trust<sup>2</sup>, the amount which was the public dividend capital of the NHS trust immediately before the giving of the authorisation<sup>3</sup> (known as 'initial public dividend capital'), continues as public dividend capital of the NHS foundation trust held on the same conditions, but subject to the following provisions<sup>4</sup>. Any amount issued to an NHS foundation trust as public dividend capital<sup>5</sup> is, like initial public dividend capital, an asset of the Consolidated Fund<sup>6</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>7</sup> may, with the consent of the Treasury<sup>8</sup>, decide the terms on which any public dividend capital of an NHS foundation trust must be treated as having been issued<sup>9</sup>; but the dividend to be paid by the trust must be the same as that payable<sup>10</sup> by NHS trusts in England<sup>11</sup>. The limit must be reviewed annually by the regulator<sup>4</sup>.

The investment may include investment by forming, or participating in forming, bodies corporate<sup>6</sup>, and otherwise acquiring membership of bodies corporate<sup>7</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(3) HEALTH SERVICE BODIES/(vi) NHS Foundation Trusts/D. FINANCIAL MATTERS/203. Auditor.

203. Auditor.

A public benefit corporation<sup>1</sup> must have an auditor<sup>2</sup>. It is for the board of governors<sup>3</sup> to appoint or remove the auditor at a general meeting of the board<sup>4</sup>. The corporation must establish a committee of non-executive directors<sup>5</sup> as an audit committee to perform such monitoring, reviewing and other functions<sup>6</sup> as are appropriate<sup>7</sup>.

In auditing the accounts of any NHS foundation trust an auditor must by examination of the accounts and otherwise satisfy himself that: (1) they are prepared in accordance with directions<sup>8</sup> given by the regulator<sup>9</sup>; (2) they comply with the requirements of all other provisions contained in, or having effect under, any enactment which are applicable to them<sup>10</sup>; (3) proper practices have been observed in their compilation<sup>11</sup>; and (4) the trust has made proper arrangements for securing economy, efficiency and effectiveness in its use of resources<sup>12</sup>. An auditor of an NHS foundation trust has a right of access at all reasonable times to every document relating to the trust which appears to him necessary for the purposes of his functions<sup>13</sup>. The auditor may require a person holding or accountable for any such document to give him such information and explanation as he considers necessary for the purposes of his functions<sup>14</sup> and, if he considers it necessary, require the person to attend before him in person to give the information or explanation or to produce the document<sup>15</sup>. The auditor may also require any director or officer<sup>16</sup> of the trust to give him such information or explanation as he considers necessary for the purposes of his functions<sup>17</sup> and, if he considers it necessary, require the director or officer to attend before him in person to give the information or explanation<sup>18</sup>. The trust must provide the auditor with every facility and all information which he may reasonably require for the purposes of his functions<sup>19</sup>.

In auditing the accounts of an NHS foundation trust, the auditor must consider: (a) whether, in the public interest, he should make a report on any matter coming to his notice in the course of the audit, in order for it to be considered by the trust or brought to the attention of the public<sup>20</sup>; and (b) whether the public interest requires any such matter to be made the subject of an immediate report rather than of a report to be made at the conclusion of the audit<sup>21</sup>. Any such report must be sent by the auditor to the board of governors and board of directors of the trust and to the regulator at once if it is an immediate report<sup>22</sup>, otherwise not later than 14 days after conclusion of the audit<sup>23</sup>. The directors must take the report into consideration as soon as practicable after receiving it<sup>24</sup>.

When an auditor of an NHS foundation trust has concluded his audit of the trust's accounts, he must enter on the accounts a certificate that he has completed the audit in accordance with the statutory provisions<sup>25</sup>, and his opinion on the accounts<sup>26</sup>.

If the auditor of an NHS foundation trust has reason to believe that the trust or a director or officer of the trust: (i) is about to make, or has made, a decision which involves or would involve the incurring of expenditure which is unlawful<sup>27</sup>; or (ii) is about to take, or has taken, a course of action which, if pursued to its conclusion, would be unlawful and likely to cause a loss or deficiency<sup>28</sup>, he must refer the matter at once to the regulator<sup>29</sup>. Where a director or officer of an NHS foundation trust receives money or other property<sup>30</sup> on behalf of the trust<sup>31</sup>, or for which he ought to account to the trust<sup>32</sup>, the accounts of the director or officer must be audited by the auditor of the accounts of the trust<sup>33</sup>.

No information relating to an NHS foundation trust or other person<sup>34</sup> and obtained<sup>35</sup> by an auditor (or by a person acting on the auditor's behalf) may be disclosed except: (A) with the consent of the person to whom the information relates<sup>36</sup>; (B) for the purposes of any functions of an auditor of an NHS foundation trust<sup>37</sup>; (C) for the purposes of the functions of the regulator<sup>38</sup>; (D) for the purposes of the functions<sup>39</sup> of the Comptroller and Auditor General<sup>40</sup>; (E) for the purposes of the functions<sup>41</sup> of the Commission for Healthcare Audit and Inspection<sup>42</sup>; (F) for the purposes of any criminal proceedings<sup>43</sup>. A person who discloses information in contravention of this provision is guilty of an offence<sup>44</sup>.

E. FUNCTIONS

205. Authorised services.

An authorisation<sup>1</sup> must authorise the NHS foundation trust<sup>2</sup> to provide goods and services<sup>3</sup> for purposes related to the provision of health care<sup>4</sup>; but the authorisation must secure that the principal purpose of the NHS foundation trust is the provision of goods and services for the purposes of the health service in England<sup>5</sup>. The NHS foundation trust may also carry on other activities<sup>6</sup>, subject to any restrictions in the authorisation, for the purpose of making additional income available in order better to carry on its principal purpose<sup>7</sup>. The authorisation must authorise and may require the NHS foundation trust: (1) to carry out research in connection with the provision of health care<sup>8</sup>; (2) to make facilities<sup>9</sup> and staff available for the purposes of education, training or research carried on by others<sup>10</sup>; and, in deciding how to exercise such functions<sup>11</sup> in a case where any of the corporation's hospitals<sup>12</sup> includes a medical<sup>13</sup> or dental school provided by a university<sup>14</sup>, the regulator<sup>15</sup> must have regard to the need to establish and maintain appropriate arrangements within the university<sup>16</sup>.

The authorisation may require the provision, wholly or partly for the purposes of the health service in England, of goods and services by the NHS foundation trust<sup>17</sup>. Such a requirement may be framed by reference (among other things) to: (a) goods or services in general or of a particular description<sup>18</sup>; (b) goods or services required to meet the needs of health service bodies in general or those of a particular description<sup>19</sup>; (c) goods or services required to meet the needs of other persons<sup>20</sup> of a particular description<sup>21</sup>; (d) the volume of goods or services provided<sup>22</sup>; (e) the place where goods or services are provided<sup>23</sup>; (f) the period within which goods or services are provided<sup>24</sup>.

206. Private health care.

An authorisation<sup>1</sup> may restrict the provision, for purposes other than those of the health service in England<sup>2</sup>, of goods and services<sup>3</sup> by an NHS foundation trust<sup>4</sup>. The power must be exercised, in particular, with a view to securing that the proportion of the total income of an NHS foundation trust which was an NHS trust<sup>5</sup> in any financial year<sup>6</sup> derived from private charges<sup>7</sup> is not greater than the proportion of the total income of the NHS trust derived from such charges in the base financial year<sup>8</sup>.

According to the nature of its functions<sup>9</sup>, an NHS foundation trust may, in the case of patients being provided with goods and services for the purposes of the health service, make accommodation or further services available for patients who give undertakings (or for whom undertakings are given) to pay any charges imposed by the NHS foundation trust in respect of the accommodation or services<sup>10</sup>. An NHS foundation trust may exercise this power only to the extent that its exercise does not to any significant extent interfere with the performance by the NHS foundation trust of its functions<sup>11</sup>.

Where:

128 (1) an NHS foundation trust<sup>1</sup> contravenes or fails to comply with a notice given by the regulator<sup>2</sup>, or the trust's compliance with a notice<sup>3</sup> does not result in the implementation of a voluntary arrangement<sup>4</sup>; and

129 (2) the regulator considers that further exercise of any of the powers relating to such notices<sup>5</sup> would not be likely to secure the provision of the goods and services<sup>6</sup> which the authorisation<sup>7</sup> requires the trust to provide<sup>8</sup>, an order<sup>9</sup> may transfer, or provide for the transfer of<sup>10</sup>, any property or liabilities<sup>11</sup> of the trust to another NHS foundation trust<sup>12</sup>, a primary care trust<sup>13</sup>, an NHS trust<sup>14</sup>, or the Secretary of State<sup>15</sup>. An order may provide for the dissolution of the trust<sup>16</sup>. Before these powers are exercised, the regulator must consult specified persons about specified matters<sup>17</sup>.

Where the regulator refuses to give an authorisation to a public benefit corporation<sup>18</sup> the powers set out above are also exercisable<sup>19</sup>.

8 National Health Service Act 2006 s 54(1)(b).

9 Ie an order made by the Secretary of State: see the National Health Service Act 2006 s 55(1). The power conferred by s 54(4) must be exercised with a view to securing the provision of the goods and services which the authorisation requires the trust to provide (s 55(3)); and must also be exercised (together, if required, with the power conferred by s 40(2) (see PARA 199)) with a view to securing that any transfer of property in pursuance of the exercise of the power does not result in a net loss of value to the trust; and the question whether a transfer would result in a net loss of value must be determined in accordance with regulations (s 55(4)). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. As to the meaning of 'property' see PARA 4 note 9. As to orders and regulations see PARA 187. Orders relating to individual trusts are not recorded in this work.

An order may apply any provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt 4 (ss 73-219) (winding up of companies: see COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY vol 7(3) (2004 Reissue) PARA 433 et seq), including any related provision of that Act, with modifications: National Health Service Act 2006 s 54(8). National Health Service Act 2006 s 54(8) so as to alter the priority of debts or the ranking of debts between themselves: s 55(5).

10 An order may provide for the transfer of employees of an NHS foundation trust to a person mentioned in the National Health Service Act 2006 s 54(4): s 54(6), Sch 9 para 1. As to the transfer of such employees see Sch 9 paras 2-6. As to the meaning of 'person' see PARA 17 note 2.

11 The liabilities which may be transferred to any of the bodies mentioned in the National Health Service Act 2006 s 54(4)(a)-(c) (see the text to notes 12-14) include criminal liabilities: s 54(5). ## G. MERGERS

212. Application for merger.

An application may be made jointly by an NHS foundation trust<sup>1</sup>, and another NHS foundation trust or an NHS trust<sup>2</sup>, to the regulator<sup>3</sup> for authorisation of the dissolution of the trusts and the transfer of some or all of their property<sup>4</sup> and liabilities<sup>5</sup> to a new NHS foundation trust<sup>6</sup>. The applicants must consult about the application in accordance with regulations<sup>13</sup>. The applicants may modify the application with the agreement of the regulator at any time before authorisation is given<sup>14</sup>.

The regulator may issue a certificate incorporating the directors of the applicants as a public benefit corporation<sup>15</sup>, and give an authorisation to the corporation to become an NHS foundation trust<sup>16</sup>, if it is satisfied as to the following matters<sup>17</sup>. The matters are that: (a) the constitution of the new trust will be in accordance with the statutory provisions<sup>18</sup> and will otherwise be appropriate<sup>19</sup>; (b) the applicants have taken steps to secure that (taken as a whole) the actual membership of any public constituency, and (if there is one) of the patients' constituency, will be representative of those eligible for such membership<sup>20</sup>; (c) the new trust will be able to provide the goods and services which the authorisation will require it to provide<sup>21</sup>; and (d) any other requirements which the regulator considers appropriate are met<sup>22</sup>. On an authorisation being given, the proposed constitution of the NHS foundation trust has effect, but the directors of the applicants may exercise the functions<sup>23</sup> of the trust on its behalf until a board of directors<sup>24</sup> is appointed in accordance with the constitution<sup>25</sup>.

216. Tenure of office.

The term of office of the chairman and non-executive members of the Health Protection Agency<sup>1</sup> is such period, not exceeding five years, as is specified when the appointment is made by the Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> or, as the case may be, a devolved authority<sup>3</sup>. Subject to the provisions relating to disqualification for appointment<sup>4</sup>, the chairman and any non-executive member are, on the termination of that office, eligible for re-appointment<sup>5</sup>.

The chairman or a non-executive member may resign from that office at any time during the term of that office by giving notice in writing<sup>6</sup> to the Secretary of State<sup>7</sup>. Where the Secretary of State is of the opinion that it is not in the interests of, or conducive to the good management of, the Agency or of the health service<sup>8</sup> that the chairman or a non-executive member should continue to hold office, the Secretary of State may immediately terminate that person's tenure of office by giving that person notice in writing to that effect<sup>9</sup>. If the chairman or a non-executive member fails to attend any meeting of the Agency for a period of three months<sup>10</sup> the Secretary of State must immediately terminate that person's tenure of office unless satisfied that the absence was due to a reasonable cause<sup>11</sup> and the person in question will be able to attend meetings of the Agency within such a period as the Secretary of State considers reasonable<sup>12</sup>. Where a person has been appointed to be the chairman or a non-executive member, and: (1) he becomes disqualified for appointment<sup>13</sup>, he must notify the Secretary of State in writing of such disqualification<sup>14</sup>; or (2) it comes to the notice of the Secretary of State that at the time of his appointment or later he was so disqualified, the Secretary of State must immediately declare that the person in question was not duly appointed and notify him in writing to that effect<sup>15</sup>; and his tenure of office, if any, is terminated and he must cease to act as chairman or non-executive member<sup>16</sup>.

218. Remuneration and allowances.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may make payments to any person who is or has been chairman or a non-executive member of the Health Protection Agency<sup>2</sup> of such allowances<sup>3</sup>, gratuities<sup>4</sup> and compensation<sup>5</sup> as he thinks appropriate<sup>6</sup>. The Secretary of State may determine the amount of the remuneration the Agency is to pay the chairman and non-executive members of the Agency<sup>7</sup>; and he may determine the amount the Agency is to pay by way of a pension, allowance or gratuity to or in respect of the chairman or a non-executive member of the Agency<sup>8</sup>. Where a person ceases to be chairman or a non-executive member of the Agency and it appears to the Secretary of State that there are special circumstances which make it right for that person to receive compensation, the Secretary of State may decide that the Agency must make him a payment of such amount as the Secretary of State may determine<sup>9</sup>.

The Agency must determine the conditions of service of and the remuneration and allowances payable to the executive members (including the chief executive) of the Agency<sup>10</sup>. The chief executive or an executive member must not take part in a discussion or decision in pursuance of such determination which relates to his own conditions of service<sup>11</sup> or the remuneration and allowances payable to him<sup>12</sup>.

219. Staff.

The Health Protection Agency<sup>1</sup> must appoint a person to be its chief executive<sup>2</sup>. The Agency may appoint such staff and on such conditions of service as it thinks fit<sup>3</sup>. A period of secondment on the staff of the Agency does not affect the continuity of a person's employment with the employer from whose service he is seconded<sup>4</sup>. ## 220. Proceedings.

The Health Protection Agency<sup>1</sup> may appoint such committees and sub-committees as it thinks appropriate<sup>2</sup>, and may delegate to a committee or sub-committee such of its functions as it thinks fit<sup>3</sup>. A committee or sub-committee may include or consist of persons who are not members of the Agency<sup>4</sup>. The Agency may make arrangements for the payment of such remuneration and allowances as it thinks fit to any person who is a member of a committee or sub-committee (whether or not he is also a member of the Agency)<sup>5</sup>. These provisions are subject to anything contained in a direction given by the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup>.

The Agency may make such arrangements as it thinks fit with any other person<sup>7</sup> for the discharge by that person of such of the functions of the Agency as are specified in the arrangements<sup>8</sup>.

Subject to anything contained in a direction given by the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>, the Agency may make such provision as it thinks fit to regulate its own proceedings<sup>10</sup>. On any occasion when both the chairman and deputy chairman are, for any reason, unable to perform the duties of chairman, the other members of the Agency may appoint one of the non-executive members to act in place of the chairman<sup>11</sup>. The Public Bodies (Admission to Meetings) Act 1960 applies to the Agency<sup>12</sup>. The validity of any proceedings of the Agency is not affected by any defect in the appointment of the chairman or a member of the Agency<sup>13</sup>, or any vacancy in the office of chairman or in the membership of the Agency<sup>14</sup>.

The application of the Agency's seal is authenticated by the signature of the chairman or another member of the Agency<sup>15</sup>. A document purporting to be duly executed under the seal of the Agency or to be signed on behalf of the Agency must be received in evidence and (except to the extent that the contrary is shown) taken to be duly so executed or signed<sup>16</sup>.

The Agency may do anything which it thinks is appropriate for facilitating<sup>10</sup>, or incidental or conducive to<sup>11</sup>, the exercise of its functions<sup>12</sup>. This power includes power to acquire by agreement or dispose of land<sup>13</sup> and other property<sup>14</sup>; to form or participate in the formation of companies<sup>15</sup>; to enter into contracts<sup>16</sup>; to acquire, produce, manufacture and supply goods<sup>17</sup>; to develop and exploit ideas and exploit intellectual property<sup>18</sup>; and to provide accommodation<sup>19</sup>. The appropriate authority<sup>22</sup> may direct<sup>23</sup> the Agency to have regard, in exercising any of its functions, to such aspects of the policy of the authority as the authority directs<sup>24</sup>; and the Agency must comply with any such direction<sup>25</sup>.

If the appropriate authority thinks that the Agency is to a significant extent failing to discharge any of its functions<sup>26</sup>, or failing to discharge any of its functions properly<sup>27</sup>, it may (after relevant consultation<sup>28</sup>) give the Agency such a direction as it thinks appropriate for remedying that failure<sup>29</sup>. If the Agency fails to comply or unreasonably delays in complying with such a direction the appropriate authority may, instead of the Agency, take such action as it thinks appropriate to remedy the failure<sup>30</sup>.

The Agency is to be treated as having power to make payments to local authorities in respect of the performance of their functions<sup>31</sup>, to receive payments from such authorities in respect of the performance of its functions<sup>32</sup>, and to enter arrangements with such authorities as to the exercise of functions<sup>33</sup>.

In the exercise of its functions the Agency must co-operate with other bodies<sup>34</sup> which exercise functions relating to health or any other matter in relation to which the Agency also exercises functions<sup>35</sup>; and such a body must co-operate with the Agency in the exercise by the body of any such function it has<sup>36</sup>.

228. NHS contracts.

An 'NHS contract' is an arrangement under which one health service body<sup>1</sup> (known as the 'commissioner') arranges for the provision to it by another health service body (known as the 'provider') of goods<sup>2</sup> or services which it reasonably requires for the purposes of its functions<sup>3</sup>. Whether or not an arrangement which constitutes an NHS contract would otherwise<sup>4</sup> be a contract in law, it must not be regarded for any purpose as giving rise to contractual rights or liabilities<sup>5</sup>; but if any dispute arises with respect to such an arrangement, either party may refer the matter to the Secretary of State for determination<sup>6</sup>.

If, in the course of negotiations intending to lead to an arrangement which will be an NHS contract, it appears to a health service body: (1) that the terms proposed by another health service body are unfair by reason that the other is seeking to take advantage of its position as the only, or the only practicable, provider of the goods or services concerned or by reason of any other unequal bargaining position as between the prospective parties to the proposed arrangement<sup>7</sup>; or (2) that for any other reason arising out of the relative bargaining position of the prospective parties any of the terms of the proposed arrangement cannot be agreed<sup>8</sup>, that health service body may refer the terms of the proposed arrangement to the Secretary of State<sup>9</sup>.

1 'Health service body' means any of the following: (1) a strategic health authority; (2) a primary care trust; (3) an NHS trust; (4) a special health authority; (5) a local health board; (6) a health board constituted under the National Health Service (Scotland) Act 1978 s 2; (7) a health and social services board constituted under the Health and Personal Social Services (Northern Ireland) Order 1972, SI 1972/1265 (NI 14); (8) the Common Services Agency for the Scottish Health Service; (9) the Wales Centre for Health; (10) the Health Protection Agency; (11) the Commission for Healthcare Audit and Inspection; (12) the Scottish Dental Practice Board; (13) the Secretary of State; (14) the Welsh Ministers; (15) the Northern Ireland Central Services Agency for the Health and Social Services established under the Health and Personal Social Services (Northern Ireland) Order 1972, SI 1972/1265 (NI 14); (16) a special health and social services agency established under the Health and Personal Social Services (Special Agencies) (Northern Ireland) Order 1990, SI 1990/247 (NI 3); (17) a health and social services trust established under the Health and Personal Social Services (Northern Ireland) Order 1991, SI 1991/194 (NI 1); (18) the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety: National Health Service Act 2006 s 9(4). Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(4) LOCAL AUTHORITIES AND THE NHS/235. Care trusts.

235. Care trusts.

Where: (1) a primary care trust<sup>1</sup> or an NHS trust<sup>2</sup> is, or will be, a party to any existing or proposed LA delegation arrangements<sup>3</sup>; and (2) the Secretary of State<sup>4</sup> considers that designation of the body as a care trust would be likely to promote the effective exercise by the body of prescribed health-related functions<sup>5</sup> of a local authority<sup>6</sup> (in accordance with the arrangements) in conjunction with prescribed NHS functions<sup>7</sup> of the body<sup>8</sup>, the Secretary of State may designate the body as a care trust<sup>9</sup>. A primary care trust or NHS trust may, however, be designated only in pursuance of an application made to the Secretary of State jointly by each prescribed body<sup>10</sup>.

Where a body is designated as a care trust: (a) its designation may be revoked by the Secretary of State at any time of the Secretary of State's own motion<sup>11</sup>, and after such consultation as he considers appropriate<sup>12</sup>; (b) if an application for the revocation of its designation is made to the Secretary of State by one or more of the parties to the LA delegation arrangements, its designation must be revoked by the Secretary of State at the earliest time at which he considers it practicable to do so, having regard, in particular, to any steps that need to be taken in relation to those arrangements in connection with the revocation<sup>13</sup>. The power of the Secretary of State to dissolve a primary care trust or an NHS trust<sup>14</sup> includes power to dissolve such a primary care trust or NHS trust where he considers that it is appropriate to do so in connection with the designation of any other such body (whether existing or otherwise) as a care trust<sup>15</sup>.

The designation of a body as a care trust does not affect any of the functions, rights or liabilities of that body in its capacity as a primary care trust or NHS trust<sup>16</sup>.

2 As to NHS trusts see PARA 155.

3 National Health Service Act 2006 s 77(1)(a). A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> must prepare and publish<sup>2</sup> a medical performers list<sup>3</sup> and a dental performers list<sup>4</sup>. Performers lists<sup>5</sup> must be available for public inspection<sup>6</sup>.

Where a performer has been removed from its performers list<sup>13</sup> by a primary care trust on the grounds that he had been convicted of a criminal offence, and that conviction is overturned on appeal, it may agree to include him in its performers list without a full application if it is satisfied that there are no other matters that need to be considered<sup>14</sup>, and it has received an undertaking from him to comply with the statutory requirements<sup>15</sup>. In such a case, if the conviction is reinstated on a further appeal, the previous determination of the trust to remove that performer from its performers list once again has effect<sup>16</sup>.

249 Preparation and publication of performers lists

TEXT AND NOTES 1-4--A primary care trust must prepare and publish a medical performers list, a dental performers list and an ophthalmic performers list: see SI 2004/585 reg 3(1) (substituted by SI 2008/1187). As to ophthalmic performers lists, see PARAS 335A-335D.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(i) Medical Services/C. PERFORMANCE OF PRIMARY MEDICAL SERVICES/ (B) Preparation of Performers Lists/250. Decisions and grounds for refusal.

250. Decisions and grounds for refusal.

Before making a decision on the performer's application<sup>1</sup>, the primary care trust<sup>2</sup> must check, as far as reasonably practicable, the information he provided and ensure that it has sight of relevant documents<sup>3</sup>, check with the NHS Business Services Authority<sup>4</sup> whether he has any record of fraud<sup>5</sup>, check with the Secretary of State<sup>6</sup> as to any information held by him as to any record about past or current investigations or proceedings involving or related to that performer<sup>7</sup>, and take up the references that he provided<sup>8</sup>.

The grounds on which a primary care trust may refuse to include a performer in its performers list<sup>9</sup> are<sup>10</sup> that: (1) having considered the declaration required in the application, and any other information or documents in its possession relating to him, it considers that he is unsuitable to be included in its performers list<sup>11</sup>; (2) having contacted the referees provided by him, it is not satisfied with the references<sup>12</sup>; (3) having checked with the NHS Business Services Authority for any facts that it considers relevant relating to past or current fraud investigations involving or related to him, and, having considered these and any other facts in its possession relating to fraud involving or relating to him, the trust considers these justify such refusal<sup>13</sup>; (4) having checked with the Secretary of State for any facts that he considers relevant relating to past or current investigations or proceedings involving or related to the performer, and, having considered these and any other facts in its possession involving or relating to the performer, the trust considers these justify such refusal<sup>14</sup>; or (5) there are any grounds for considering that admitting him to its performers list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the services, which those included in that list perform<sup>15</sup>.

The grounds on which a primary care trust must refuse to include a performer in its performers list are<sup>16</sup> that: (a) he has not provided satisfactory evidence that he intends to perform the services, which those included in the relevant performers list perform, in its area<sup>17</sup>; (b) it is not satisfied he has the knowledge of English which, in his own interests or those of his patients<sup>18</sup>, is necessary in performing the services, which those included in the relevant performers list perform, in its area<sup>19</sup>; (c) he has been convicted in the United Kingdom<sup>20</sup> of murder<sup>21</sup>; (d) he has been convicted in the United Kingdom of a criminal offence, committed on or after the prescribed day<sup>22</sup>, and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment of over six months<sup>23</sup>; (e) he is subject to a national disqualification<sup>24</sup>; (f) he has not updated<sup>25</sup> his application<sup>26</sup>; or (g) in a case where a person's inclusion in a performers list is to be subject to conditions imposed on appeal<sup>27</sup>, he does not notify it that he wishes to be included in its performers list subject to the specified conditions<sup>28</sup>.

Where the primary care trust is considering a refusal of the performer's application<sup>29</sup> it must consider all facts which appear to it to be relevant<sup>30</sup>. When the primary care trust has decided whether or not to include a performer in its performers list, it must notify him within seven days of the decision of that decision<sup>31</sup>; and if it has decided not to include him, the reasons for that (including any facts relied upon) and of any right of appeal<sup>32</sup> against that decision<sup>33</sup>.

251. Deferment of decision on application.

A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> may defer a decision on a performer's<sup>2</sup> application to be included in a performers list<sup>3</sup>, where:

- 143 (1) there are, in respect of him: (a) criminal proceedings in the United Kingdom<sup>4</sup>; or (b) proceedings elsewhere in the world relating to conduct which, if it had occurred in the United Kingdom, would constitute a criminal offence<sup>5</sup>, which, if they resulted in a conviction, or the equivalent of a conviction, would be likely to lead to his removal from its performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>6</sup>;
- 144 (2) in respect of a body corporate of which he is, has in the preceding six months<sup>7</sup> been, or was at the time of the originating events a director<sup>8</sup> there are: (a) criminal proceedings in the United Kingdom<sup>9</sup>; or (b) proceedings elsewhere in the world relating to conduct, which, if it had occurred in the United Kingdom, would constitute a criminal offence<sup>10</sup>, which, if they resulted in a conviction, or the equivalent of a conviction, would be likely to lead to his removal from its performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>11</sup>;
- 145 (3) there is an investigation anywhere in the world by his licensing or regulatory body<sup>12</sup> or any other investigation (including one by another primary care trust or equivalent body<sup>13</sup>) relating to him in his professional capacity that, if adverse, would be likely to lead to his removal from its performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>14</sup>;
- 146 (4) he is suspended from any list or equivalent list<sup>15</sup>;
- 147 (5) a body corporate of which he is, has in the preceding six months been, or was at the time of the originating events a director, is suspended from any list or equivalent list<sup>16</sup>;
- 148 (6) the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>17</sup> is considering an appeal by him against a decision of a primary care trust to refuse to include him in its performers list, or to conditionally include him in or to contingently remove him from, or to remove him from any list kept by a primary care trust and if that appeal is unsuccessful the trust would be likely to remove him from its performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>18</sup>;
- 149 (7) the Family Health Services Appeal Authority is considering an appeal by a body corporate of which he is, has in the preceding six months been, or was at the time of the originating events a director, against a decision of a primary care trust or equivalent body to refuse to admit the body corporate to its list, or to conditionally include it in or to remove or contingently remove it from any list kept by a primary care trust or equivalent body, and if that appeal is unsuccessful the trust would be likely to remove him from its performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>19</sup>;
- 150 (8) he is being investigated by the NHS Business Services Authority<sup>20</sup> in relation to any fraud, where the result, if adverse, would be likely to lead to his removal from the trust's performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>21</sup>;
- 151 (9) a body corporate, of which he is, has in the preceding six months been, or was at the time of the originating events a director, is being investigated in relation to any fraud, where the result, if adverse, would be likely to lead to his removal from the trust's performers list, if he were to be included in it<sup>22</sup>; and

152 (10) the Family Health Services Appeal Authority is considering an application from a primary care trust for the national disqualification<sup>23</sup> of him or a body corporate of which he is, has in the preceding six months been, or was at the time of the originating events a director<sup>24</sup>.

The primary care trust may only defer a decision until the outcome of the relevant event mentioned in any of heads (1) to (10) above is known<sup>25</sup>. The primary care trust must notify the performer that it has deferred a decision on the application and the reasons for it<sup>26</sup>. Once the outcome of the relevant event is known, the primary care trust must notify the performer that he must within 28 days of the date of the notification (or such longer period as it may agree) update his application<sup>27</sup> and confirm in writing<sup>28</sup> that he wishes to proceed with his application<sup>29</sup>. Provided any additional information has been received within the 28 days or the time agreed, the primary care trust must notify the performer as soon as possible that his application to be included in its performers list has been successful<sup>30</sup>; or it has decided to refuse the application or impose conditions on his inclusion, the reasons for that (including any facts relied upon), and of any right<sup>31</sup> of appeal<sup>32</sup>.

UPDATE

253 Requirements with which a performer in a performers list must comply

NOTE 32--SI 2004/585 reg 9(5) amended: SI 2008/1187.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(i) Medical Services/C. PERFORMANCE OF PRIMARY MEDICAL SERVICES/ (B) Preparation of Performers Lists/254. Removal from performers list.

254. Removal from performers list.

The primary care trust<sup>1</sup> must remove the performer<sup>2</sup> from its performers list<sup>3</sup> where it becomes aware that he: (1) has been convicted in the United Kingdom of murder<sup>4</sup>; (2) has been convicted in the United Kingdom of a criminal offence<sup>5</sup> and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment of over six months<sup>6</sup>; (3) is subject to a national disqualification<sup>7</sup>; (4) has died<sup>8</sup>; or (5) is no longer a member of the relevant health care profession<sup>9</sup>.

Where a primary care trust is notified by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>10</sup> that it has considered an appeal<sup>11</sup> by a performer against: (a) a contingent removal by the trust and has decided to remove him instead<sup>12</sup>; or (b) a conditional inclusion, where he has been conditionally included in a performers list until the appeal has been decided, and has decided not to include him<sup>13</sup>, the trust must remove him from its performers list and notify him immediately that it has done so<sup>14</sup>.

The primary care trust may remove a performer from its performers list where any of the following conditions is satisfied<sup>15</sup>: (i) his continued inclusion in its performers list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the services which those included in the relevant performers list<sup>16</sup> perform (known as an 'efficiency case')<sup>17</sup>; (ii) he is involved in a fraud case<sup>18</sup> in relation to any health scheme<sup>19</sup>; or (iii) he is unsuitable to be included in that performers list (known as an 'unsuitability case')<sup>20</sup>. Where the performer cannot demonstrate that he has performed the services, which those included in the relevant performers list perform, within the area of the primary care trust during the preceding 12 months<sup>21</sup>, it may remove him from its performers list<sup>22</sup>.

Where a primary care trust is considering removing a performer from its performers list<sup>23</sup> or contingently removing a performer<sup>24</sup>, it must give him notice of any allegation against him<sup>25</sup>, of what action it is considering and on what grounds<sup>26</sup>; and the opportunity to make written representations to it<sup>27</sup> and to put his case at an oral hearing before it, if he so requests<sup>28</sup>. The primary care trust must notify the performer of its decision and the reasons for it (including any facts relied upon)<sup>29</sup>, and any right<sup>30</sup> of appeal<sup>31</sup>. The primary care trust must also notify the performer of his right<sup>32</sup> to have the decision reviewed<sup>33</sup>.

Where the primary care trust decides to remove a performer<sup>34</sup>, he must not be removed from its performers list, until a period of 28 days starting with the day on which it reaches its decision<sup>35</sup>, or any appeal is disposed of by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>36</sup>, whichever is the later<sup>37</sup>.

254 Removal from performers list

NOTE 18--National Health Service Act 1977 s 49H amended: Health Act 2006 Sch 8 para 19.

255. Contingent removal.

In an efficiency case or a fraud case<sup>1</sup> the primary care trust<sup>2</sup> may, instead of deciding to remove a performer<sup>3</sup> from its performers list<sup>4</sup>, decide to remove him contingently<sup>5</sup>. If it so decides, it must impose such conditions as it may decide on his inclusion in its performers list with a view to: (1) in an efficiency case, removing any prejudice to the efficiency of the services in question<sup>6</sup>; or (2) in a fraud case, preventing further acts or omissions<sup>7</sup>.

If the primary care trust determines that the performer has failed to comply with a condition, it may decide to: (a) vary the conditions imposed<sup>8</sup>; (b) impose new conditions<sup>9</sup>; or (c) remove him from its performers list<sup>10</sup>.

1 As to efficiency cases and fraud cases see PARA 254.

2 As to primary care trusts see PARA 111.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(i) Medical Services/C. PERFORMANCE OF PRIMARY MEDICAL SERVICES/ (B) Preparation of Performers Lists/256. Suspension.

256. Suspension.

If a primary care trust<sup>1</sup> is satisfied that it is necessary to do so for the protection of members of the public or is otherwise in the public interest, it may suspend<sup>2</sup> a performer<sup>3</sup> from its performers list<sup>4</sup>: (1) while it decides whether or not to exercise its powers to remove him<sup>5</sup> or contingently remove him<sup>6</sup>; (2) while it waits for a decision affecting him of a court anywhere in the world or of a licensing or regulatory body<sup>7</sup>; (3) where it has decided to remove him, but before that decision takes effect<sup>8</sup>; or (4) pending appeal<sup>9</sup>.

Where a primary care trust is considering suspending a performer or varying the period of suspension, it must give him notice of any allegation against him<sup>10</sup>, notice of what action it is considering and on what grounds<sup>11</sup>, and the opportunity to put his case at an oral hearing before it, on a specified day, provided that at least 24 hours notice of the hearing is given<sup>12</sup>. If the performer does not wish to have an oral hearing or does not attend the oral hearing, the primary care trust may suspend the performer with immediate effect<sup>13</sup>. If an oral hearing does take place, the primary care trust must take into account any representations made before it reaches its decision<sup>14</sup>; and the primary care trust may suspend the performer with immediate effect following the hearing<sup>15</sup>. The primary care trust must notify the performer of its decision and the reasons for it (including any facts relied upon) within seven days of making that decision<sup>16</sup>; and must notify the performer of any right<sup>17</sup> of review<sup>18</sup>.

The effect of a suspension is that, while a performer is suspended, he is to be treated as not being included in the primary care trust's performers list, even though his name appears in it<sup>19</sup>. The primary care trust may at any time revoke the suspension and notify the performer of its decision<sup>20</sup>. During a period of suspension payments may be made to or in respect of the performer in accordance with a determination by the Secretary of State<sup>21</sup>. If a performer is dissatisfied with a decision of a primary care trust: (a) to refuse to make a payment to or in respect of him pursuant to such a determination<sup>22</sup>; (b) to make a payment to or in respect of him pursuant to such a determination, but at a lower level than the level to which he considers to be correct<sup>23</sup>; or (c) in respect of recovery of what the primary care trust considers to be an overpayment<sup>24</sup>, he may ask the trust to review the original decision and, if he does so, it must reconsider that decision, and once it has done so, it must notify the performer in writing<sup>25</sup> of the decision that is the outcome of its reconsideration of its original decision and give him notice of the reasons for its reconsidered decision<sup>26</sup>. If the performer remains dissatisfied (whether on the same or different grounds), he may appeal to the Secretary of State<sup>27</sup>.

the primary care trust must specify a period, not exceeding six months, as the period of suspension: reg 13(2). The primary care trust may extend the period of suspension under reg 13(2) so long as the aggregate does not exceed six months: reg 13(8). The period of suspension under reg 13(1)(a) or (b) (see the text to note 7) may extend beyond six months if: (1) on the application of the primary care trust, the Family Health Services Appeal Authority so orders (reg 13(4)(a)); or (2) the primary care trust applied under head (1) before the expiry of the period of suspension, but the Family Health Services Appeal Authority has not made an order by the time it expires, in which case it continues until the authority makes an order (reg 13(4)(b)). If the Family Health Services Appeal Authority does so order, it must specify: (a) the date on which the period of suspension is to end (reg 13(5)(a)); (b) an event beyond which it is not to continue (reg 13(5)(b)); or (c) both a date on which it is to end and an event beyond which it is not to continue, in which case it ends on the earlier of that date or that event, as the case may be (reg 13(5)(c)). The Family Health Services Appeal Authority may, on the application of the primary care trust, make a further order (complying with reg 13(5)) at any time while the period of suspension pursuant to the earlier order is still continuing: reg 13(6). The primary care trust may impose a further period of suspension under reg 13(3), so long as the aggregate does not exceed six months: reg 13(8). See also note 6.

8 National Health Service (Performers Lists) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/585, reg 13(1)(c). ## 257. Reviews.

A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> may and, if requested in writing<sup>2</sup> to do so by the performer<sup>3</sup>, must review its decision to: (1) impose or vary conditions<sup>4</sup> in relation to the performer's inclusion in its performers list<sup>5</sup>; (2) impose or vary conditions<sup>6</sup> in relation to the performer's contingent removal from its performers list<sup>7</sup>; or (3) suspend him<sup>8</sup> from its performers list<sup>9</sup>.

If a primary care trust decides to review its decision to conditionally include, contingently remove or suspend a performer, it must give him notice of any allegation against him<sup>10</sup>, notice of what action it is considering and on what grounds<sup>11</sup>, the opportunity to make written representations to it<sup>12</sup>, and the opportunity to put his case at an oral hearing before it<sup>13</sup>. If there are no representations<sup>14</sup>, the primary care trust must notify the performer of its decision, the reasons for it (including any facts relied upon) and of any right<sup>15</sup> of appeal<sup>16</sup>. If there are representations, the primary care trust must take them into account before reaching its decision<sup>17</sup>.

If a primary care trust decides to review its decision to impose conditions in relation to the performer's inclusion in its performers list, it may vary the conditions, impose different conditions, remove the conditions or remove the performer from its performers list<sup>18</sup>. If a primary care trust decides to review its decision to impose a contingent removal, it may vary the conditions, impose different conditions, or remove the performer from its performers list<sup>19</sup>. If a primary care trust decides to review its decision to suspend a performer, it may decide to impose conditions or remove him from its performers list<sup>20</sup>.

258. Appeals.

A performer<sup>1</sup> may appeal (by way of redetermination) to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>2</sup> against the following decisions of a primary care trust<sup>3</sup> by giving notice to the authority<sup>4</sup>. The primary care trust decisions in question are decisions:

- 166 (1) to refuse<sup>5</sup> admission to its performers list<sup>6</sup>;
- 167 (2) to impose a particular condition on a performer's inclusion in its performers list<sup>7</sup>, or to vary any such condition or to impose a different condition<sup>8</sup>;
- 168 (3) on a review<sup>9</sup> of a conditional inclusion<sup>10</sup> in its performers list<sup>11</sup>;
- 169 (4) to remove the performer<sup>12</sup> from its performers list<sup>13</sup>;
- 170 (5) to impose a particular condition in relation to the performer's contingent removal from its performers list<sup>14</sup>, or to vary any such condition or to impose a different such condition<sup>15</sup>;
- 171 (6) on a review<sup>16</sup> of a contingent removal<sup>17</sup>; and
- 172 (7) which is prescribed<sup>18</sup> that the performer may appeal to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>19</sup>.

On appeal the Family Health Services Appeal Authority may make any decision which the primary care trust could have made<sup>20</sup>. Where the decision of the authority on appeal is that the appellant's inclusion in a performers list is to be subject to conditions, whether or not those conditions are identical with the conditions imposed by the primary care trust, the trust must ask him to notify it within 28 days of the decision (or such longer period as the trust may agree) whether he wishes to be included in its performers list subject to those conditions<sup>21</sup>. If the performer notifies the primary care trust that he does wish to be included in its performers list subject to the conditions, it must so include him<sup>22</sup>.

Where the Family Health Services Appeal Authority on appeal decides to impose a contingent removal the primary care trust and the performer may each apply to the authority for the conditions imposed on the performer to be varied, for different conditions to be imposed, or for the contingent removal to be revoked<sup>23</sup>; and the primary care trust may remove the performer from its performers list if it determines that he has failed to comply with any such condition<sup>24</sup>.

261. National disqualification.

If a performer<sup>1</sup> appeals to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>2</sup> and the authority decides to remove the appellant from a performers list<sup>3</sup>, or to refuse to admit him to a performers list<sup>4</sup>, the authority may also impose a national disqualification<sup>5</sup> on that performer<sup>6</sup>. A primary care trust which has removed a performer from its performers list<sup>7</sup>, or refused to include him in its performers list<sup>8</sup>, may apply to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority for a national disqualification to be imposed on him<sup>9</sup>.

If the Family Health Services Appeal Authority imposes a national disqualification on a person no primary care trust may include him in any list from which he has been so disqualified<sup>10</sup>; and if he is included in any such list, a primary care trust must remove him from that list forthwith<sup>11</sup>. The Family Health Services Appeal Authority may, at the request of a person upon whom it has imposed a national disqualification, review that disqualification<sup>12</sup>; and on such a review, the authority may confirm or revoke that disqualification<sup>13</sup>.

The period for review is the different period specified in heads (a) to (d), instead of that in reg 18A(8), where the circumstances are that:

- 26 (a) on making a decision to impose a national disqualification, the Family Health Services Appeal Authority states that it is of the opinion that the criminal or professional conduct of the performer is such that there is no realistic prospect of a further review being successful, if held within the period specified in reg 18A(8)(a), in which case the reference to 'two years' in that provision is a reference to five years (reg 19(a) (as amended: see note 3));
- 27 (b) on the last review by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority of a national disqualification the performer was unsuccessful and the authority states that it is of the opinion that there is no realistic prospect of a further review being successful if held within a period of three years beginning with the date of its decision on that review, in which case the reference to 'one year' in reg 18A(8)(b) is a reference to three years (reg 19(b) (as so amended));
- 28 (c) the Family Health Services Appeal Authority states that it is of the opinion that, because a criminal conviction considered by the authority in reaching the decision that has effect has been quashed or the penalty reduced on appeal, there is a need for an immediate review, in which case the reference to 'two years' or 'one year' in reg 18A(8) is a reference to the period that has already elapsed (reg 19(c) (as so amended)); or
- 29 (d) the Family Health Services Appeal Authority is of the opinion that because the decision of a licensing, regulatory or other body has been quashed or the penalty reduced on appeal, there is a need for an immediate review, in which case the reference to 'two years' or 'one year' in reg 18A(8) is a reference to the period that has already elapsed (reg 19(d) (as so amended)). ## (C) MEDICAL PERFORMERS LISTS

263. Medical performers list.

A medical practitioner<sup>1</sup> may not perform any primary medical services<sup>2</sup>, unless he is a general medical practitioner<sup>3</sup> and his name is included in a medical performers list<sup>4</sup>. However, a medical practitioner who is provisionally registered<sup>5</sup> may perform primary medical services when his name is not included in a medical performers list, but only whilst acting in the course of his employment in a resident medical capacity in an approved medical practice<sup>6</sup>; and a GP registrar, who has applied<sup>7</sup> to a primary care trust<sup>8</sup> to have his name included in its medical performers list, may perform primary medical services despite not being included in that list, until the first of the following events arises, either the trust notifies him of its decision on that application<sup>9</sup>, or the end of a period of two months<sup>10</sup> starting with the date on which his vocational training scheme begins<sup>11</sup>.

Certain medical practitioners<sup>12</sup> may perform primary medical services in the area of a primary care trust, but only in so far as the performance of those services constitutes part of a programme of post-registration supervised clinical practice (known as a 'post-registration programme') approved by the Postgraduate Medical Education and Training Board<sup>13</sup>.

In addition to the information and undertakings required<sup>14</sup> by the general provisions relating to applications for inclusion in a performers list, the general medical practitioner, when making an application for the inclusion of his name in a medical performers list, must give the prescribed further information<sup>15</sup>. In respect of any medical practitioner, whose name is included in a medical performers list, the list must include the prescribed particulars<sup>16</sup>.

2 As to primary medical services see PARA 241.

265. Grounds for removal from a medical performers list.

In addition to the grounds<sup>1</sup> on which a primary care trust<sup>2</sup> must remove a performer<sup>3</sup> from a performers list<sup>4</sup>, the trust must remove a medical practitioner<sup>5</sup> from its medical performers list<sup>6</sup> where it becomes aware that he is: (1) the subject of a direction given<sup>7</sup> by the professional conduct committee of the General Medical Council in respect of professional misconduct or criminal offences<sup>8</sup>; (2) the subject of an order or direction made<sup>9</sup> by that committee for immediate suspension<sup>10</sup>; (3) after 1 November 2004<sup>11</sup>, the subject of a direction<sup>12</sup> by a fitness to practise panel for erasure or immediate suspension<sup>13</sup>; (4) after 1 November 2004<sup>14</sup>, the subject of a direction<sup>15</sup> by a fitness to practise panel suspending him<sup>16</sup>; (5) included in the medical performers list of another primary care trust<sup>17</sup>; or (6) if a GP registrar<sup>18</sup>, in breach of the undertaking provided<sup>19</sup> in his application for inclusion in the list and has failed to withdraw from the list after the primary care trust has given him 28 days' notice requesting him to do so<sup>20</sup>.

In relation to the power of the primary care trust to remove a performer from a performers list by reason of his not having performed services during the preceding 12 months, the trust must, in calculating the period of 12 months<sup>21</sup>, disregard any period during which the medical practitioner's registration or his entitlement to practise as such was suspended: (a) before 1 November 2004<sup>22</sup>, by a committee<sup>23</sup> of the General Medical Council<sup>24</sup>; (b) after that date, by<sup>25</sup> a fitness to practise panel<sup>26</sup>; or (c) after that date, in a health case<sup>27</sup>.

273-276 Sale of medical practices ... Offence

The functions under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 259, Sch 21 are, so far as exercisable in relation to Wales, transferred to the Welsh Ministers: Welsh Ministers (Transfer of Functions) Order 2008, SI 2008/1786, art 2(b).

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(i) Medical Services/G. PROHIBITION ON SALE OF MEDICAL PRACTICES/274. Transactions deemed to be sale of goodwill.

274. Transactions deemed to be sale of goodwill.

The following provisions apply for the purposes<sup>1</sup> of the provisions on the prohibition of the sale of medical practices<sup>2</sup>.

A disposal<sup>3</sup> of premises previously used for the purposes of a medical practice is deemed to be a sale of the goodwill<sup>4</sup> of a medical practice if the person disposing of the premises did so knowing that another person intended to use them for the purposes of that other person's medical practice<sup>5</sup>, and the consideration for the disposal substantially<sup>6</sup> exceeded the consideration that might reasonably have been expected if the premises had not previously been used for the purposes of a medical practice<sup>7</sup>. If a person disposes of any premises together with any other property, the court must<sup>8</sup> make such apportionment of the consideration as it considers just<sup>9</sup>.

Where in pursuance of any partnership agreement: (1) any valuable consideration, other than the performance of services in the partnership business, is given by a partner or proposed partner as consideration for his being taken into partnership<sup>10</sup>; (2) any valuable consideration is given to a partner, on or in contemplation of his retirement or of his acceptance of a reduced share of the partnership profits, or to the personal representative of a partner on his death, not being a payment in respect of that partner's share in past earnings of the partnership or in any partnership assets or any other payment required to be made to him as the result of the final settlement of accounts, as between him and the other partners, in respect of past transactions of the partnership<sup>11</sup>; or (3) services are performed by any partner for a consideration substantially less than those services might reasonably have been expected to be worth having regard to the circumstances at the time when the agreement was made<sup>12</sup>, there is deemed to have been a sale of goodwill<sup>13</sup>. The sale of goodwill is the sale of the goodwill of the practice of any partner to whom, or to whose personal representative, the consideration (or any part of it) is given or for whose benefit the services are performed<sup>14</sup>, to the partner or each of the partners by or on whose behalf the consideration (or any part of it) was given or to the partner who performed the services<sup>15</sup>.

If a person (known as the 'assistant'): (a) performs services on behalf of a person who carries on a medical practice (or as an employee of a person employing a practitioner who carries on a medical practice)<sup>16</sup>; (b) receives substantially less remuneration for performing those services than might reasonably have been expected, having regard to the circumstances at the time when the remuneration was fixed<sup>17</sup>; and (c) subsequently succeeds, whether as a result of a partnership agreement or otherwise, to that practice<sup>18</sup>, a sale of the goodwill of the practice is deemed to have taken place (at the time when the remuneration was fixed) unless it is proved that the remuneration was not fixed in contemplation of the assistant's succeeding to the practice<sup>19</sup>.

The goodwill of a medical practice is deemed to have been sold if<sup>20</sup>: (i) a person carrying on the practice (or employing a practitioner who carries on a medical practice) agrees, for valuable consideration to do or refrain from doing any act for the purpose of facilitating the succession of another to the practice<sup>21</sup>, or to allow any act to be done for that purpose<sup>22</sup>; (ii) a person gives valuable consideration to a person carrying on the practice (or employing a practitioner who carries on a medical practice)<sup>23</sup>, and succeeds, or has previously succeeded, to the practice<sup>24</sup>.

276. Offence.

Any person<sup>1</sup> who sells or buys the goodwill<sup>2</sup> of a medical practice<sup>3</sup> which it is unlawful to sell<sup>4</sup> is guilty of an offence<sup>5</sup>.

Any person proposing to be a party to a transaction or series of transactions<sup>6</sup> which he considers might amount to a sale of the goodwill of a medical practice in contravention of the prohibition on such sales<sup>7</sup> may ask the Secretary of State<sup>8</sup> for a certificate<sup>9</sup>. The Secretary of State must consider any such application<sup>10</sup>, and, if he is satisfied that the transaction or series of transactions does not involve the giving of valuable consideration in respect of the goodwill of such a medical practice, issue to the applicant a certificate to that effect<sup>11</sup>.

Where any person is charged with an offence in respect of any transaction or series of transactions, it is a defence to prove that the transaction or series of transactions was certified<sup>12</sup> by the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup>. Any document purporting to be such a certificate is admissible in evidence and is deemed to be such a certificate unless the contrary is proved<sup>14</sup>. The court may disregard such a certificate if it appears to the court that the applicant for the certificate failed to disclose to the Secretary of State all the material circumstances<sup>15</sup>, or made any misrepresentation with respect to the material circumstances<sup>16</sup>.

A prosecution for an offence under these provisions may be instituted only by or with the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions<sup>17</sup>, and the Secretary of State must, at the request of the Director, furnish him with a copy of any certificate issued<sup>18</sup> by the Secretary of State<sup>19</sup>, and copies of any documents produced to him in connection with the application for that certificate<sup>20</sup>.

284. Dental performers list.

A dentist<sup>1</sup> may not perform any primary dental services<sup>2</sup>, unless he is a dentist whose name is included in a dental performers list<sup>3</sup>. However, this prohibition does not apply to a dentist who is undertaking vocational training<sup>4</sup>, during the first two months<sup>5</sup> of that training<sup>6</sup>.

In addition to the information and undertakings required by the general provisions relating to applications for inclusion in a performers list<sup>7</sup>, the dentist, when making an application for the inclusion of his name in a dental performers list, must give the prescribed further information<sup>8</sup>.

In respect of any dentist whose name is included in a dental performers list, the list must include the prescribed particulars<sup>9</sup>.

1 'Dentist' means a dental practitioner who is registered in the dentists register: National Health Service (Performers Lists) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/585, reg 28(2) (regs 28-30 added by SI 2005/3491). ## D. OTHER ARRANGEMENTS FOR PRIMARY DENTAL SERVICES

288. Arrangements by strategic health authorities.

A strategic health authority<sup>1</sup> may make one or more agreements<sup>2</sup> with respect to its area under which primary dental services<sup>3</sup> are provided (otherwise than by the strategic health authority)<sup>4</sup>. An agreement may not combine arrangements for the provision of primary dental services with arrangements for the provision of primary medical services<sup>5</sup>, or with arrangements for the provision of local pharmaceutical services<sup>6</sup>. However, an agreement may include arrangements for the provision of services which are not primary dental services but which may be provided under<sup>7</sup> the National Health Service Act 2006<sup>8</sup>.

A strategic health authority may make an agreement only with one or more of the following: (1) an NHS trust or an NHS foundation trust<sup>9</sup>; (2) a dental practitioner<sup>10</sup> who meets the prescribed conditions<sup>11</sup>; (3) a health care professional<sup>12</sup> who meets the prescribed conditions<sup>13</sup>; (4) an individual who is providing services: (a) under a general medical services contract<sup>14</sup> or a general dental services contract<sup>15</sup> or a Welsh general medical services contract<sup>16</sup> or a Welsh general dental services contract<sup>17</sup>; (b) in accordance with similar arrangements<sup>18</sup>; or (c) certain services<sup>19</sup> in Scotland or Northern Ireland<sup>20</sup>, or has so provided them within such period as may be prescribed<sup>21</sup>; (5) an NHS employee<sup>22</sup>, or other employees under arrangements for the provision of services<sup>23</sup>; (6) a qualifying body<sup>24</sup>; (7) a primary care trust or local health board<sup>25</sup>.

<sup>2</sup> An agreement must be in accordance with regulations under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 109 (see PARA 289): s 107(2). Regulations may provide: (1) for functions which are exercisable by a strategic health authority in relation to an agreement to be exercisable on behalf of the authority by a health board (s 107(7) (a)); and (2) for functions which are exercisable by a health board in relation to an agreement made under the National Health Service (Scotland) Act 1978 s 17C to be exercisable on behalf of the board by a strategic health authority (National Health Service Act 2006 s 107(7)(b)). #### A. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977

(A) GENERAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES

295. Arrangements for general ophthalmic services.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

It is the duty of every primary care trust<sup>2</sup>, in accordance with regulations<sup>3</sup>, to arrange as respects its area with medical practitioners<sup>4</sup> having the prescribed qualifications<sup>5</sup>, and ophthalmic opticians<sup>6</sup> for securing the testing by them of the sight<sup>7</sup>: (1) of a child<sup>8</sup>; (2) of a person whose resources fall to be treated under the regulations as being less than his requirements or as being equal to his requirements<sup>9</sup>; or of a person of such other description as may be prescribed<sup>10</sup>. Regulations must define the services for the provision of which such arrangements are to be made and the services so defined are known as 'general ophthalmic services'<sup>11</sup>. It is also the duty of each primary care trust, in accordance with regulations to administer the arrangements made for the provision of general ophthalmic services for its area, and to perform such management and other functions relating to those services as may be prescribed<sup>12</sup>.

The general ophthalmic services<sup>13</sup> which a contractor must provide are: (a) to test the sight of a patient<sup>14</sup> to determine whether the patient needs to wear or use an optical appliance<sup>15</sup>; (b) where a patient whose sight he has tested shows on examination signs of injury, disease or abnormality in the eye or elsewhere which may require medical treatment<sup>16</sup>, or is not likely to attain a satisfactory standard of vision notwithstanding the application of corrective lenses<sup>17</sup>, if appropriate, and with the consent of the patient, to refer the patient to an ophthalmic hospital<sup>18</sup>, inform the patient's doctor<sup>19</sup> or GP practice that he has done so, and give the patient a written statement that he has done so, with details of the referral<sup>20</sup>; (c) where he tests the sight of a patient diagnosed as suffering from diabetes or glaucoma, to inform the patient's doctor of the results of the test<sup>21</sup>.

GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/298. Appeals from ophthalmic qualifications committee.

298. Appeals from ophthalmic qualifications committee.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

Any person dissatisfied with the determination of the ophthalmic qualifications committee<sup>2</sup> that he is not qualified as an ophthalmic medical practitioner<sup>3</sup> may, within one month<sup>4</sup> from the date upon which he received notice of that determination, or such longer period as the Secretary of State<sup>5</sup> may at any time allow, appeal against the determination by sending to the Secretary of State a notice of appeal stating the facts and contentions upon which he relies<sup>6</sup>.

The Secretary of State must: (1) appoint to determine the appeal an appeal committee of five persons of whom at least three must be appointed after consultation with such bodies or organisations representing doctors<sup>7</sup> as appear to him to be concerned<sup>8</sup>; (2) refer the appeal to that appeal committee<sup>9</sup>; (3) send a copy of the notice of appeal to the ophthalmic qualifications committee and to such other persons<sup>10</sup> as may appear to him to be interested in the appeal<sup>11</sup>; and (4) inform the appellant, the ophthalmic qualifications committee and any such other persons that the appeal has been referred to an appeal committee, and of the address to which communications to the appeal committee must be sent<sup>12</sup>.

The appeal committee may, and if requested to do so by the appellant or the ophthalmic qualifications committee must, hold a hearing in connection with the appeal at such time and place as it may direct<sup>13</sup>. Either the appellant or the ophthalmic qualifications committee may, within one month of being informed that the appeal has been referred to an appeal committee, or of being informed that a hearing of the appeal would be held, give notice of a wish to appear before the appeal committee<sup>14</sup>. The ophthalmic qualifications committee is entitled to appear by a member or by a clerk or other officer duly appointed for the purpose; the appellant is entitled to appear in person, by any member of his family, by any friend, or any officer or member of any organisation of which he is a member; and any party to an appeal is entitled to appear and be heard by counsel or solicitor<sup>15</sup>. Subject to the above provisions<sup>16</sup>, the procedure of the appeal committee in determining the appeal is such as it thinks proper<sup>17</sup>.

An appeal committee has all the powers of the ophthalmic qualifications committee, including in particular the power of approval, and if satisfied that an appellant possesses the prescribed qualifications<sup>18</sup>, it must so determine and accordingly he is an ophthalmic medical practitioner<sup>19</sup>. The appeal committee must, as soon as practicable, notify its determination to the appellant, the ophthalmic qualifications committee, the Secretary of State and any other person to whom the Secretary of State has sent notice of the appeal<sup>20</sup>.

300. Application for inclusion in ophthalmic list and notification.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

An ophthalmic medical practitioner<sup>2</sup> or optician<sup>3</sup> who wishes to be included in the ophthalmic list<sup>4</sup> of a primary care trust<sup>5</sup> or local health board<sup>6</sup> must send to that trust or board an application to that effect which must indicate whether the applicant is an ophthalmic medical practitioner, a registered ophthalmic optician<sup>7</sup> or a corporate optician<sup>8</sup> carrying on business as ophthalmic opticians<sup>9</sup>. Before making a decision on the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician's application, the trust or local health board must: (1) check, as far as reasonably practicable, the information he provided and ensure that it has sight of relevant documents<sup>10</sup>; (2) check with the NHS Business Services Authority<sup>11</sup> whether the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician has any record of fraud<sup>12</sup>; (3) check with the Secretary of State<sup>13</sup> as to any information held by him as to any record about past or current investigations or proceedings involving or related to the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician<sup>14</sup>; and (4) take up the references provided by the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician<sup>15</sup>.

When the primary care trust or local health board has decided whether or not to include the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician in its list, it must notify him<sup>16</sup> of that decision<sup>17</sup>; and if it has decided not to include him in the list, must notify him also of the reasons for the decision (including any facts relied upon) and of any right of appeal<sup>18</sup> against that decision<sup>19</sup>. A trust or local health board may defer consideration of a decision on an application by an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician to be included in the ophthalmic list on certain grounds<sup>20</sup>.

A contractor<sup>21</sup> must, within 14 days of any change or addition affecting the entries which the ophthalmic list is required to contain in relation to him, notify the primary care trust or local health board accordingly<sup>22</sup>.

295-313 Arrangements for general ophthalmic services ... National disqualification

SI 1986/975 (as amended) revoked in relation to England: SI 2008/1700.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(iii) Ophthalmic Services/A. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/301. Grounds for refusal.

301. Grounds for refusal.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

The grounds on which a primary care trust<sup>2</sup> or local health board<sup>3</sup> may refuse to include<sup>4</sup> an ophthalmic medical practitioner<sup>5</sup> or optician<sup>6</sup> in its ophthalmic list<sup>7</sup> are: (1) that the trust or board has considered the information provided in the application<sup>8</sup> and any other information in its possession in relation to the application and considers he is unsuitable to be included in the list<sup>9</sup>; (2) that having checked the information provided by the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician, the trust or board is not satisfied with the information<sup>10</sup>; (3) that having contacted the referees nominated by the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician, the trust or board is not satisfied with the references given<sup>11</sup>; (4) that, having checked with the NHS Business Services Authority<sup>12</sup> for any facts that it considers relevant relating to past or current fraud investigations involving or related to the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician and, having considered these and any other facts in its possession relating to fraud involving or relating to him, the trust or board considers these justify such refusal<sup>13</sup>; (5) that there are any grounds for the trust or board to consider that admitting the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician to the list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the service which he would undertake<sup>14</sup>; or (6) that, having checked with the Secretary of State<sup>15</sup> for any facts that he considers relevant relating to past or current investigations or proceedings involving or related to the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician and, having considered these and any other facts in its possession involving or relating to him, the trust or board considers these justify such refusal<sup>16</sup>. Where the trust or board is considering refusal of an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician under any of these heads, it must consider all facts which appear to it to be relevant<sup>17</sup>.

The grounds on which a primary care trust or local health board must refuse to include an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician are<sup>18</sup>: (a) where he has been convicted in the United Kingdom of murder<sup>19</sup>; (b) where, after 13 December 2001, he has been convicted in the United Kingdom of a criminal offence and sentenced to a term of imprisonment of over six months<sup>20</sup>; (c) where he is the subject of a national disqualification<sup>21</sup>; (d) where he has not updated his application as required<sup>22</sup>; (e) where he does not notify the trust or board that he wishes to be included in the list subject to the specified conditions<sup>23</sup>; (f) where he has not provided satisfactory evidence that he intends to provide general ophthalmic services<sup>24</sup> in its locality<sup>25</sup>; (g) except in the case of a corporate optician<sup>26</sup>, where it is not satisfied that he has the knowledge of English which, in his own interests or those of his patients<sup>27</sup>, is necessary for the provision of general ophthalmic services in its locality<sup>28</sup>; or (h) where he has had his name included in the supplementary list<sup>29</sup>.

GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/303. Regulations about conditional inclusion in ophthalmic list.

303. Regulations about conditional inclusion in ophthalmic list.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

The Secretary of State<sup>2</sup> may by regulations<sup>3</sup> provide: (1) that if a person<sup>4</sup> is to be included in a list of persons undertaking to provide general ophthalmic services<sup>5</sup>, he is to be subject, while he remains included in the list, to conditions determined by the primary care trust<sup>6</sup> in whose list he is included<sup>7</sup>; (2) for the primary care trust to vary that person's terms of service for the purpose of or in connection with the imposition of any such conditions<sup>8</sup>; (3) for the primary care trust to vary the conditions or impose different ones<sup>9</sup>; (4) for the consequences of failing to comply with a condition (including removal from the list)<sup>10</sup>; and (5) for the review by the primary care trust of any decision made by virtue of the regulations<sup>11</sup>. The imposition of conditions must be with a view to preventing any prejudice to the efficiency of the services in question<sup>12</sup>, or preventing any fraudulent acts or omissions<sup>13</sup>.

If regulations provide for a practitioner's removal from the list for breach of condition: (a) the regulations may provide that he may not withdraw from the list while the primary care trust is investigating whether there are grounds for exercising its power to remove him, or after the primary care trust has decided to remove him but before it has given effect to that decision<sup>14</sup>; and (b) the regulations must include provision: (i) requiring the practitioner to be given notice of any allegation against him<sup>15</sup>; (ii) giving him the opportunity of putting his case at a hearing before the primary care trust makes any decision as to his removal from the list<sup>16</sup>; and (iii) requiring him to be given notice of the primary care trust's decision and the reasons for it and of his right of appeal<sup>17</sup>.

If regulations provide as mentioned in heads (1) to (5) above, they must also provide for an appeal by the person in question to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>18</sup> against the primary care trust's decision<sup>19</sup>: (A) to impose conditions, or any particular condition<sup>20</sup>; (B) to vary a condition<sup>21</sup>; (C) to vary his terms of service<sup>22</sup>; (D) on any review of an earlier such decision of its<sup>23</sup>; (E) to remove him from the list for breach of condition<sup>24</sup>. The appeal must be by way of redetermination of the primary care trust's decision<sup>25</sup>. The regulations may provide for any such decision not to have effect until the determination by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority of any appeal against it, and must so provide in relation to a decision to remove a person from the list for breach of condition<sup>26</sup>.

The regulations may provide for the disclosure by a primary care trust, to prescribed persons or persons of prescribed descriptions, of information of a prescribed description about persons whose inclusion in the list is subject to conditions imposed under these provisions, and about the removal of such persons from such lists for breach of condition<sup>27</sup>.

295-313 Arrangements for general ophthalmic services ... National disqualification

SI 1986/975 (as amended) revoked in relation to England: SI 2008/1700.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(iii) Ophthalmic Services/A. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/304. Conditional inclusion in ophthalmic list.

304. Conditional inclusion in ophthalmic list.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

A primary care trust<sup>2</sup> or local health board<sup>3</sup> may determine that if a person<sup>4</sup> is to be included in the list, he is to be subject, while he remains included in the list, to conditions imposed on his inclusion, having regard to the requirements<sup>5</sup> of preventing any prejudice to the efficiency of the services in question, or preventing any fraudulent acts or omissions<sup>6</sup>. A primary care trust or local health board may vary the terms of service<sup>7</sup> in relation to the applicant for the purpose of, or in connection with, the imposition of those conditions<sup>8</sup>. The primary care trust or local health board may of its own volition or at the request of the ophthalmic medical practitioner<sup>9</sup> or optician<sup>10</sup> concerned review any decision made under these provisions<sup>11</sup>. On such a review, the primary care trust or local health board may vary the conditions, impose different conditions or remove the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician from the list<sup>12</sup>. Failure to comply with a condition may lead to removal of the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician from the list<sup>13</sup>.

There is an appeal to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>14</sup> from any decision of the primary care trust or local health board: (1) to impose conditions, or any particular condition, on an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician<sup>15</sup>; (2) to vary a condition<sup>16</sup>; (3) to vary his terms of service<sup>17</sup>; (4) on any review of an earlier such decision of the primary care trust or local health board<sup>18</sup>; (5) to remove him from the list for breach of condition<sup>19</sup>. The appeal is by way of redetermination of the primary care trust or local health board decision<sup>20</sup>. On appeal the Family Health Services Appeal Authority may make any decision which the primary care trust or local health board could have made<sup>21</sup>. Any decision of the primary care trust or local health board that may be the subject of an appeal does not have effect until the Family Health Services Appeal Authority has determined any appeal against it or any time for appeal has expired<sup>22</sup>.

A primary care trust or local health board must disclose to specified persons or bodies<sup>23</sup>, prescribed information<sup>24</sup> about ophthalmic medical practitioners or opticians whose inclusion in the list is subject to conditions imposed under these provisions and about the removal of such persons from the list for breach of such a condition<sup>25</sup>. The primary care trust or local health board must notify any person or body of such information if that person or body can establish that it is considering employing the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician in a professional capacity and the primary care trust or local health board receives a written<sup>26</sup> request (including an electronic request) from that person or body to do so<sup>27</sup>. Where the primary care trust or local health board has notified any of the specified persons or bodies or other persons or bodies of such information, it may in addition notify that person or body of any evidence that was considered, including representations of the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician if so requested<sup>28</sup>. Where a primary care trust or local health board is notified by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority that it has imposed a national disqualification<sup>29</sup> on an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician whom the trust or board had removed from its ophthalmic list, it must notify certain such persons or bodies<sup>30</sup>. Where a decision is changed on review or appeal, or a suspension lapses, the primary care trust or local health board must notify any person or body that was notified of the original decision of the later decision<sup>31</sup>.

<sup>1</sup> Upon the law relating to primary ophthalmic services coming into force the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, will lapse in relation to England but will continue

GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/305. Withdrawal from ophthalmic list.

305. Withdrawal from ophthalmic list.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

Where a contractor<sup>2</sup> gives notice in writing<sup>3</sup> to the primary care trust<sup>4</sup> or local health board<sup>5</sup> that he wishes to withdraw from the ophthalmic list<sup>6</sup>, his name must be removed from the list at the expiration of three months<sup>7</sup> from the date of that notice or of such shorter period as the trust or board may agree<sup>8</sup>. An ophthalmic medical practitioner<sup>9</sup> or optician<sup>10</sup>, who applies for inclusion in a supplementary list<sup>11</sup>, must give notice<sup>12</sup> to the trust or board, as soon as practicable thereafter, that he intends to withdraw from its ophthalmic list if his name is included in the supplementary list of any primary care trust or local health board<sup>13</sup>.

Regulations may provide for circumstances in which a practitioner<sup>14</sup> may not withdraw from a list in which he is included<sup>15</sup>. Where a primary care trust or local health board is investigating an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician: (1) for the purpose of deciding whether or not to exercise its powers<sup>16</sup> to remove or suspend him from the list<sup>17</sup>; (2) in order to see whether the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician has failed to comply with a condition imposed<sup>18</sup> on his inclusion in the list so as to justify his removal from the list<sup>19</sup>; or (3) who has been suspended<sup>20</sup> from the list<sup>21</sup>, the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician may not withdraw from any list kept by any trust or board in which he is included, except where the Secretary of State<sup>22</sup> has given his consent, until the matter has been finally determined by the trust or board<sup>23</sup>. Where a trust or board has decided to exercise its powers to remove an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician from a list, or remove him for breach of a condition imposed on inclusion, but has not yet given effect to its decision, the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician may not withdraw from any list kept by any trust or board in which he is included, except where the Secretary of State has given his consent<sup>24</sup>. Where a trust or board has suspended an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician<sup>25</sup>, he may not withdraw from any list kept by any trust or board in which he is included, except where the Secretary of State has given his consent, until the decision of the relevant court or body is known and the matter has been considered and finally determined by the trust or board<sup>26</sup>.

The primary care trust or local health board must not agree to a contractor's withdrawal from the ophthalmic list unless and until it is satisfied that satisfactory arrangements have been made for the completion of any general ophthalmic services<sup>27</sup> which he has undertaken to provide<sup>28</sup>.

SI 1986/975 (as amended) revoked in relation to England: SI 2008/1700.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(iii) Ophthalmic Services/A. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/306. Disqualification of practitioners.

306. Disqualification of practitioners.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

If it appears to a primary care trust<sup>2</sup> that any of the following conditions is established in relation to a person<sup>3</sup> included in a list of ophthalmic opticians<sup>4</sup> undertaking to provide general ophthalmic services<sup>5</sup>, it may or, in unsuitability cases must<sup>6</sup>, decide to remove him from that list<sup>7</sup>.

The first condition is that the continued inclusion of the person concerned in the list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the services which those included in the list undertake to provide (and such a case is known as an 'efficiency case')<sup>8</sup>. The second condition is that the person concerned has (whether on his own or together with another) by an act or omission caused, or risked causing, detriment to any health scheme<sup>9</sup> by securing or trying to secure for himself or another any financial or other benefit<sup>10</sup>, and knew that he or (as the case may be) the other was not entitled to the benefit<sup>11</sup> (and such a case is known as a 'fraud case')<sup>12</sup>. The third condition is that the person concerned is unsuitable to be included in the list (and such a case is known as an 'unsuitability case')<sup>13</sup>.

Where a primary care trust or local health board is considering removing an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician from a list (other than in cases in which it must remove him<sup>14</sup>) it must follow the prescribed procedure<sup>15</sup>. The primary care trust or local health board must state which condition (or conditions) it is relying on when removing a practitioner from a list<sup>16</sup>.

1 The National Health Service Act 1977 ss 49F, 49H, 49O, 49Q are repealed by the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 s 6, Sch 4, but continue to have effect in relation to England until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services: see ss 5, 8(4)-(6), Sch 3 Pt 1. As to the meaning of 'the law relating to primary ophthalmic services' see PARA 328 note 1. As to the provision of ophthalmic services in Wales see PARA 338. Upon the law relating to primary ophthalmic services coming into force the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975 (see notes 7-9, 12, 16, and the text to notes 14-15) will lapse in relation to England but will continue to apply in relation to Wales: see para 338. As to regulations making transitional provision in relation to England see PARA 329. As to the meanings of 'England' and 'Wales' see PARA 6 note 2.

2 As to primary care trusts see PARA 111.

3 Such a person is referred to in the National Health Service Act 1977 ss 49F-49R as a 'practitioner': s 49F(1), (5) (ss 49F, 49H, 49O, 49Q added by the Health and Social Care Act 2001 s 25). As to the meaning of 'person' see PARA 17 note 2.

4 As to the meaning of 'ophthalmic optician' see PARA 295 note 7. As to the ophthalmic list see PARA 299.

5 National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(1)(d) (as added: see note 3). As to the meaning of 'general ophthalmic services' see PARA 295.

6 In unsuitability cases, the primary care trust must remove the practitioner from the list in prescribed circumstances: National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(6) (as added (see note 3); and amended by the National Health Service Reform and Health Care Professions Act 2002 Sch 2 Pt 1 paras 1, 21(a)). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by regulations: see the National Health Service Act 1977 s 128(1). As to the provision made see PARA 307.

7 National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(1) (as added (see note 3); and amended by the National Health Service Reform and Health Care Professions Act 2002 Sch 2 Pt 1 paras 1, 21(a); the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 Sch 4). Any such decision by a primary care trust must be reached in accordance with regulations made by the Secretary of State: see the National Health Service Act 1977 s 49Q (as so added; and amended by the National Health Service Reform and Health Care Professions Act 2002 Sch 2 Pt 1 paras 1, 28; the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 Sch 4). As to the Secretary of State see PARA 6 note 8. In making any such decision, a primary care trust or local health board must take into account the effect of all relevant incidents and offences relating to the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician of which it is aware, whichever condition it relies on: National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9B(7) (reg 9B added in relation to England by SI 2001/3739, and in relation to Wales by SI 2002/1883; National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9B(7) amended by SI 2002/2469). Where a primary care trust or local health board removes an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician under the National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F it must notify the prescribed persons of that decision: see s 49O (as so added); National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9D (added in relation to England by SI 2001/3739, and in relation to Wales by SI 2002/1883; and amended by SI 2002/601, SI 2002/2469, SI 2005/480, SI 2006/181, SI 2006/635). As to the meaning of 'ophthalmic medical practitioner' see PARA 297 note 3. As to the meaning of 'optician' see PARA 299 note 9. As to suspension pending appeal see PARA 310. As to local health boards see PARA 75.

8 National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(2) (as added: see note 3). As to the criteria to be applied in relation to decisions for removal in efficiency cases see the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9B(5), (6) (reg 9B as added (see note 7); reg 9B(5) substituted in relation to England by SI 2005/480, and in relation to Wales by SI 2006/181; National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9B(6) amended by SI 2002/601, SI 2002/2469, SI 2005/480, SI 2005/502, SI 2006/181).

9 Detriment to a health scheme includes detriment to any patient of, or person working in, that scheme or any person liable to pay charges for services provided under that scheme: National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(9) (as added: see note 3). 'Health scheme' means any of the health services under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 1(1) (see PARA 10) or any corresponding enactment extending to Scotland or Northern Ireland, and any prescribed scheme; and regulations may prescribe any scheme for these purposes which appears to the Secretary of State to be a health or medical scheme paid for out of public funds: National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(8) (as so added); National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 s 4, Sch 2 Pt 1 para 1(4). In addition to the services covered by the definition of 'health scheme', the following are also health schemes: (1) health services, including medical and surgical treatment, provided by Her Majesty's Forces; (2) services provided by port health authorities constituted under the Public Health (Control of Disease) Act 1984 (see ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND PUBLIC HEALTH vol 45 (2010) PARA 102); (3) health services provided to a prisoner in the care of the medical officer or any other such officer of a prison appointed for the purposes of the Prison Act 1952 s 7 (see PRISONS vol 36(2) (Reissue) PARA 515); (4) publicly-funded health services provided by or on behalf of any organisation anywhere in the world: National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9A (added in relation to England by SI 2001/3739, and in relation to Wales by SI 2002/1883). In relation to Wales the powers of the Secretary of State under the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, are exercisable by the Welsh Ministers: see the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 ss 71-79, 206(1); and PARA 338. As to the meaning of 'Welsh Ministers' see PARA 6 note 6.

10 National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(3)(a) (as added: see note 3).

11 National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(3)(b) (as added: see note 3).

12 National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(3) (as added: see note 3). A practitioner is to be treated as meeting this condition if another person, because of an act or omission of his occurring in the course of providing any general ophthalmic services on the practitioner's behalf, meets this condition, and the practitioner failed to take all such steps as were reasonable to prevent acts or omissions within s 49F(3)(a) (see the text to note 10) occurring in the course of the provision of those services on his behalf: s 49H(2) (as so added). Where the practitioner is a body corporate, the body corporate is to be treated as meeting the second or third condition referred to in s 49F(3) and (4) (see the text to note 13): (1) in the case of an ophthalmic optician not referred to in head (2) below, if any director meets that condition (whether or not he first did so when he was a director); and (2) in the case of an ophthalmic optician which is a limited liability partnership, if any one of the body of persons controlling the body meets that condition (whether or not he first did so when he was such a person): s 49H(1) (as so added; and amended by the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003 Sch 14 Pt 4). As to the criteria to be applied in relation to decisions for removal in fraud cases see the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9B(3), (4) (reg 9B as added (see note 7); reg 9B(3) substituted in relation to England by SI 2005/480, and in relation to Wales by SI 2006/181; National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 9B(4) amended by SI 2002/601, SI 2002/2469, SI 2005/480, SI 2006/181).

TEXT AND NOTE 5--National Health Service Act 1977 s 49F(1)(d) amended: Health Act 2006 Sch 8 para 18.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(iii) Ophthalmic Services/A. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/307. Removal from ophthalmic list.

307. Removal from ophthalmic list.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

Where a primary care trust<sup>2</sup> or local health board<sup>3</sup> has determined that a contractor<sup>4</sup>: (1) has died<sup>5</sup>; (2) in the case of a corporate optician<sup>6</sup>, has been dissolved or ceased trading<sup>7</sup>; (3) has otherwise ceased from being a doctor or optician<sup>8</sup>; or (4) has had his name included in the supplementary list of any primary care trust or local health board<sup>9</sup>, it must remove his name from the ophthalmic list<sup>10</sup>. Where a trust or board determines that a contractor whose name has been included for the preceding six months<sup>11</sup> in its ophthalmic list has not during that period provided general ophthalmic services<sup>12</sup> for persons in its area, it must remove his name from the ophthalmic list<sup>13</sup>. Before making such a determination relating to a contractor, the trust or board must give him 28 days' notice of its intention to do so<sup>14</sup>, afford him an opportunity to make representations to it in writing<sup>15</sup>, or, if he so wishes, orally to a sub-committee which must be appointed by the trust or board for the purpose and at least one-third of the members of which must be from a panel nominated by the appropriate local committee<sup>16</sup>, and consult that committee<sup>17</sup>. Nothing in the above provisions prejudices the right of a person<sup>18</sup> to have his name included again in the ophthalmic list<sup>19</sup>.

The primary care trust or local health board must remove the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician from the ophthalmic list where it becomes aware that the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician<sup>20</sup>: (a) has been convicted in the United Kingdom of murder<sup>21</sup>; (b) has been convicted in the United Kingdom since 13 December 2001 of a criminal offence and sentenced to a term of imprisonment of over six months<sup>22</sup>; (c) is subject to a national disqualification<sup>23</sup>; (d) in the case of an ophthalmic medical practitioner, is the subject of (i) a direction given<sup>24</sup> by the professional conduct committee of the General Medical Council in respect of professional misconduct and criminal offences<sup>25</sup>; (ii) an order or direction for immediate suspension made<sup>26</sup> by that committee<sup>27</sup>; or (iii) from 1 November 2004<sup>28</sup>, a direction<sup>29</sup> by a fitness to practise panel of the General Medical Council for erasure or immediate suspension<sup>30</sup>; (e) in the case of an optician, is the subject of a suspension order<sup>31</sup>; or (f) in the case of an optician, is the subject of a direction made<sup>32</sup> by the fitness to practise committee of the General Optical Council other than in a health case<sup>33</sup> to erase his name from the appropriate register or suspend his registration<sup>34</sup>. In cases falling within heads (a) to (f) above the trust or board must notify the ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician immediately that he has been removed from the list<sup>35</sup>.

Where an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician has been removed from its ophthalmic list by a primary care trust or local health board on the grounds that he had been convicted of a criminal offence, and that conviction is overturned on appeal, it may agree to include him in its ophthalmic list without a full application if it is satisfied that there are no other matters that need to be considered<sup>36</sup>, and has received an undertaking from him to comply with the statutory requirements<sup>37</sup>. If the conviction is reinstated on a further appeal, the previous determination of the primary care trust to remove that ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician from its ophthalmic list once again has effect<sup>38</sup>.

308. Contingent removal.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

In an efficiency case or a fraud case<sup>2</sup>, the primary care trust<sup>3</sup> may, instead of deciding to remove a practitioner<sup>4</sup> from its list, decide to remove him contingently<sup>5</sup>. If it so decides, the primary care trust must impose such conditions as it may decide on his inclusion in the list with a view to: (1) removing any prejudice to the efficiency of the services in question (in an efficiency case)<sup>6</sup>; or (2) preventing further detrimental acts or omissions<sup>7</sup> (in a fraud case)<sup>8</sup>.

If the primary care trust determines that the practitioner has failed to comply with a condition, it may decide to: (a) vary the conditions, or impose different conditions<sup>9</sup>; or (b) remove him from the list<sup>10</sup>. The primary care trust may decide to vary the terms of service<sup>11</sup> of the person<sup>12</sup> concerned for the purpose of or in connection with the imposition of any conditions by virtue of these provisions<sup>13</sup>.

Where a primary care trust is considering contingently removing an ophthalmic medical practitioner or optician it must follow the prescribed procedure<sup>14</sup>.

1 The National Health Service Act 1977 ss 49G, 49O, 49Q are repealed by the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 s 6, Sch 4, but continue to have effect in relation to England until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services: see ss 5, 8(4)-(6), Sch 3 Pt 1. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/309. Suspension.

309. Suspension.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

If the primary care trust<sup>2</sup> is satisfied that it is necessary to do so for the protection of members of the public or is otherwise in the public interest, it may suspend a practitioner<sup>3</sup> from its list<sup>4</sup>: (1) while it decides whether or not to exercise its powers<sup>5</sup> to remove or contingently remove a person<sup>6</sup> from the list (other than in circumstances falling within head (2) below)<sup>7</sup>; or (2) while it waits for a decision affecting the practitioner of a court or of a body<sup>8</sup> which regulates (a) the practitioner's profession<sup>9</sup>; (b) the profession of a person providing general ophthalmic services<sup>10</sup> on the practitioner's behalf<sup>11</sup>; (c) if the practitioner is a body corporate, the profession of one of its directors or, as the case may be, one of the body of persons controlling it or (if it is a limited liability partnership) one of its members<sup>12</sup>, or one of that regulatory body's committees<sup>13</sup>.

In a case falling within head (1) above, the primary care trust must specify how long the period of suspension is to be<sup>14</sup>; and in a case falling within head (2) above, the primary care trust may specify that the practitioner is to remain suspended after the decision referred to there for an additional period which the trust must specify<sup>15</sup>. In either case before that period expires the primary care trust may extend, or further extend, the suspension for a further specified period<sup>16</sup>, or if that period has expired, may impose a further suspension, for a period which it must specify<sup>17</sup>. The period of suspension (in a case to which head (1) applies) or the additional period (in a case in which head (2) applies), including in both cases the period of any further suspension<sup>18</sup>, may not exceed six months<sup>19</sup> in aggregate, except: (i) in prescribed circumstances, when it may not extend beyond any prescribed event (which may be the expiry of a prescribed period)<sup>20</sup>; (ii) if, on the application of the primary care trust, the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>21</sup> orders accordingly before the expiry of the period of suspension<sup>22</sup>; or (iii) if the primary care trust has applied under head (ii) above before the expiry of the period of suspension, but the Family Health Services Appeal Authority has not made an order by the time it expires, in which case it continues until the Family Health Services Appeal Authority has made an order<sup>23</sup>. If the Family Health Services Appeal Authority does so order, it must specify the date on which the period of suspension is to end<sup>24</sup>, or an event beyond which it is not to continue<sup>25</sup>. The Family Health Services Appeal Authority may, on the application of the primary care trust, make a further order<sup>26</sup> at any time while the period of suspension pursuant to the earlier order is still continuing<sup>27</sup>.

While a practitioner is suspended he is to be treated as not being included in the list from which he has been suspended even though his name appears in it<sup>28</sup>. The Secretary of State may make regulations providing for payments to practitioners who are suspended<sup>29</sup>.

1 The National Health Service Act 1977 ss 49I, 49K, 49O, 49Q are repealed by the National Health Service (Consequential Provisions) Act 2006 s 6, Sch 4, but continue to have effect in relation to England until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services: see ss 5, 8(4)-(6), Sch 3 Pt 1. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE ACT 1977/(A) General Arrangements for General Ophthalmic Services/312. Appeals.

312. Appeals.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

A practitioner<sup>2</sup> may appeal to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>3</sup> against the following decisions of a primary care trust<sup>4</sup> by giving notice in writing<sup>5</sup> to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority within the period of 28 days beginning with the date on which the primary care trust gave him notice of the decision<sup>6</sup>. The primary care trust decisions in question are<sup>7</sup>: (1) to remove<sup>8</sup> the practitioner from a list<sup>9</sup>; (2) to remove him contingently<sup>10</sup>; (3) to impose any particular condition<sup>11</sup>, or to vary any condition or to impose any different condition<sup>12</sup>; (4) to vary<sup>13</sup> his terms of service<sup>14</sup>; (5) any decision<sup>15</sup> on a review of a contingent removal<sup>16</sup>.

The appeal is by way of redetermination of the primary care trust's decision<sup>17</sup>. On an appeal, the Family Health Services Appeal Authority may make any decision which the primary care trust could have made<sup>18</sup>. If the Family Health Services Appeal Authority decides to remove the practitioner contingently: (a) the primary care trust and the practitioner may each apply to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority for the conditions imposed on the practitioner to be varied, for different conditions to be imposed, or for the contingent removal to be revoked<sup>19</sup>; and (b) the primary care trust may remove him from the list if it determines that he has failed to comply with a condition<sup>20</sup>.

The primary care trust must not remove a person from a list, or impose a contingent removal until the expiry of the period of 28 days allowed<sup>21</sup> for bringing an appeal<sup>22</sup>, or if the practitioner appeals within that period, until the Family Health Services Appeal Authority has disposed of the appeal<sup>23</sup>.

Regulations may provide for payments by primary care trusts to practitioners who are removed from lists pursuant to decisions of the Family Health Services Appeal Authority under these provisions, but whose appeals against those decisions are successful<sup>24</sup>.

313. National disqualification.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

If the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>2</sup> removes the practitioner<sup>3</sup> from an ophthalmic list<sup>4</sup>, it may also decide to disqualify him from inclusion in all such lists prepared by all primary care trusts<sup>5</sup> and all supplementary lists prepared by all primary care trusts<sup>6</sup>, or only from inclusion in one or more descriptions of such lists prepared by all primary care trusts, the description being specified by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority in its decision<sup>7</sup>. Such a decision by the Family Health Services Appeal Authority is known as the imposition of a 'national disqualification'<sup>8</sup>.

The primary care trust may apply to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority for a national disqualification to be imposed on a person<sup>9</sup> after it has removed him from a list of any of the kinds referred to above, or refused to include him in such a list<sup>10</sup>. If the Family Health Services Appeal Authority imposes a national disqualification on a person no primary care trust may include him in a list of any of the kinds from which he has been disqualified from inclusion prepared by it; and if he is included in such a list, each primary care trust in whose list he is included must remove him from it<sup>11</sup>.

The Family Health Services Appeal Authority may at the request of the person upon whom it has been imposed review a national disqualification, and on a review may confirm it or revoke it<sup>12</sup>.

325. Applications for sight tests.

Until the coming into force of the law relating to primary ophthalmic services, the following provisions continue to have effect<sup>1</sup>.

An eligible person<sup>2</sup> who wishes to have his sight tested under general ophthalmic services may make an application to any contractor<sup>3</sup> for his sight to be tested<sup>4</sup>. The application must be made on a form provided for that purpose to contractors by the local health board<sup>5</sup> or primary care trust<sup>6</sup> and must contain a written<sup>7</sup> declaration signed by the applicant to the effect that he is an eligible person<sup>8</sup>.

The contractor must satisfy himself<sup>9</sup> that the person is an eligible person by asking for satisfactory evidence of entitlement unless the contractor already has satisfactory evidence<sup>10</sup> of it available to him<sup>11</sup>, and where the patient has been asked for but not produced satisfactory evidence that he is an eligible person, then the contractor must record the fact on the patient's sight test form<sup>12</sup>. The contractor must also ensure that particulars of the patient and the approximate date of the last testing, if any, of his sight are inserted in a sight test form by the patient or on his behalf<sup>13</sup>, and satisfy himself that the testing of sight is necessary<sup>14</sup>. Where the contractor has provided the sight test at the place where the patient normally resides, he must record on the sight test form the reason given by the patient, or on his behalf, for not being able to leave home unaccompanied<sup>15</sup>.

1 Upon the law relating to primary ophthalmic services coming into force the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, will lapse in relation to England but will continue to apply in relation to Wales: see PARA 338. As to regulations making transitional provision in relation to England see PARA 329. As to the meaning of 'the law relating to primary ophthalmic services' see PARA 328 note 1. As to the meanings of 'England' and 'Wales' see PARA 6 note 2.

2 'Eligible person' means a person who, in accordance with the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13 (see PARA 324), may have his sight tested under general ophthalmic services: reg 2(1) (definition added by SI 1989/395). As to the meaning of 'general ophthalmic services' see PARA 295 note 13.

3 As to the meaning of 'contractor' see PARA 295 note 13.

4 National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13A(1) (reg 13A added by SI 1989/395). As to charges for optical appliances see PARA 319. A primary care trust was entitled to refuse to include an applicant on its ophthalmic list where that applicant was one which provided services only to its members, with those members having to meet certain criteria and pay a subscription before being able to receive those services. The pre-condition to the grant of services presented by the requirement for membership and the payment of a membership subscription constituted an infringement of the requirement that any eligible person be able to have his sight tested by any contractor on the list: Costco Wholesale UK Ltd v Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust [2008] EWHC 216 (Admin), [2008] All ER (D) 265 (Feb).

6 As to primary care trusts see PARA 111.

7 As to the meaning of 'written' see PARA 7 note 2.

8 National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, regs 2(1A), 13A(2) (reg 2(1A) added by SI 2004/1014; National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13A(2), (3) as added (see note 4), and amended by SI 2001/3739, SI 2002/1883, SI 2002/2469). Certain eligible persons must provide additional evidence as to their eligibility: see the National Health Service

(General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13A(3) (as so added and amended). An application for general ophthalmic services may be made and a signature may be given: (1) on behalf of any person under 16 years of age by either parent or, in the absence of both parents, the guardian or other adult person who has the care of the child (reg 14(1)(a)); (2) on behalf of any other person who is incapable of making the application or, giving the signature, by a relative or any other adult who has the care of that person (reg 14(1)(b)); (3) on behalf of any person under 18 years of age in the care of an authority to whose care he has been committed under the provisions of the Children and Young Persons Act 1969 or which has received him into care under the Child Care Act 1980 by a person duly authorised by that authority (National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 14(1)(c)(i)); or (4) on behalf of any person under 18 years of age in the care of a voluntary organisation, by that organisation or a person duly authorised by them (reg 14(1)(c)(ii)). However, a signature on an application may not be given by the contractor to whom the application is made: reg 14(2). As to the time at which a person attains a particular age see PARA 36 note 7.

9 The contractor may appoint a member of his staff to carry out the requirements placed on him by the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13A(4)(a)(i), (ii) on his behalf, provided that he ensures that person is given instruction by him to enable him to fulfil the requirements on his behalf: reg 13A(7) (reg 13A as added (see note 4); reg 13A(7) added in relation to England by SI 2001/414, and in relation to Wales by SI 2001/1423).

10 This exception does not apply in the case of a person whose resources are treated as being less than, or equal to, his requirements: see the National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13A(4)(a)(i) (reg 13A as added (see note 4); reg 13A(4)(a) substituted by SI 2001/414, SI 2001/1423).

11 National Health Service (General Ophthalmic Services) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/975, reg 13A(4)(a)(i) (as added and substituted: see note 10). Where an eligible person is one who requires to wear a complex appliance and is unable to produce the required evidence in respect thereof, the contractor may, instead of satisfying himself that those requirements are met, satisfy himself that the person is an eligible person by referring to his own records or by measuring the power of the lenses of the person's existing optical appliance by means of a focimeter or other suitable means: see reg 13A(5) (as added: see note 4). As to the meaning of 'complex appliance' see PARA 324 note 7.

Each primary care trust<sup>2</sup> must exercise its powers so as to provide or secure the provision, within its area, of the following primary ophthalmic services: (1) the sight-testing service<sup>3</sup>; (2) such other primary ophthalmic services as may be prescribed<sup>4</sup>; and (3) to the extent that it considers necessary to meet all reasonable requirements, any further primary ophthalmic services<sup>5</sup>. The sight-testing service is a service for testing the sight of all of the following persons (except any such testing which takes place in prescribed circumstances): (a) those aged under 16<sup>6</sup>; (b) those aged 16, 17 or 18 who are receiving qualifying full-time education<sup>7</sup>; (c) those whose resources must be treated in accordance with regulations as being less than or equal to their requirements<sup>8</sup>; (d) those aged 60 or over<sup>9</sup>; (e) those of such other description as may be prescribed<sup>10</sup>. Regulations may provide that services of a prescribed description must, or must not, be regarded as primary ophthalmic services<sup>11</sup> (but these regulations may not affect the duty in head (1) above)<sup>12</sup>.

A primary care trust may (in addition to any other power conferred on it) provide primary ophthalmic services itself (whether within or outside its area)<sup>13</sup>, or make such arrangements for their provision (whether within or outside its area) as it considers appropriate, and may in particular make contractual arrangements with any person<sup>14</sup>. A primary care trust must co-operate with each other primary care trust in the discharge of their respective functions<sup>15</sup> relating to the provision<sup>16</sup> of primary ophthalmic services<sup>17</sup>. Each primary care trust must publish information about such matters as may be prescribed in relation to the primary ophthalmic services provided under the National Health Service Act 2006<sup>18</sup>.

Regulations under these provisions<sup>19</sup> which refer to an Act of Parliament or an instrument made under an Act of Parliament may direct that the reference must be construed as a reference to that Act or instrument as it has effect at the time when the regulations are made<sup>20</sup>, or both as it has effect at that time and as amended subsequently<sup>21</sup>.

(E) LOCAL OPTICAL COMMITTEES

337. Local optical committees.

As from a day to be appointed the following provisions have effect<sup>1</sup>.

A primary care trust<sup>2</sup> may recognise a local optical committee<sup>3</sup> formed for its area, or for its area and that of one or more other primary care trusts, which it is satisfied is representative of<sup>4</sup>:

- 190 (1) each person<sup>5</sup> who, under a general ophthalmic services contract<sup>6</sup> entered into by him, is providing primary ophthalmic services<sup>7</sup> in the area for which the committee is formed<sup>8</sup>; and
- 191 (2) each optometrist<sup>9</sup> not falling within head (1) above who is performing primary ophthalmic services in the area for which the committee is formed, whether under arrangements where a primary care trust is providing the services itself<sup>10</sup> or under a general ophthalmic services contract<sup>11</sup>, and who has notified the trust that he wishes to be represented by the committee (and has not notified it that he wishes to cease to be so represented)<sup>12</sup>.

Any such committee may co-opt persons not falling within head (1) or (2) above on such terms as it considers appropriate<sup>13</sup>. Any such committee may delegate any of its functions<sup>14</sup>, with or without restrictions or conditions, to sub-committees composed of members of that committee<sup>15</sup>. Regulations<sup>16</sup> may require a primary care trust, in the exercise of its functions relating to primary ophthalmic services, to consult any local optical committee recognised by it on such occasions and to such extent as may be prescribed<sup>17</sup>. A recognised local optical committee has such other functions as may be prescribed<sup>18</sup>.

A recognised local optical committee must in respect of each year determine the amount of its administrative expenses for that year<sup>19</sup>. A primary care trust may: (a) on the request of a local optical committee recognised by it, allot to that committee such sums as the trust may determine for defraying the committee's administrative expenses<sup>20</sup>; and (b) deduct the amount of such sums from the remuneration of persons of whom the committee is representative under head (1) above under the general ophthalmic services contracts entered into by those persons with the trust<sup>21</sup>.

General ophthalmic services in Wales.

C. GENERAL OPHTHALMIC SERVICES UNDER THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE (WALES) ACT 2006

338. General ophthalmic services in Wales.

The provision of ophthalmic services in Wales<sup>1</sup> differs from that in England<sup>2</sup>. Under the National Health Service (Wales) Act 2006 it is the duty of each local health board<sup>3</sup> to make arrangements as respects its area for securing sight tests of children, persons whose resources fall to be treated as being less than or equal to their requirements, and persons of such other description as may be prescribed by regulations<sup>4</sup>. Services provided under such arrangements are known as 'general ophthalmic services'<sup>5</sup>. Provision is made as to the matters which must be covered by regulations relating to the making of such arrangements<sup>6</sup>, the qualifications to be held by persons providing services under the arrangements<sup>7</sup>, and the remuneration to be paid to such persons<sup>8</sup>. A local health board may recognise a local optical committee for its area or for its area and that of one or more other local health boards<sup>9</sup>.

Powers are given to the Welsh Ministers<sup>10</sup> in cases where they are satisfied that the provision of ophthalmic services is inadequate, enabling them to authorise a local health board to make alternative arrangements or to make such arrangements themselves, and to make arrangements in exceptional circumstances<sup>11</sup>. The Welsh Ministers may make accommodation available to providers of ophthalmic services<sup>12</sup>.

340. Regulations.

Regulations<sup>1</sup> must provide for securing that arrangements for pharmaceutical services<sup>2</sup> made by a primary care trust<sup>3</sup> will: (1) enable persons<sup>4</sup> for whom drugs, medicines or appliances<sup>5</sup> are ordered<sup>6</sup> to receive them from persons with whom such arrangements have been made<sup>7</sup>; and (2) ensure the provision of prescribed services<sup>8</sup> by persons with whom such arrangements have been made<sup>9</sup>. The regulations must include provision: (a) for the preparation and publication by a primary care trust of one or more lists of persons, other than medical practitioners<sup>10</sup> and dental practitioners<sup>11</sup>, who undertake to provide pharmaceutical services from premises in the area of the primary care trust<sup>12</sup>; (b) that an application to a primary care trust for inclusion in a pharmaceutical list must be made in the prescribed manner and must state the specified matters<sup>13</sup>; (c) that, except in prescribed cases<sup>14</sup>, an application for inclusion in a pharmaceutical list by a person not already included<sup>15</sup>, and an application by a person already included in a pharmaceutical list for inclusion also in respect of services or premises other than those already listed in relation to him<sup>16</sup>, may be granted only if the primary care trust is satisfied, in accordance with the regulations, that it is necessary or expedient to grant the application in order to secure in the neighbourhood in which the premises are located the adequate provision by persons included in the list of the services, or some of the services, specified in the application<sup>17</sup>; and (d) for the removal of an entry in respect of premises from a pharmaceutical list if it has been determined in the prescribed manner that the person to whom the entry relates has never provided from those premises<sup>18</sup>, or has ceased to provide from them<sup>19</sup>, the services, or any of the services, which he is listed as undertaking to provide from them<sup>20</sup>. The regulations must also include provision conferring rights of appeal<sup>21</sup> on such persons as may be prescribed<sup>22</sup>.

The regulations may include provision:

- 197 (i) that an application to a primary care trust may be granted in respect of some only of the services specified in it<sup>23</sup>;
- 198 (ii) that an application to a primary care trust relating to services of a prescribed description may be granted only if it appears to the trust that the applicant has satisfied such conditions with regard to the provision of those services as may be prescribed<sup>24</sup>;
- 199 (iii) that an application to a primary care trust by a person who qualified to have his name registered in the register of pharmacists<sup>25</sup> by virtue of a qualification in pharmacy awarded in an EEA state other than the United Kingdom<sup>26</sup>, or in Switzerland, may not be granted unless the applicant satisfies the trust that he has the knowledge of English which, in the interest of himself and persons making use of the services to which the application relates, is necessary for the provision of pharmaceutical services in the area of the trust<sup>27</sup>;
- 200 (iv) that the inclusion of a person in a pharmaceutical list in pursuance of such an application may be for a fixed period<sup>28</sup>;
- 201 (v) that, where the premises from which an application states that the applicant will undertake to provide services are in an area of a prescribed description, the applicant may not be included in the pharmaceutical list unless his inclusion is approved by reference to prescribed criteria by the primary care trust in whose area those premises are situated<sup>29</sup>;
- 202 (vi) that that primary care trust may give its approval subject to conditions<sup>30</sup>;

- 203 (vii) as to other grounds<sup>31</sup> on which a primary care trust may, or must, refuse to grant an application<sup>32</sup>;
- 204 (viii) as to information which must be supplied to a primary care trust by a person included, or seeking inclusion, in a pharmaceutical list (or by arrangement with him)<sup>33</sup>;
- 205 (ix) for the supply to a primary care trust by an individual who is included, or seeking inclusion, in a pharmaceutical list<sup>34</sup>, or who is a member of the body of persons controlling a body corporate included, or seeking inclusion, in a pharmaceutical list<sup>35</sup>, of a criminal conviction certificate<sup>36</sup>, a criminal record certificate<sup>37</sup> or an enhanced criminal record certificate<sup>38</sup>;
- 206 (x) for grounds on which a primary care trust may defer a decision whether or not to grant an application<sup>39</sup>;
- 207 (xi) for the disclosure by a primary care trust, to prescribed persons or persons of prescribed descriptions, of information of a prescribed description about applicants for inclusion in a pharmaceutical list, and refusals by the trust to grant such applications<sup>40</sup>;
- 208 (xii) as to criteria to be applied in making decisions under the regulations (other than decisions required by virtue of head (v) above)<sup>41</sup>;
- 209 (xiii) as to the making of declarations about financial interests<sup>42</sup>, gifts above a prescribed value<sup>43</sup>, and other benefits received<sup>44</sup>;
- 210 (xiv) if the means of providing a service is such that the person receiving it does so otherwise than at the premises from which it is provided<sup>45</sup>, requiring persons to be approved for the purposes of providing such services<sup>46</sup>, or requiring the primary care trust to make the grant of an application subject to prescribed conditions<sup>47</sup>.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(iv) Pharmaceutical Services/A. PROVISION OF PHARMACEUTICAL SERVICES/(A) In general/344. Supplementary lists.

344. Supplementary lists.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may make regulations<sup>2</sup> providing for the preparation and publication by each primary care trust<sup>3</sup> of one or more lists of persons<sup>4</sup> approved by the trust for the purpose of assisting in the provision of pharmaceutical services<sup>5</sup>. Such a list is known as a 'supplementary list'<sup>6</sup>. The regulations may, in particular, include provision as to:

- 211 (1) the primary care trust to which an application for inclusion in a supplementary list must be made<sup>7</sup>;
- 212 (2) the procedure for applying for inclusion, including any information to be supplied to the primary care trust (whether by the applicant or by arrangement with him)<sup>8</sup>;
- 213 (3) grounds on which the primary care trust may, or must, refuse a person's application for inclusion in a supplementary list (including his unsuitability for inclusion in such a list), or on which it may defer its decision on the application<sup>9</sup>;
- 214 (4) requirements with which a person included in a supplementary list must comply (including the declaration of financial interests and of gifts and other benefits)<sup>10</sup>;
- 215 (5) grounds on which a primary care trust may, or must, suspend or remove a person from a supplementary list, the procedure for doing so, and the consequences of doing so<sup>11</sup>;
- 216 (6) payments to or in respect of persons who are suspended from a supplementary list (including provision for the amount of the payments, or the method of calculating the amount, to be determined by the Secretary of State or by another person appointed for the purpose by the Secretary of State)<sup>12</sup>;
- 217 (7) the supply to the primary care trust by an applicant for inclusion in a supplementary list, or by a person included in one, of a criminal conviction certificate<sup>13</sup>, a criminal record certificate<sup>14</sup> or an enhanced criminal record certificate<sup>15</sup>;
- 218 (8) circumstances in which a person included in a supplementary list may not withdraw from it<sup>16</sup>;
- 219 (9) criteria to be applied in making decisions under the regulations<sup>17</sup>;
- 220 (10) appeals against decisions of primary care trusts under the regulations<sup>18</sup>;
- 221 (11) the disclosure by a primary care trust, to prescribed<sup>19</sup> persons or persons of prescribed descriptions, of information of a prescribed description about applicants for inclusion in a supplementary list, refusals of such applications, and suspensions and removals from that list<sup>20</sup>.

The regulations may, in particular, also provide for: (a) a person's inclusion in a supplementary list to be subject to conditions determined by the primary care trust<sup>21</sup>; (b) the primary care trust to vary the conditions or impose different ones<sup>22</sup>; (c) the consequences of failing to comply with a condition (including removal from the list)<sup>23</sup>; and (d) the review by the primary care trust of its decisions<sup>24</sup>. If the regulations make such provision<sup>25</sup>, they must provide for an appeal (by way of redetermination) by the person in question to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority against the decision<sup>26</sup> of the primary care trust<sup>27</sup>.

If the regulations provide<sup>28</sup> that a primary care trust may suspend or remove a person from a supplementary list, they must include provision: (i) requiring him to be given notice of any allegation against him<sup>29</sup>; (ii) giving him the opportunity of putting his case at a hearing before the primary care trust makes any decision as to his suspension or removal<sup>30</sup>; and (iii) requiring him to be given notice of the decision of the primary care trust and the reasons for it and of any right<sup>31</sup> of appeal<sup>32</sup>.

Regulations under the above provisions<sup>33</sup> may require a person included in a pharmaceutical list<sup>34</sup>, or a list<sup>35</sup> of medical practitioners who undertake to provide drugs, medicines or listed appliances<sup>36</sup>, not to employ or engage a person to assist him in the provision of the service to which the list relates unless the latter person is included in a specified list<sup>37</sup>. If regulations do so require, they need not require both persons to be included in lists prepared by the same primary care trust<sup>38</sup>, but may, in particular, require that both persons be included in lists prepared by primary care trusts<sup>39</sup>.

346. Arrangements for additional pharmaceutical services.

The Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> may: (1) give directions<sup>2</sup> to a primary care trust<sup>3</sup> requiring it to arrange for the provision to persons within or outside its area of additional pharmaceutical services<sup>4</sup>; or (2) by giving directions to a primary care trust authorise it to arrange for such provision if it wishes to do so<sup>5</sup>. Directions under these provisions may require or authorise a primary care trust to arrange for the provision of a service by means such that the person receiving it does so otherwise than at the premises from which it is provided (whether those premises are inside or outside the area of the primary care trust)<sup>9</sup>. Such directions may also require the primary care trust to which they apply, when making arrangements: (a) to include, in the terms on which the arrangements are made, such terms as may be specified in the directions<sup>10</sup>; (b) to impose, on any person<sup>11</sup> providing a service in accordance with the arrangements, such conditions as may be so specified<sup>12</sup>. The arrangements must secure that any service to which they apply is provided only by a person whose name is included in a pharmaceutical list<sup>13</sup>, or who has entered<sup>14</sup> into a pharmaceutical care services contract<sup>15</sup>. Different arrangements may be made with respect to the provision of the same service by the same person but in different circumstances<sup>16</sup>, or the provision of the same service by different persons<sup>17</sup>. ### 351. Local pharmaceutical committees.

A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> may recognise a local pharmaceutical committee<sup>2</sup> formed for its area, or for its area and that of one or more other primary care trusts, which it is satisfied is representative of: (1) the persons<sup>3</sup> (known as 'pharmaceutical services providers') providing pharmaceutical services<sup>4</sup> from premises in the area for which the committee is formed<sup>5</sup>; (2) pharmaceutical services providers and the persons specified in heads (a) and (b) below<sup>6</sup>; (3) pharmaceutical services providers and the persons specified in head (a) below<sup>7</sup>; or (4) pharmaceutical services providers and the persons specified in head (b) below<sup>8</sup>.

The persons specified for these purposes are: (a) each person who is providing local pharmaceutical services<sup>9</sup> in the primary care trust's area under an LPS scheme<sup>10</sup> made (whether with himself or another person) by the primary care trust<sup>11</sup>, and has notified the primary care trust that he wishes to be represented by the committee (and has not notified it that he wishes to cease to be so represented)<sup>12</sup>; and (b) each person who is providing local pharmaceutical services in the primary care trust's area under a pilot scheme<sup>13</sup> made (whether with himself or another person) by the primary care trust<sup>14</sup>, and has notified the primary care trust that he wishes to be represented by the committee (and has not notified it that he wishes to cease to be so represented)<sup>15</sup>.

Regulations<sup>16</sup> may require a primary care trust, in the exercise of functions<sup>17</sup> relating to pharmaceutical services or local pharmaceutical services, to consult local pharmaceutical committees recognised by it on such occasions and to such extent as may be prescribed<sup>18</sup>. A recognised local pharmaceutical committee has such other functions as may be prescribed<sup>19</sup>. Any such committee may delegate any of its functions, with or without restrictions or conditions, to sub-committees composed of members of that committee<sup>20</sup>.

A primary care trust may, on the request of any local pharmaceutical committee recognised by it, allot to that committee such sums for defraying the committee's administrative expenses<sup>21</sup> as may be determined by the trust<sup>22</sup>. Any sums so allotted must be out of the moneys available to the primary care trust for the remuneration of persons of whom the committee is representative under head (1) above<sup>23</sup>; and the amount of any such sums must be deducted from the remuneration of those persons in such manner as may be determined by trust<sup>24</sup>. A committee recognised under heads (2), (3) or (4) above must, in respect of each year, determine the amount of its administrative expenses for that year attributable to the persons of whom<sup>25</sup> it is representative<sup>26</sup>. The committee must apportion the amount so determined among the persons of whom it is representative, and each such person must pay in accordance with the committee's directions the amount so apportioned to him<sup>27</sup>.

1 As to primary care trusts see PARA 111.

2 A committee recognised under the National Health Service Act 2006 s 167 is called the local pharmaceutical committee for the area for which it is formed: s 167(4). ## UPDATE

354-370 Applications for inclusion in or amendment to a pharmaceutical list ... Determination of applications

SI 2005/641 regs 5(1)(b)(i), (ii), 6, 7, 12, 22 do not apply to an application for a temporary amendment to a pharmaceutical list which the primary care trust is satisfied is necessary or expedient because of an emergency requiring the flexible provision of pharmaceutical services: reg 7A(1) (reg 7A added by SI 2009/2205). For the meaning of 'emergency requiring the flexible provision of pharmaceutical services' see PARA 408. In the circumstances described in reg 7A(1), the primary care trust may make a temporary amendment to an entry in the pharmaceutical list, but (1) only for a specified period, which must not be longer than the specified period of the emergency given by the Secretary of State, which the primary care trust may extend or curtail in appropriate circumstances; and (2) the applicant may revert to the applicant's overridden entry in the pharmaceutical list before the end of the period specified by the primary care trust, on giving the primary care trust at least 24 hours notice: reg 7A(2). There is no right of appeal under SI 2005/641 in respect of a decision to make or not to make, or to curtail the duration of, a temporary amendment to a pharmaceutical list made under reg 7A: reg 7A(3).

354 Applications for inclusion in or amendment to a pharmaceutical list

NOTES 6-8--A primary care trust must not grant an application to which SI 2005/641 reg 5(1)(a) or (b)(i) or (ii) applies if (1) a person on a pharmaceutical list, which may or may not be the applicant, is providing or has undertaken to provide pharmaceutical services ('the existing services') from the premises to which the application relates, or adjacent premises; and (2) the primary care trust is satisfied that it is reasonable to treat the services that the applicant proposes to provide as part of the same service as the existing services, and so the premises to which the application relates and the existing listed premises should be considered as one site: reg 17A (added by SI 2009/2205).

NOTE 14--SI 2005/641 Sch 4 Pt 3 amended: SI 2010/914.

Halsbury's Laws of England/HEALTH SERVICES (VOLUME 54 (2008) 5TH EDITION)/1. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE/(5) THE HEALTH SERVICES/(iv) Pharmaceutical Services/A. PROVISION OF PHARMACEUTICAL SERVICES/(B) Pharmaceutical Lists/(a) Preparation of Lists/355. Applications involving a minor relocation within a primary care trust's area.

355. Applications involving a minor relocation within a primary care trust's area.

In the case of an application for admission to a pharmaceutical list<sup>1</sup> where the applicant intends to change within the neighbourhood the premises from which he provides pharmaceutical services<sup>2</sup>, being the same services as he intends to provide from the new premises, and the primary care trust<sup>3</sup> is satisfied that the change is a minor relocation<sup>4</sup>, and the provision of pharmaceutical services will not be interrupted (except for such period as the trust may for good cause allow)<sup>5</sup>, the trust must grant the application<sup>6</sup>. Except in the case of a minor relocation of less than 500 metres<sup>7</sup>, a primary care trust must determine such an application in accordance with the statutory procedures<sup>8</sup>.

Where the minor relocation is a minor relocation of less than 500 metres<sup>9</sup>, the primary care trust must determine the application without giving notice of the application<sup>10</sup> or hearing<sup>11</sup> any oral representations<sup>12</sup> and grant the application<sup>13</sup>, unless, within the period of 30 days beginning with the date of receipt of the application it notifies the applicant that it considers that it is desirable that the application be determined as if it were a minor relocation of 500 metres or more<sup>14</sup>. Where the primary care trust determines that an application for a minor relocation of less than 500 metres should be determined as if it were a minor relocation of 500 metres or more, it must send the applicant a statement in writing<sup>15</sup> setting out its decision and its reasons for it<sup>16</sup>, and the applicant's right of appeal<sup>17</sup>. The applicant may within the period of 30 days beginning with the date of receipt of such notification, appeal in writing to the Secretary of State<sup>18</sup> against that decision<sup>19</sup>. The Secretary of State may, when determining the appeal, confirm the decision of the primary care trust<sup>20</sup>, grant the appeal<sup>21</sup>, or grant the application<sup>22</sup>. The Secretary of State must notify the applicant and the primary care trust of his determination and include with the notification a written statement of the reasons for his determination<sup>23</sup>. Where the determination of the Secretary of State is to grant the appeal, the primary care trust must within the period of 30 days determine the application<sup>24</sup>.

354-370 Applications for inclusion in or amendment to a pharmaceutical list ... Determination of applications

SI 2005/641 regs 5(1)(b)(i), (ii), 6, 7, 12, 22 do not apply to an application for a temporary amendment to a pharmaceutical list which the primary care trust is satisfied is necessary or expedient because of an emergency requiring the flexible provision of pharmaceutical services: reg 7A(1) (reg 7A added by SI 2009/2205). For the meaning of 'emergency requiring the flexible provision of pharmaceutical services' see PARA 408. In the circumstances described in reg 7A(1), the primary care trust may make a temporary amendment to an entry in the pharmaceutical list, but (1) only for a specified period, which must not be longer than the specified period of the emergency given by the Secretary of State, which the primary care trust may extend or curtail in appropriate circumstances; and (2) the applicant may revert to the applicant's overridden entry in the pharmaceutical list before the end of the period specified by the primary care trust, on giving the primary care trust at least 24 hours notice: reg 7A(2). There is no right of appeal under SI 2005/641 in respect of a decision to make or not to make, or to curtail the duration of, a temporary amendment to a pharmaceutical list made under reg 7A: reg 7A(3).

355 Applications involving a minor relocation within a primary care trust's area

PROVISION OF PHARMACEUTICAL SERVICES/(B) Pharmaceutical Lists/(a) Preparation of Lists/356. Applications involving a minor relocation between neighbouring primary care trusts.

356. Applications involving a minor relocation between neighbouring primary care trusts.

In the case of an application for admission to a pharmaceutical list<sup>1</sup> where: (1) the primary care trust<sup>2</sup> is satisfied that the change is a minor relocation<sup>3</sup> and the provision of pharmaceutical services<sup>4</sup> will not be interrupted (except for such period as the trust may for good cause allow)<sup>5</sup>; and (2) the applicant consents to the removal of his name from the pharmaceutical list of the primary care trust in which his existing premises are located in respect of those premises with effect from the date on which he commences to provide pharmaceutical services from his new premises<sup>6</sup>, the primary care trust must grant the application<sup>7</sup>. Except in the case of a minor relocation of less than 500 metres<sup>8</sup>, a primary care trust must determine such an application in accordance with the statutory procedures<sup>9</sup>.

Where the minor relocation is a minor relocation of less than 500 metres<sup>10</sup>, the primary care trust must determine the application without giving notice of the application<sup>11</sup> or hearing<sup>12</sup> any oral representations<sup>13</sup> and grant the application<sup>14</sup>, unless within the period of 30 days beginning with the date of receipt of the application it notifies the applicant that it considers that it is desirable that the application be determined as if it were a minor relocation of 500 metres or more<sup>15</sup>. Where the primary care trust so determines that an application for a minor relocation of less than 500 metres should be determined as if it were a minor relocation of 500 metres or more, it must send the applicant a statement in writing<sup>16</sup> setting out its decision and its reasons for it<sup>17</sup> and the applicant's right of appeal<sup>18</sup>. The applicant may, within the period of 30 days beginning with the date of receipt of the notification, appeal in writing to the Secretary of State<sup>19</sup> against that decision<sup>20</sup>. The Secretary of State may, when determining the appeal, confirm the decision of the primary care trust<sup>21</sup>, grant the appeal<sup>22</sup>, or grant the application<sup>23</sup>. The Secretary of State must notify the applicant and the primary care trust of his determination and include with the notification a written statement of the reasons for his determination<sup>24</sup>. Where the determination of the Secretary of State is to grant the appeal, the primary care trust must within the period of 30 days determine the application<sup>25</sup>.

359. Right of return to pharmaceutical lists.

The following provisions apply if the Secretary of State<sup>1</sup> makes a determination<sup>2</sup> that a person<sup>3</sup> is to be given the right of return to a primary care trust's<sup>4</sup> pharmaceutical list<sup>5</sup> on making an application for his name to be included in that list after ceasing to provide local pharmaceutical services<sup>6</sup>, and the following conditions are satisfied<sup>7</sup>. The conditions are that: (1) the period of time between the cessation of provision of local pharmaceutical services by the applicant and the commencement of provision of pharmaceutical services by the applicant will be such that the provision of such services will be continuous (except for such period as the primary care trust may for good cause allow)<sup>8</sup>; and (2) the determination or determinations relevant to the application have not been invalidated by any subsequent determination, and that any conditions specified in the determination or determinations are satisfied<sup>9</sup>.

A person making such an application for inclusion of his name in a pharmaceutical list must apply to the primary care trust giving the prescribed information<sup>10</sup> while he is still providing local pharmaceutical services under a pharmacy pilot scheme<sup>11</sup> or an LPS scheme, and in addition he must<sup>12</sup> make clear that the application is made by virtue of these provisions<sup>13</sup> and attach copies of all determinations relevant to the application<sup>14</sup>. Certain applicants<sup>15</sup> must, in addition, provide the prescribed information, declarations and undertakings<sup>16</sup>. If a person has made an application in the prescribed manner<sup>17</sup>, the primary care trust must grant the application<sup>18</sup>. Any conditions imposed by a primary care trust<sup>19</sup> or by the Secretary of State<sup>20</sup> which are still in force<sup>21</sup> are unaffected by the grant of an application<sup>22</sup>.

A primary care trust must, as soon as is practicable, and in any event within the period of four months<sup>23</sup> beginning with the date of receipt of the application unless the trust has good cause to require a longer period, give notice of its decision on an application to the listed persons or bodies<sup>24</sup>. Where a primary care trust grants an application, the applicant must be included in the relevant pharmaceutical list or lists only if, not less than 14 days before the expiry of six months after the date on which the grant was notified to him by the trust<sup>25</sup>, he notifies the trust<sup>26</sup> that he will, within the next 14 days, commence the provision of services in respect of which the application was made at the premises to which the application related<sup>27</sup>.

361. Necessary or desirable test.

An application for admission to a pharmaceutical list<sup>1</sup> must be granted by the primary care trust<sup>2</sup> only if it is satisfied that it is necessary or desirable to grant the application in order to secure, in the neighbourhood in which the premises from which the applicant intends to provide the services are located, the adequate provision, by persons<sup>3</sup> included in a pharmaceutical list, of the services, or some of the services, specified in the application<sup>4</sup>. This test is known as the 'necessary or desirable test'<sup>5</sup>. In considering whether the necessary or desirable test is satisfied, a primary care trust must have regard in particular to<sup>6</sup>:

- 229 (1) whether or not any of the following services are already provided by persons in the neighbourhood in which the premises named in the application are located: (a) any pharmaceutical services<sup>7</sup> or directed services<sup>8</sup> specified in the application provided by persons included in a pharmaceutical list, or any directed services the applicant agrees to provide if his name is included in the pharmaceutical list<sup>9</sup>; or (b) any local pharmaceutical services<sup>10</sup> provided under a pharmacy pilot scheme<sup>11</sup> or an LPS scheme<sup>12</sup> which are of the same description as any pharmaceutical services or directed services specified in the application<sup>13</sup>;
- 230 (2) whether the recipients of pharmaceutical services already have a reasonable choice with regard to: (a) the pharmaceutical services or directed services provided in the neighbourhood in which the premises named in the application are located, by persons included in a pharmaceutical list<sup>14</sup>; and (b) the persons included in a pharmaceutical list from whom such recipients may obtain pharmaceutical services or directed services in the neighbourhood in which the premises named in the application are located<sup>15</sup>;
- 231 (3) any other information available to the primary care trust which, in its opinion, is relevant to the consideration of the application<sup>16</sup>; and
- 232 (4) any representations received<sup>17</sup> by the primary care trust<sup>18</sup>.

In considering whether the necessary or desirable test is satisfied, a primary care trust may also have regard to any pharmaceutical services or directed services that the applicant proposes to provide in that neighbourhood in circumstances where he is not obliged to provide those services<sup>19</sup>. The primary care trust must not take into account pharmaceutical services provided from premises at which pharmaceutical services are provided by a distance selling chemist<sup>20</sup> when considering the pharmaceutical services already provided in the neighbourhood<sup>21</sup>.

354-370 Applications for inclusion in or amendment to a pharmaceutical list ... Determination of applications

SI 2005/641 regs 5(1)(b)(i), (ii), 6, 7, 12, 22 do not apply to an application for a temporary amendment to a pharmaceutical list which the primary care trust is satisfied is necessary or expedient because of an emergency requiring the flexible provision of pharmaceutical services: reg 7A(1) (reg 7A added by SI 2009/2205). For the meaning of 'emergency requiring the flexible provision of pharmaceutical services' see PARA 408. In the circumstances described in reg 7A(1), the primary care trust may make a temporary amendment to an entry in the pharmaceutical list, but (1) only for a specified period, which must not be longer than the specified period of the emergency given by the Secretary of State, which the primary care trust may extend or curtail in appropriate circumstances; and (2) the applicant may revert to the applicant's overridden entry in the pharmaceutical list before the end of the period specified by the primary care trust, on giving the primary care trust at least 24 hours notice: reg 7A(2). There is no right of appeal under SI 2005/641 in respect of a decision to make or not to make, or to curtail the duration of, a temporary amendment to a pharmaceutical list made under reg 7A: reg 7A(3).

364. New one-stop primary care centres.

Premises are in a new one-stop primary care centre if they are in a one-stop primary care centre which a primary care trust<sup>1</sup> on or after 1 April 2005 has for the first time included in its strategic service development plan (or if it has no such plan, in a written<sup>2</sup> plan that achieves the same purpose as a strategic service development plan<sup>3</sup>), at which on or after 1 April 2005 the services of health care professionals<sup>4</sup> will be provided for the first time<sup>5</sup>; or as a consequence of substantial new development or redevelopment, the services of a broad range of health care professionals will be provided for the first time<sup>6</sup>.

For these purposes, premises are a 'one-stop primary care centre' if they are in a discrete site or building: (1) at which the services of a broad range of health care professionals are, or will be, regularly and frequently provided (together, where appropriate, with other health or social services)<sup>7</sup>; (2) at which there is, or will be, one or more providers of primary medical services<sup>8</sup> with a patient list<sup>9</sup> which comprises, or patient lists which together comprise, at least 18,000 patients<sup>10</sup>; and (3) which is under the management or control of a consortium<sup>11</sup>.

PROVISION OF PHARMACEUTICAL SERVICES/(B) Pharmaceutical Lists/(b) Determination of Applications/365. Refusal: fitness to practise grounds.

365. Refusal: fitness to practise grounds.

A primary care trust<sup>1</sup> must refuse to grant an application for admission to a pharmaceutical list<sup>2</sup> if: (1) the applicant (or where the applicant is a body corporate, any director<sup>3</sup> or superintendent of the applicant) has been convicted in the United Kingdom<sup>5</sup> of murder<sup>6</sup>; (2) the applicant (or where the applicant is a body corporate, any director or superintendent of the applicant) has been convicted in the United Kingdom of a criminal offence, other than murder, which was committed after 1 April 2005 and has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment of over six months<sup>7</sup>; (3) the applicant is the subject of a national disqualification<sup>8</sup>; (4) the applicant has not updated his application in accordance with the statutory requirement<sup>9</sup>; or (5) in a case in which conditions are to be imposed on the appellant<sup>10</sup>, he does not notify the primary care trust<sup>11</sup> that he wishes to be included in its pharmaceutical list subject to the specified conditions<sup>12</sup>.

A primary care trust may refuse to grant such an application if: (a) having considered the undertakings and declarations required<sup>13</sup> and any other information in its possession in relation to the application, it considers that the applicant is unsuitable to be included in the list<sup>14</sup>; (b) having checked the information provided by the applicant<sup>15</sup>, and any further information provided<sup>16</sup>, it considers the applicant is unsuitable to be included in the list<sup>17</sup>; (c) having contacted the referees nominated by the applicant<sup>18</sup>, it is not satisfied with the references given<sup>19</sup>; (d) having checked with the NHS Business Services Authority<sup>20</sup> for any facts that it considers relevant relating to past or current fraud investigations involving or related to the applicant (and where the applicant is a body corporate, any director or superintendent of the applicant), and having considered these and any other facts in its possession relating to fraud involving or relating to the applicant (and where the applicant is a body corporate, any director or superintendent of the applicant), it considers these justify such refusal<sup>21</sup>; (e) having checked with the Secretary of State<sup>22</sup> for any facts that he considers relevant relating to past or current investigations or proceedings involving or relating to the applicant (and where the applicant is a body corporate, any director or superintendent of the applicant) and, having considered these and any other facts in its possession involving or relating to the applicant (and where the applicant is a body corporate, any director or superintendent of the applicant), it considers these justify such refusal<sup>23</sup>; or (f) it considers that admitting the applicant to the list would be prejudicial to the efficiency of the service which he would undertake to provide<sup>24</sup>. Where the primary care trust is considering refusal of an application under heads (a) to (f) above, it must consider all facts which appear to it to be relevant<sup>25</sup>.

An applicant may appeal to the Family Health Services Appeal Authority<sup>26</sup> against a decision of the primary care trust to refuse to grant his application: (i) to be included in the pharmaceutical list (including an application to be included as a temporary chemist)<sup>27</sup>; or (ii) for preliminary consent to be included in that list<sup>28</sup>, on grounds specified in heads (a) to (f) above<sup>29</sup>. An appeal must be made within the period of 28 days beginning with the date on which the primary care trust notified the applicant of the decision<sup>30</sup>, and such an appeal is by way of redetermination of the primary care trust's decision<sup>31</sup>.

1 As to primary care trusts see PARA 111.

2 The National Health Service (Pharmaceutical Services) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/641, reg 19 applies to an application to a primary care trust under: (1) reg 5 (see PARA 354), reg 40 (see PARA 385) or reg 54 (see PARA 399), where the applicant is not already on that trust's pharmaceutical list (reg 19(1)(a)); and (2) under reg 10

In the circumstances described in reg 7A(1), the primary care trust may make a temporary amendment to an entry in the pharmaceutical list, but (1) only for a specified period, which must not be longer than the specified period of the emergency given by the Secretary of State, which the primary care trust may extend or curtail in appropriate circumstances; and (2) the applicant may revert to the applicant's overridden entry in the pharmaceutical list before the end of the period specified by the primary care trust, on giving the primary care trust at least 24 hours notice: reg 7A(2). ### 366. Imposition of conditions.

Where: (1) the premises specified in an application for admission to a pharmaceutical list<sup>1</sup> are in a controlled locality<sup>2</sup>, or are not in a controlled locality but are within 1.6 kilometres of any part of any controlled locality in which reside patients for whom a doctor<sup>3</sup> provides pharmaceutical services<sup>4</sup>, or for whom a contractor under a general medical services contract<sup>5</sup> or under arrangements for the provision of primary medical services<sup>6</sup> provides dispensing services<sup>7</sup>; and (2) the granting of the application would, in the view of the primary care trust, result in a significant change in the arrangements for the provision of pharmaceutical services, local pharmaceutical services<sup>8</sup> or dispensing services in any part of a controlled locality<sup>3</sup>, the primary care trust must, where it grants the application, consider the conditions (if any) which are to be imposed in relation to that grant<sup>10</sup>, and pending the final determination of such conditions, must not in consequence of the grant give notice to any doctor to discontinue the provision of pharmaceutical services or dispensing services to any patient<sup>11</sup>.

Where the primary care trust considers that the provision of primary medical services by any provider of such services (other than itself) or pharmaceutical services by any chemist<sup>12</sup> or local pharmaceutical services by any LPS chemist<sup>13</sup> is likely to be adversely affected in consequence of a grant<sup>14</sup>, it may impose conditions to postpone, for such period as it thinks fit, the making or termination of arrangements for the provision by a doctor or a contractor under a general medical services contract or under arrangements for the provision of primary medical services of pharmaceutical services or dispensing services<sup>15</sup>. Where a primary care trust has imposed any such conditions, or the Secretary of State has imposed any conditions<sup>16</sup>, those conditions are unaffected by the commencement or continuation of a pharmacy pilot scheme or an LPS scheme for the provision of local pharmaceutical services by the person<sup>17</sup> whose application was granted subject to such conditions (or by a successor to that person who likewise provides local pharmaceutical services under that scheme)<sup>18</sup>.

PROVISION OF PHARMACEUTICAL SERVICES/(B) Pharmaceutical Lists/(b) Determination of Applications/367. Conditional inclusion relating to fitness to practise matters.

367. Conditional inclusion relating to fitness to practise matters.

Where a person<sup>1</sup> makes an application for admission to a pharmaceutical list<sup>2</sup>, a primary care trust may determine that, while he remains included in the pharmaceutical list, or while his preliminary consent has effect, he is to be subject<sup>3</sup> to the imposition of conditions<sup>4</sup>. A primary care trust may vary the terms of service in relation to an applicant for the purpose of, or in connection with, the imposition of those conditions<sup>5</sup>.

A primary care trust must notify the applicant, within seven days of the date of a decision to impose any conditions, of the conditions it intends to impose<sup>6</sup>. A primary care trust must require the applicant to notify it, within 28 days of the date of the notification, whether he agrees to the imposition of the conditions<sup>7</sup>, or whether he is appealing<sup>8</sup> against that imposition of conditions<sup>9</sup>. Where no notification is received from the applicant, the primary care trust must deem him to have withdrawn his application<sup>10</sup>.
